BRITISH FORCES IN GREECE MAKE A NEW RETREAT

Line Intact; Situation Called Grave.

May Halt Nazi Ships

ANKARA, Turkey, April 24 [Delayed] (AP).—Turkey has decided to halt and inspect German ships en route from the Black sea thru the Straits of Bosporus and Dardanelles to determine if they are carrying troops or war materials into the middle eastern war zone, it was reported unofficially tonight. Several German freighters, presumably plying from occupied Rumanian or Bulgarian ports, were said to have slipped thru the straits recently without stopping or flying the required transit flag.

LONDON, April 25 (AP).—British authorities, acknowledging that the situation in Greece was most serious, tonight announced further withdrawal of the British expeditionary forces.

The imperial army was inflicting new and severe losses on the German invaders while maintaining an unbroken line in the face of heavy assaults by German shock troops far outnumbering the defense.

The middle east command described the withdrawal as orderly. The British lines remained intact and were still in contact with the Greeks on their left flank despite reënforcements the Germans gained as a result of the Greek surrender in Epirus.

RAF Admits Damage.

Scene of the present fighting, last placed around Thermopylae, was not mentioned.

The RAF, also outnumbered but putting up a fight, acknowledged damage to planes on the ground when the Germans bombed a Greek airdrome. [The Germans said 55 were destroyed on the ground Thursday].

No British sources would say that embarkation from Greek ports has begun, but the expectation of such an eventuality was not denied. One informed source predicted that when the time came a good proportion of the expeditionary force would be removed safely.

Estimate 80,000 Men in Force.

The size of the British force was not disclosed, tho estimates have placed it as high as 80,000 men.

An informed source in London declared that the campaign in Greece was an outpost fight—altho certainly an important one—in the forthcoming Egyptian conflict.

Apparently in preparation for that conflict, Jugo-Slav troops and planes in undisclosed numbers have arrived in the middle east to continue the fight against the Germans and Italians.

WRECK 23 NAZI TANKS

ATHENS, April 25 (AP).—German panzer [armored] divisions lost 23 tanks and retreated after a battle with a New Zealand antitank unit near Mount Oeta, directly west of the pass of Thermopylae, reliable sources reported tonight.

The New Zealanders were established behind a swamp near the mountain, and when the Germans tried to cross the soft ground they were met with devastating fire.

Altho this was portrayed only as a British rear guard action, the Nazi forces—apparently engaged in an attempt to encircle Thermopylae—fell back in confusion.

[The German high command says the pass has been taken in an "embracing" action.]

Admit Seizure of Lemnos.

The Greek ministry of home security announced the German seizure of the Island of Lemnos, only 40 miles from Turkey's vital straits of the Dardanelles, and inferentially acknowledged that nearby Samothrace also had been taken. A German attack on Euboea, the big island just off the Greek mainland, was beaten off.

The ministry said the "German commanding officer at Samothrace" demanded Lemnos' surrender by midnight Wednesday, but the Lemnos prefect, on advice from Athens, refused. The Germans won a four hour battle on Thursday morning.

Tribune Man Escapes Being Shot as a Spy

[Sam Brewer, Tribune correspondent in the Balkans, was trapped in Jugo-Slavia by the sudden attack of the Nazi armies. The first word of his safety since April 6 was received by The Tribune last night, to be followed quickly by Brewer's story of the fall of Jugo-Slavia and his own remarkable adventures.]

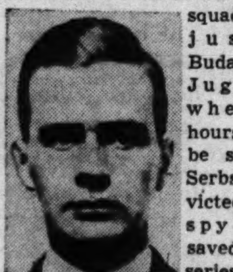
BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 25.—I know how it feels to wait for a firing squad. I have just reached Budapest from Jugo-Slavia, where for 12 hours I waited to be shot by the Serbs as a convicted German spy and was saved only by a series of strange coincidences.



Sam Brewer.

In addition to those fateful 12 hours of April 6, while the German conquest of the kingdom made up of Serbs, Croats, Slovenes, and other minor nationalities was beginning, I spent many harrowing days in Belgrade, a city of death and misery, and in other parts of the fallen nation.

At last, after being cut off from the outside world for 19 days, I have reached a city from which I can tell what I believe is the first eyewitness story by a neutral newspaper man of the tragedy of Jugo-Slavia.

Watches Dive Bombers.

The train on which I was en route from Athens and which should have landed me in Belgrade at 6 a. m. on Saturday, April 5, stopped at 5 p. m. Sunday 10 miles out of Belgrade, where we saw German dive bombers wheeling like flocks of starlings over the capital. The city's position was marked by a great black cloud.

The train went no farther. At 6:30 the conductor told us he had orders to turn back. I set out on foot for Belgrade with a 40 pound pack and a typewriter, guided in the dusk by the red glow which the burning capital cast on the clouds.

Soldiers stopped me on the way and held me half an hour until an officer approved my passport. While I waited, an endless stream of refugees poured past with knapsacks, blankets, and suitcases. Nobody was going my way.

Finally I reached Belgrade. From a hill on the edge of the city I saw flaming buildings. For the next hour I wandered thru the capital, looking vainly for some one I knew.

A "Corner of Hell."

Belgrade looked like a corner of hell. It seemed as if every building were burning.

Wherever I went I slipped and slid on layers of shattered glass one inch thick. Street cars stood where they had been abandoned by their motormen. Steel lamp posts leaned drunkenly across the streets and in

HITLER TROOPS PRESS ON TOWARD ATHENS ALONG SOLITARY ROAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 25.—With the Germans approaching Athens and other Nazi forces fighting their way south toward the Isthmus of Corinth, the campaign in Greece has reached "mopping up action," German spokesmen said today.

It appears that the fighting is being done by a couple of hundred troops, now that the Nazis have pierced Thermopylae pass. With only one road leading southward, the employment of large bodies of troops is eliminated. Weak Australian forces are trying to delay the Germans as long as possible to enable British forces to board transports at southern Greek ports. The Germans are hardly able to place more than one company at a time in the fighting line, owing to the difficult terrain. Even the employment of Stukas [dive bombers] is restricted.

The German supply line, leading from Salonika southward, also is restricted to one road, which is frequently interrupted by blown up bridges and bomb craters. Both sides of the road are lined with tanks, guns, wagons, and other material the British expeditionary force left behind.

Eggs to Britain! Midwest Sends Many Millions

Three and a half million dozen of eggs from the middle west, enough to meet Chicago's ordinary demands for nearly a month, began moving in carload lots for New York yesterday for trans-shipment to England. The eggs were bought with federal funds at an estimated cost of $640,000, and the sudden demand forced the Chicago wholesale market price up half a cent a dozen.

Meanwhile it was revealed that orders for millions of dozens more eggs, evaporated milk and other foodstuffs for Great Britain and her allies are flowing out of Washington. Department of agriculture officials in Chicago estimated that the Surplus Marketing administration would spend more than a billion dollars between now and July 2, 1942, for such food supplies for Great Britain and her allies.

56 Carloads Shipped.

In the Chicago market alone, dealers said, more eggs have been taken from government-owned reserves and shipped to the British purchasing mission in New York in the last two days than Chicagoans would use in nearly a week. Shipments from here total 672,000 dozens, or 56 carloads. Smaller shipments are moving out of other midwestern cities.

At this time of year about 480,000 dozen of eggs a day come into Chicago for storage until fall, diversion to other markets or immediate use.

Pay 23½ Cents a Dozen.

Sellers said the SMA paid as high as 23½ cents a dozen, and that 22¾ cents might be taken as an average price. Towns in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, and Kansas supplied most of the eggs not taken out of storage here.

The Federal Surplus Marketing administration was intended to support food markets by purchasing various surpluses. Heretofore these surpluses have been used only for persons on relief and school children.

RUSTY U. S. SHIP DOCKS, VICTIM OF WORK SLOW DOWN

New York, April 25 [Special].—The government owned liner President Madison docked at Hoboken, N. J., today after a four month voyage around the world in a rusty and unpainted condition which her skipper, Capt. Valdimar Nielson, ascribed to a slow down strike among 26 members of the deck crew. The ship is operated by the American President Lines.

The seamen involved in the slow down are members of the AFL West Coast Seamen's union, Capt. Nielson said. They were taken on in San Francisco.

Capt. Nielson said the men could not be charged with mutiny since they merely dawdled at their tasks.

Progress was not hindered, Capt. Nielson said, the vessel arriving on time with a large cargo of rubber and tin, and 153 passengers including 96 Americans.

Nielson said a union delegate representing the deck crew visited him two months ago and said the crew would not take orders from Edward Dumouchelle, the first officer, because they did not like him.

Reveal Hitler Plan for Attack on Gibraltar

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—The Germans are completing plans in preparation for an attempt to close the Strait of Gibraltar, it was disclosed tonight. The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent asserted that the Germans are constructing airports in southern Spain. He declared that neutrality of that country is gravely threatened.

Viscount Gort [top] and Lieut. Gen. Liddell.

Information from the "most authoritative quarter," he said, reveals that a number of German planes are stored in the new airports. Some are ready to take the air. Antiaircraft guns have been mounted and ground staffs and gun crews have arrived there.

Technicians in Spain.

Airdromes, it is said, are being constructed at Cadiz and Huelva, while others are being built in strategic points closer to Gibraltar. Since the start of the Nazi advance in Libya, additional staffs of technicians have arrived in Spain.

The Germans scarcely attempt to conceal their preparations. A few days ago German military aircraft flew southward over Madrid.

Further evidence of German preparations to attack Gibraltar is seen in the fact that the French-Spanish frontier has been closed since April 17.

Call Foreign Chief Pro-German.

The political factor in these developments is the pro-German attitude of Ramon Serrano Suner, Spain's foreign minister.

The task of defending Gibraltar has been given to Viscount Gort. He was appointed governor and commander in chief of "the Rock." Lieut. Gen. Sir Clive Liddell, former governor of Gibraltar, will take Gort's place as inspector general for training of British home forces.

FISCAL EXPERTS ALSO URGE NEW LEVY ON AUTOS

Slot Machines and Bookies Hit, Too.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Tax experts for the house ways and means committee and the senate finance committee today threw a bombshell into house hearings on 3 billion 600 million dollars in new taxes by proposing 661 million dollars in consumers' taxes in addition to those proposed by the treasury.

The excise, or nuisance, taxes suggested by the treasury totaled 867 millions, including new taxes on gasoline, soft drinks, theater admissions, candy, chewing gum, bank checks, telephones, jewelry, furs, tobacco, liquors, etc.

Most startling of the additional taxes proposed by the congressional tax experts are levies of 5 cents a pound on coffee and cocoa, 10 cents a pound on tea, and 1 cent a pound on sugar.

Estimated Yields Given.

The complete list of the suggested new levies with estimates of expected annual yield was:

AUTOMOBILES, YACHTS, AND AIRPLANES [exclusive of those operated by state or federal governments] a flat tax of $5 a year will be imposed on users of these means of transportation, probably when licenses are obtained	$160,000,000
POSTAGE—Placing of second class on paying basis [exclusive of county free delivery]. No definite scale of rates has been worked out—merely the overall estimate on how much they can be increased	$78,000,000
INSURANCE—1 per cent of amount of premiums on new issues. Tax would be imposed the same as in the 1917-1918 period, the companies being made responsible for paying a percentage of premiums collected as taxes to government, and could pass along tax to policy holder by adding it to premium	$45,000,000
GAMBLING—Levy on pari-mutuels and bookmakers	$50,000,000
ELECTRIC LIGHT BULBS—1 cent a bulb	$6,000,000
CAPITAL STOCK—Increase in tax from $1.10 to $1.50 per $1,000 valuation	$50,000,000
MOTION PICTURE FILMS—5 per cent of rental	$12,000,000
SLOT MACHINES [including all coin operated devices]—5 per cent of price for which sold or leased	$1,500,000
COFFEE—5 cents a pound	$100,000,000
COCOA—5 cents a pound	$30,000,000
TEA—10 cents a pound	$8,000,000
SUGAR—1 cent a pound	$60,000,000
FUEL OIL [used for motor fuel]—2 cents a gallon	[No estimate]
NATURAL GAS—3½ per cent tax on value of production	$51,500,000

Presented by Chief of Staff.

The opinion of the congressional experts was presented by Colin F. Stam, chief of staff of the joint committee on internal revenue taxation, before the house ways and means committee. The total yield from new taxes would be approximately the same under both proposals—about 3 billion 600 million dollars.

The congressional experts favor an increase in levies on incomes limited to 1 billion 100 million dollars instead of the treasury's proposed boost of 1 billion 521 millions.

Stam formally presented a plan for substantially lower surtaxes on the lower income brackets than those proposed by the treasury, as previously disclosed.

WHEELER FLAYS F. D. R. SMEAR OF COL. LINDBERGH

Speaks Here Tomorrow

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] will speak tomorrow in the Chicago Arena, 400 East Erie street, at an antiwar rally sponsored by the America First committee.

Seats for more than 8,000 persons will be available in the arena, and the doors will open at 1:30 p. m. Senator Wheeler will speak at 3 p. m. The talk will not be broadcast. The area in front of the building will be roped off to permit 1,000 or more persons to hear the program thru loud speakers.

Parking lots in the immediate vicinity provide space for several thousand automobiles. A special detail of approximately 50 policemen will handle traffic. The arena also may be reached by Grand and Chicago avenue street cars and by north side buses.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sioux Falls, S. D., April 25.—President Roosevelt lowers the dignity of his high office by calling Col. Charles A. Lindbergh "a copperhead" for opposing him, Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] declared tonight in a speech in which he denounced the war mongering tactics of administrative officials.

The Montana senator departed from his prepared text, in his address at an America First rally at the Coliseum here, to comment briefly but pointedly on the President's press conference statement in which he placed Lindbergh in the category of the copperheads who were not called upon to fight for the Union in the civil war.

More than 3,000 persons, almost 8 per cent of the total population of this community of 40,000 factory workers, retired farmers, and business men, heard the senator come to the defense of the country's most famous flyer.

Defends Lindbergh Patriotism.

"Heretofore, our Presidents have not led the pack to intimidate and to smear those who disagreed with them on fundamental issues of government," Wheeler told an audience that packed the house and cheered his words.

"The President apparently loses his temper when any American makes a plea for peace. It is too bad that he had to select as his victim Lindbergh, a courageous and patriotic American. If America goes to war, I predict that Lindbergh will be one of the first to enroll, and he will not enroll in the purchasing department."

[President Roosevelt's son, Elliott, is a captain in the army air corps, assigned to the procurement division at Wright field, Dayton, O.]

Senator Wheeler declared that every American who believes in free speech should resent Mr. Roosevelt's smear campaign against every one who advocates doing what he and Wendell L. Willkie promised during their election campaigns.

Deplores Bellicose Statements.

"Neither he nor his cabinet members dared tell the people that they believed this to be our war," Wheeler said. "If the President had made the bellicose statements before election that he is making now, he could not have been elected and he knows it.

"The President is receiving very poor information if he thinks for one moment that the American people are going to follow his cabinet and his close advisers into war."

Wheeler termed unpatriotic and ridiculous the statement of war mongers that the destiny of the United States is dependent on any foreign country. He scoffed at the assertion of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox that the European conflict is "our fight."

Sees History Being Repeated.

The senator charged that the urge to "think internationally," which dragged the United States into the last war, is being repeated by high administration officials. This argument cost 226,000 in dead and wounded American boys the last time it was heard, he asserted, accounted for the loss of billions and billions of dollars, and necessitated countless asylums and hospitals to care for the maimed and wounded.

"Secretary Knox echoed the chant of American war mongers and certain New York bankers with the statement: 'This is our fight,'" Wheeler declared. "This is not our fight.

"We are an independent and free nation. Some high administration officials seem possessed of a colonial mentality, but the great mass of Americans still recognize the Fourth of July, 1776, as Independence day."

U. S. SEEN NEAR WAR AS F. D. R. DEPLOYS NAVY

American Ships Will Range Seven Seas.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—With President Roosevelt deploying the navy to guard arms cargoes amid the appeals of the British to save them from defeat and the threats of retaliation by the Germans, the United States is whirling tonight on the edge of the abyss of war.

Declaring against any compromise with the dictators, the President revealed that American warships are ranging the seven seas to check any act of aggression upon ships or lands in the western hemisphere. He declined to disclose, however, what action American naval commanders are instructed to take in the presence of a German raid on merchant ships bound for Britain.

Praise from London.

While London rang with plaudits of the President's latest defi to the totalitarians, Lord Halifax, the British ambassador to the United States, asserted in a speech in Atlanta, Ga., that British victory is dependent upon America rendering the utmost aid of which she is capable, without delay. [Details on page 2.]

These gestures elicited assertions from Berlin that German submarines and aircraft will continue to sink ships bound to England and will not spare American warships attempting any interference. [Details on page 2.]

The President rounded out the day by promising a delegation of Greek-Americans that the United States will continue to furnish military aid to Greece so long as the war continues. [Details on page 3.]

Other Big Disclosures.

The disclosure of the navy's new activities was made by the President at his press conference, the outstanding features of which follow:

1. Mr. Roosevelt said that the Germans may have occupied Greenland, which he recently proclaimed an American protectorate, but that he is taking steps to drive them out, if they are there, the implication being that he has dispatched American warships and aircraft on such mission.

2. While the President said that the convoying of cargoes to Great Britain by the American navy is not contemplated, he described a system of American naval patrols that is guarding such shipments from German raids.

3. Mr. Roosevelt said that these American warship patrols are operating 1,000 miles off the Atlantic coast or as much farther as is necessary to the defense of the western hemisphere.

Indorses Hull and Knox.

4. The President indorsed the speeches of Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox calling for all-out aid to Britain, including measures to protect arms cargoes from the Germans.

5. Speaking as if the United States were already at war with Germany, the President classed Col. Charles Lindbergh as an appeaser, who, tho a reserve officer, is not being called into active service, just as the "copperheads" were not called upon to fight for the Union in the civil war.

The President's warlike utterances met with a mixed reception in congress, a majority of which is reputed to be opposed to the convoying of arms cargoes by American warships because such operations would be bound to get the country into a "shooting war." A widespread view is that, in deference to that attitude, the President is avoiding resort to actual convoying, while seeking to accomplish the same purpose by patroling the ship lanes.

German Embassy Statement.

In many quarters the demand was voiced that Mr. Roosevelt state his reasons for believing the Germans may have occupied Greenland. The German embassy stated it has no knowledge of the presence of any Germans whatsoever in Greenland.

At the beginning of his press conference, the President in response to a question said that the Hull and Knox speeches represent his view and clearly that of a majority of the American people. But altho both Knox and Hull had called for measures to guard arms shipments to Britain, the President said that nothing new in that direction is contemplated. The American republics had established a neutrality zone in 1939 to keep belligerents out of this hemisphere, and American warships have been patroling that area, which has been enlarged and diminished as conditions warranted. It might extend 1,000 miles from the coast or maybe more, sometimes less.

"Far as Necessary."

The President said the patrols will be continued and extended as far into the seven seas as may be necessary for the defense of the western hemisphere. Asked if the warship patrol functions against belligerents or for the protection of shipping, he replied that it functions for protection of the hemisphere. He would not go farther than that generalization, explaining that he does not know what may happen.

Asked the difference between the convoy and a patrol, the President said that convoying is the escorting of merchant ships to prevent an act of aggression, while patroling is a reconnaissance in certain ocean areas to find out if there are any possible aggressive ships in such areas or—the whole seven seas—that might be coming into or toward the western hemisphere.

Asked what the patrols do when they discover an aggressive action, the President said that they let him know about it. In response to another question, he said he could not say what a patroling warship would do if it witnessed an attack on a convoy. Then, asked if convoying is contemplated, he replied in the negative.

His Greenland Remarks.

The news regarding Greenland was elicited by a question whether the waters in that vicinity are safe. The President said he hoped so, hoped there will not be any further act of aggression, adding that he is not sure that Greenland is not occupied in part by the axis now. He said he doesn't say it is.

Asked in what manner Greenland may be occupied by the Nazis, he said he did not know, but he thought it was not by fifth columnists, implying that German armed forces may be on the island. When he was asked if he has taken steps to eject the axis forces, he replied in the affirmative, but would not go into details.

In amplification of his view that the American people do not realize the gravity of the situation, the President said that some people—of a level of intelligence that does not apply to most of us—are adopting a curious attitude. They say on one side of the mouth, he said, that they don't like this new totalitarian form of government being established in the world and on the other side of the mouth that they might as well accept it. That, said Mr. Roosevelt, is not good Americanism.

"Just Plain Dumb."

Those who take the view that the dictators are going to win anyway are just plain dumb, said the President. The overwhelming majority of the people, he added, are in favor of democracy and don't want to lie down and say dictatorships are inevitable. We have got to do the best we can and not yield to the demands of the dictatorships, he went on.

Asked why Col. Lindbergh has not been called into active service, the President said he believed he is still on the reserve list but to understand why he is not called you have to go back to the war between the confederacy and the north. In that war foreigners were allowed to fight on both sides because they believed in what was being fought for. But there were appeasers on both sides who were not called on to fight. They were called Vallandinghams, said the President, mentioning the name of the foremost "Copperhead" of the civil war.

There were appeasers also, said the President, at Valley Forge who pleaded with Washington to surrender because they said he could not win. Worth reading, the President remarked, is what Tom Paine said at that time about keeping on fighting with Washington. Asked if he were still talking about Lindbergh, the President replied in the affirmative.

WILLKIE'S PLEA: LET'S KNOW HOW BAD THINGS ARE

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 25 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie said today that "the only way the American people can realize" the gravity of the British situation "is for the administration to tell them in detail." The defeated Republican Presidential candidate told reporters that he was in favor of protecting our armament shipments to Great Britain.

"There is no use in our speeding up production over here," he said, "if our supplies for over there are to rest on the bottom of the ocean. It is time for the administration to give us the facts, and then lead instead of follow public opinion. I am waiting, as I know all the American people are, to be told the degree of destruction of supplies, and a plan of protection."

HALIFAX ASKS ALL POSSIBLE AID—IN HURRY

Hints British Fomented War in Balkans.

Atlanta, Ga., April 25 [Special].—Viscount Halifax, British ambassador, pleaded tonight for the United States to give his country the fullest aid possible in the shortest possible time.

Altho he did not specifically mention the highly controversial issue of American ships convoying goods to Britain, the envoy emphasized in a press conference that preceded an address by him before the Atlanta Bar association that "there is not much sense in producing if they are not delivered."

"The value of that help," Halifax said, "will be immeasurably increased by the speed with which it is delivered."

"Feel Pretty Confident."

He amplified this point in his speech with the statement:

"By this means [Britain's protection of convoys and other efforts], and with such further help as you may feel it in your power to give, we feel pretty confident of being able to tackle the German submarine and air threat to shipping—but always on one condition, that in every one of these directions we have the fullest help that you can bring, and that you remember all the time that every week counts."

While denying that the United States' policy of giving enemies of the axis powers "all aid short of war" is contrary to international law, Lord Halifax admitted that the help this country is giving Britain is "quite unique in history."

On the Balkan War.

An intimation that Great Britain might have forced the Balkan war was seen in the envoy's statement that: "We know that Hitler was anxious to avoid fighting in the Balkans in order not to break the smooth flow from those countries of supplies that were of first importance to him, and the fact that your enemy wants to avoid certain action is generally a good reason for obliging him to take it."

Other excerpts from his speech:

"This war is indeed a struggle to vindicate the supremacy of the law against the destructive violence of aggressor nations. I feel no doubt that you in the south and we in the British commonwealth of nations think alike on that question, and that we are at one in realizing the dangers of the civilization that we have jointly built and that we are determined jointly to preserve."

"War of Endurance."

"This war is going to be one of endurance. Those weapons of sea power and your industrial strength work silently and only at rare intervals do they attract the headlines. And they work gradually, but their effect is, and will be more and more, felt thru the growing scarcity of vital war materials in Germany."

"Hitler has given his people a long and an amazing run of victories. On such a record we might well expect that the German people would be boisterously jubilant. Yet every report we get gives a very different picture. There is no joy or mirth in the hearts of the German people—they are still hopeful indeed of final victory, but fearful of the price which may be exacted for it."

BRITAIN'S TEARS OUR TEARS, SAYS ENVOY ARMOUR

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 25.—American Ambassador Norman Armour today told the British Society of Buenos Aires that "from this time forward, your blood is our blood, your toil is our toil, your tears our tears, and your sweat our sweat." Armour speaking at a luncheon given in his honor by the society, said he believed he expressed the feeling of a great majority of the American people.

"I want you to know," he said, "how deeply our people are with you in this critical hour of democracy."

The United States, he asserted, had made it clear on which side it stood in the European conflict and, in addition to possessing sufficient industrial capacity to assure "the triumph of democracy," was determined that its war supplies should reach their destination in time to perform the task for which they were intended.

ROOSEVELT'S SEA PATROL PROMISE TICKLES BRITISH

Grin Confidently, but Decline Comment.

LONDON, April 25 (AP).—Authoritative British circles smiled confidently, but declined comment tonight when they learned of President Roosevelt's statement that American patrols are operating far from shore to detect possible aggressors, but that the administration is not now thinking of convoys.

These circles said they had no information concerning the possibility of axis occupation or influence in Greenland, "but we have had our suspicions for a long time."

Slight disposition was shown to take seriously the President's declaration that United States convoys are not under consideration. There was evidence of general satisfaction with the indication that American patrols might cover a considerable portion of the Atlantic shipping lanes.

BRITISH EXPECT CONVOYS

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull's speech last night was accepted by the British press, public, and government circles as preliminary to the institution of United States naval convoys for shipments of American war materials to Britain.

Newspaper headlines reflected the reactions. The Evening Standard said, "U. S. A. Builds Up Convoy Idea. Cordell Hull Prepares Ground." The Evening News asserted, "America Says Convoys Are Coming. U. S. Ministers Pave Way for Big War Move by Roosevelt." The Star stated, "U. S. Expects Convoy Move Soon."

The Evening News said that both Hull and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, with the authority of the President and the United States cabinet, have given definite assurance that "America will not allow arms meant for Britain to be sent to the bottom of the Atlantic."

Stress Need for Convoys.

In speeches Arthur Greenwood, minister for postwar reconstruction, Hugh Dalton, minister for economic warfare, and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, indirectly stressed the need for convoys by pointing out the urgent need for more equipment from the United States.

"More tanks, more fighters, more bombers, more ships, more guns, more bombs, shells, and other munitions from our own factories, as well as an increasing supply from the United States are the instruments of victory," Greenwood said.

"With the reinforcements from the United States which the navy is bringing in every day we shall be in a position to give it back to the enemy with interest, and that is what we must do," said Alexander.

"We are greatly sustained by the more material aid which comes to us from the United States, and British courage, if properly equipped, will bear down all the evil forces now arrayed against us."

JUDGE PIERCE BRANDED SWIVEL CHAIR FIGHTER IN WHEELER'S ATTACK

Sioux Falls, S. D., April 25 [Special].—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] tonight spoke of Circuit Judge William L. Pierce of Belvedere, Ill., as that "venerable old swivel-chair warrior" in a speech here.

"Some judge, I believe his name was Pierce," Wheeler said, "in granting citizenship applications to a class of 110 people in Rockford, Ill., assailed my peace activities as nothing short of treason.

"I am going to the city of Rockford, where the venerable old-swivel-chair warrior made that statement. I am going there to speak against war, notwithstanding the fact I have received a threatening letter from some klanlike group who call themselves a 'citizens committee.'

"They warned me against coming to Rockford. This little group would take law into its own hands. Their activities are the real subversive ones—and if Judge Pierce can spare time from his war mongering he might investigate these people who apparently echo the judge's sentiments and would deny freedom of speech in Rockford."

NAZIS SAY AGAIN: 'WE'LL SINK U. S. AID TO ENGLAND'

Declare Convoys Will Not Drive Them Off.

BERLIN, April 25 (AP).—Warnings that American war materials for Britain will be sent to the bottom of the sea as fast as Germany military power is able to do so—convoyed or not—were repeated with increasing emphasis in Berlin tonight.

The general attitude was that Germany "will not permit herself to be provoked by intemperate statements of American war agitators." The reich, obviously, was trying to avoid any incident which would further strain relations with the United States.

But it was emphasized that Germany has most explicitly laid down an Atlantic war zone which now includes Iceland and extends to the territorial waters of Greenland, and it is stated here that the world long has been on notice that ships in this area taking material to England would be subject to air and naval attack.

Recall Hitler Statement.

German commentators referred to the statement made by Adolf Hitler months ago that any vessel sailing for England—with or without convoy—will be sunk if she comes within range of German torpedo tubes.

The Berlin press was angered and officialdom plainly irked by the strong declarations of Secretaries Hull and Knox in favor of decisive American action to insure a maximum flow of supplies to Britain.

"We hate the Knoxes, Frankfurters, Morgenthau, and that 'smart aleck' Donovan [Col. William J. Donovan, unofficial American observer who toured Europe], but we also know that the great majority of American people do not think their way," a spokesman declared.

"Self-appointed Enemies."

"These gentlemen and their ilk, make themselves self-appointed enemies of the axis and indeed, one might say, of the European continent, but with the American people we have no quarrel.

"The attitude of those in America who now speak as Knox does shows how wretched Britain's conditions must be. By conjuring up alleged dangers of German designs on America interventionist circles are attempting to drag the rest of the United States into their camp."

These comments were accompanied by reports of new German blows in the battle of the Atlantic. Three British merchantmen totaling 14,000 tons were said to have been sunk out of a convoy east of Dundee, Scotland, a 10,000 ton ship sunk by air attack off northwest Ireland, and 30,000 tons destroyed recently by "one warship operating overseas."

872 Ships Seized.

The German high command also claimed a total of 872 ships totaling 1,900,000 tons had been seized on the high seas or in occupied ports since the war began.

This figure was cited by spokesmen who recalled British assertions that Germany's merchant marine had been weakened seriously thru the loss of 2,100,000 tons. Two German submarine aces, Capts. Kretschmer and Schepke, were admitted by the high command to be missing.

[The British said Kretschmer had been taken prisoner, but Schepke went down with his submarine.]

The announcement concerning Kretschmer's capture said he had destroyed three "enemy destroyers—two in his last voyage—and 313,611 tons of shipping since the beginning of the war. Schepke had sunk 233,971 tons. Both commanders had been decorated with the Oak Leaves of the Knights Cross of the Iron Cross.

AMERICA FIRST GETS 7,000 NEW RECRUITS IN N. Y.

New York, April 25 [Special].—With tabulations still incomplete, the New York chapter of the America First committee said today it has received more than 7,000 membership applications and letters seeking information about the aims of the anti-war organization since its Wednesday night massmeeting here. Edwin C. Webster, executive secretary of the chapter, said about 3,000 letters were received overnight and others continued to pour into headquarters today.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], and others spoke at the Wednesday night meeting and urged that the United States stay out of the war. The New York chapter now has 25,000 members.

"We shall continue to carry the message of America first to the nation by direct mail and by speakers at meetings of one sort and another," said Webster. "The address on Wednesday night by Col. Lindbergh has aroused wide interest, as evidenced by the mail being received here and at the headquarters of the women's committee."

Each applicant for membership is required to sign a declaration that he has no affiliation with any foreign power.

SEN. NYE ARRIVES FOR WAUKEGAN SPEECH TODAY

Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. Dak.] is to address the Lake County Teachers institute in the Waukegan high school this morning on the government's foreign policy.

The senator, who arrived in Chicago by American Air Lines last night, said President Roosevelt's comments on patrols by the navy were "very obviously a blast to stop the prevalent drift of sentiment" against any enlargement of the United States involvement in the European war.

As to the President's hints that Nazi forces are in Greenland, Senator Nye would say only that Mr. Roosevelt ought to know the facts.

GERMANS CLAIM FALL OF ATHENS IS CLOSE AT HAND

Thermopylae Pass Taken in Two Day Battle.

BERLIN, April 25 (AP).—Thermopylae pass is completely in German hands after a battle of nearly two days, it was announced officially tonight. Informed Germans hinted at a strategic plan for a triumphal German entry into an unresisting Athens.

Athens, said one spokesman, is "a ripe apple," ready for the Germans to pluck. Both the army and the air force have orders to refrain from bombardment of the capital.

The high command announced that Thermopylae, some 100 miles north of Athens, "was taken in an embracing attack and thus the enemy was thrown out of strongly fortified positions. Mountain troops again had an outstanding share in this success."

A Two-Day Battle.

It was the first time the high command had claimed the conquest of the historic pass, altho other Germans, apparently prematurely, reported the break-thru on Wednesday.

At that time the high command said merely that the Germans had compelled British rear guards to fight at Thermopylae. Tonight, however, it was disclosed that the action which dislodged the Australians from their fortified positions in the pass had taken something less than 48 hours.

Nazis admitted that the fighting had made "extraordinary demands" on the German troops; that they had just made a forced march of 50 miles and then had faced punishing machine gun fire which poured down from many British nests.

Many pieces of heavy artillery and much other material fell into German hands when the attackers finally occupied the pass.

Position of Nazis Obscure.

There was no announcement of the present position of the ground forces in relation to Athens.

German Stuka dive bombers continued to make attacks on ship concentrations in Grecian harbors.

German bombers yesterday destroyed 13 merchant ships totaling about 50,000 tons in Greek waters, sank "a small warship," hit another "older warship," and damaged 17 other merchant vessels. This was in addition to 89,600 tons of shipping which the Germans had put out of action in three days. These craft included transports, freighters, and warships assembled to take the British forces perhaps to Egypt.

The airforce also destroyed 55 planes on the ground at various airports yesterday.

More Exits Available.

The German contention is that the British getaway from southern Greece is more difficult than at Dunkirk because the latter point was so close to the friendly shores of England.

On the other hand, Greece's irregular shoreline and its many small harbors give the British more exits than were available from Flanders. The Germans say they have enough bombs to stop these loopholes. Many smaller vessels in more or less isolated harbors have been bombed.

Italians Bomb British.

ROME, April 25 (AP).—Italy turned her Balkan air squadrons today on the retreating British on Grecian soil and waters.

British naval units in Suda bay, Crete, were bombed.

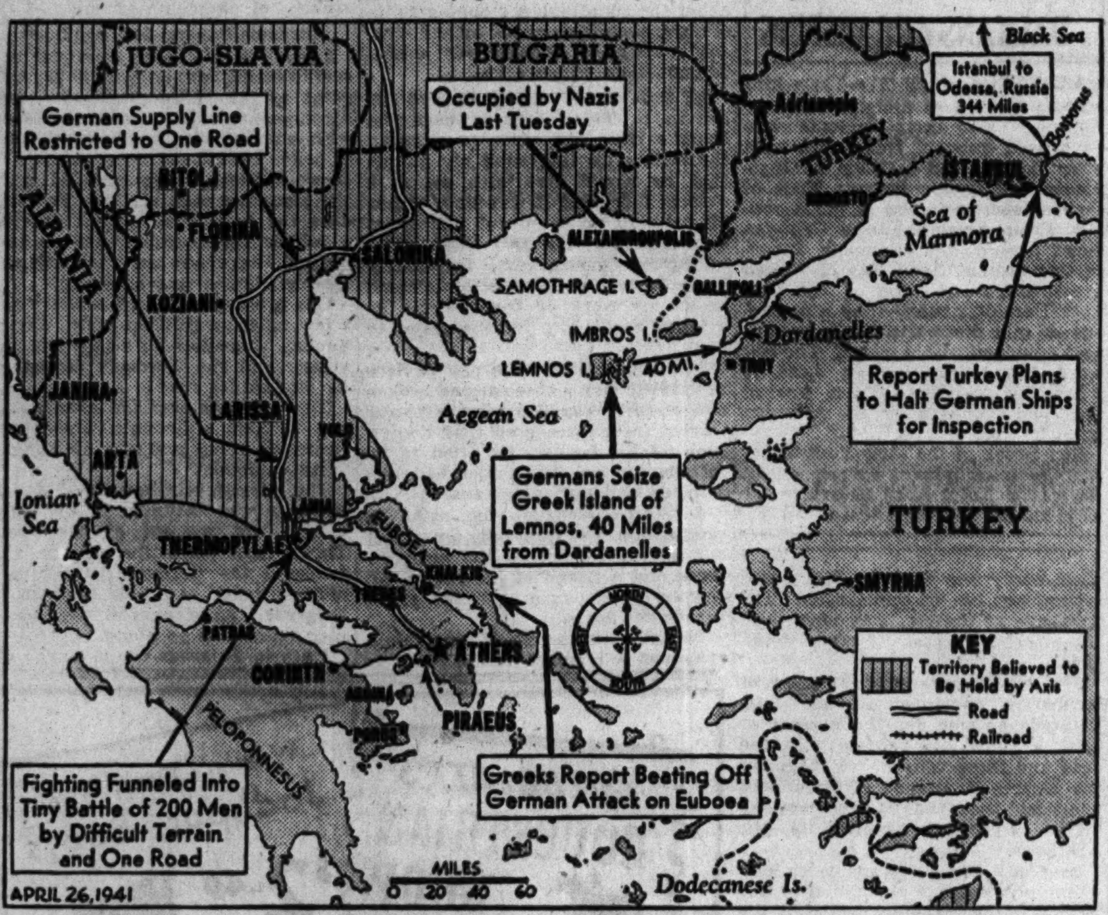
The press continued to insist that the British were fleeing from Greece by sea despite denials reported heard on the London radio.

Food Costs Rise Sharply in Chungking; Rice Scarce

CHUNGKING, China, April 25.—For the first time since last winter, food prices are rising sharply here and crowds assemble daily outside government rice shops seeking a share of the small stocks available. Police guard the shops. The price of rice has more than doubled in the last month and the prices of other foods have increased 300 per cent as a result of shortages, inflation, and hoarding.

British Make New Withdrawal in Greece

(Stories on page 1 and in adjoining column.)



British forces opposing the German invaders in Greece retreated farther yesterday, but maintained an unbroken line, according to London dispatch. The principal developments of yesterday are told in captions on the map.

PRESIDENT TELLS THE GREEKS: YOU CAN BANK ON U. S.

Predicts They'll Win in the End.

Washington, D. C., April 25 [Special].—With reports of Greek defeats flowing in steadily, President Roosevelt gave assurances today that the people and government of Greece could count on the support of the people and government of the United States.

The President also proclaimed the existence of a state of war between the war partnership of Greece and Jugo-Slavia on one side and Bulgaria on the other. Secretary of State Cordell Hull said the United States would continue to recognize the refugee government of Jugo-Slavia in its new capital outside the German occupied territory.

The optimistic offer of continued help to Greece was made by the President as he received national officers of the Greek fraternal society, Ahepa. Later the White House followed an unusual procedure of issuing, in statement form, Mr. Roosevelt's remarks to the lodge officers.

"All Available Aid."

"We intend," the President said, "to give full effect to our settled policy of extending all available material aid to free peoples defending themselves against aggression. Such aid has been and will continue to be extended to Greece.

"Whatever may be the temporary outcome of the present phase of the war in Greece, I believe that the Greek people will once more ultimately achieve their victory and regain their political independence and the territorial integrity of their country. In that high objective, the people of Greece and their government can count on the help and support of the government and the people of the United States."

In his finding that a state of war exists between Bulgaria and the partners of Greece and Jugo-Slavia, the President invoked restrictions of the neutrality act against Bulgaria. They already apply to the other two nations. The chief executive asserted in his proclamation that Bulgaria had attacked Greece and Jugo-Slavia without justification.

Envoy's Status Unchanged.

Secretary Hull announced that the Jugo-Slav minister, Constantin Fotitch, would continue to be recognized as the representative here of the Jugo-Slav government and people.

Jugo-Slav funds in the United States have been frozen by President Roosevelt's proclamation, but are expected to be released to the Jugo-Slav government in exile, as required, in the same manner that funds are released to other governments established outside German occupied territory.

It was authoritatively reported that the state department has full information of the Jugo-Slav boy king, Peter II., members of the government, and establishment of a government in friendly territory outside German-occupied areas. None of this information will be made public, it was said, until revealed by the Jugo-Slav government itself.

ITALY PUTS OCCUPIED JUGO-SLAV AREA UNDER ITS RULES ON MONEY

ROME, April 25 (AP).—Premier Mussolini today put the Italian occupied region of Jugo-Slavia under Italy's foreign exchange regulations, including virtual blocking of funds abroad.

The order made acceptance of Italian lire and Albanian francs, as well as Jugo-Slav dinars, compulsory in occupied territory at the rate of 30 lire, or about $1.50, and 4.80 Albanian francs for 100 dinars.

Importation, exportation, and transfer of securities is forbidden without the authorization of a civil commissioner. Payment from any funds abroad or those in Jugo-Slavia of persons living abroad likewise are prohibited without authorization. Persons may carry only 250 lire, 60 Albanian francs, or 2,000 dinars across the frontier, while special authorization is required for exportation of any objects.

IRISH TO KEEP PORTS CLOSED, AIKEN ASSERTS

New York, April 25 [Special].—There is no chance that the Irish will change their attitude and give or lease Irish ports to the British as bases from which to combat the Nazi raids on shipping, Gen. Frank Aiken, Ireland's minister for the coördination of defensive measures, asserted tonight at a mass meeting under the auspices of the American Friends of Irish neutrality.

Gen. Aiken, formerly chief of staff of the Irish Republican army, came to the United States five weeks ago in an effort to buy ships, arms, foodstuffs and other supplies for Ireland. He has conferred with President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles about the proposed purchase of ships to carry to Ireland 30,000 tons of commodities now waiting shipments on New York docks. So far he has been unsuccessful.

He said tonight that giving or leasing the ports would get the Irish people into war against their united determination to maintain neutrality and defend themselves against any aggression from either side.

U.S. NAVY TO TAKE PLACE OF BRITISH IN FAR EAST: JAPS

Pact Already in Effect, Press Declares.

TOKIO, April 25.—Altho existence of a formal pact for a pooling of the military and naval resources of the United States, Great Britain, the Netherlands East Indies, China, Australia, and British India to check Japan's southward advance has been denied by all the nations concerned, including Japan, Japanese newspapers continue to publish reports purporting to show that the alleged provisions of such a pact already are being put into effect.

The Nichi Nichi, which first printed reports of the pact, today published another story under a Shanghai date-line claiming that the British government has decided to withdraw its far eastern fleet to the Mediterranean, and leave the far east to the American navy.

Hear Hart Will Visit Singapore.

Admiral Thomas Hart, commander in chief of the American Asiatic fleet, is reported to be planning to visit Singapore from Manila to confer with British army authorities regarding the far eastern situation.

Japanese newspapers have been hinting that even if no formal pact has been concluded, the same arrangements could be made by staff discussions. They further claim that a recent conference was held by representatives of the United States, Britain, India, Australia, and the Netherlands East Indies to discuss provisioning of the American fleet guarding Hongkong and Singapore.

No Comment in Washington.

Washington D. C., April 25.—Neither the state nor navy departments would comment tonight on the report of the Tokio newspaper Nichi Nichi that Britain has decided to withdraw her far eastern fleet to the Mediterranean and leave the far east to the American navy.

Diplomatic circles here were said to feel that the Japanese are worried and throwing out trial balloons thru the press in an attempt to ascertain the plans of the United States.

The navy now has a flat rule against disclosing ship movements.

ALL EUROPE MUST BE UNIFIED IN OUR NEW ORDER, NAZIS ASSERT

BERLIN, April 25 (AP).—The commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland, discussing so-called British reports that Germany has certain obscure designs concerning Spain, Portugal, and Turkey, coined the phrase: "The new unified European order is indivisible."

Dienst said the war had started as internal differences between Poland and Germany but had grown into "a war for a total European new order" and added:

"Unification of the continent as the most important fruit of the war must, according to the German conviction be total, and [something] from which no land can hold aloof. "All countries of the continent, including those which stand indecisively between the fronts, in this respect face fundamental decisions."

Japan Protests to Italy on Ship Seizure in Shanghai

LONG TREK FROM BOMB SHATTERED PLYMOUTH BEGINS

Lines of Homeless Fill the Roads to Country.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, April 26, Saturday (AP).—Berlin's inhabitants were sent to shelters for a short time last night when a single British raider came over the capital and dropped one bomb which, an official announcement said, caused no damage. "Weak" British forces also were said to have bombed north German coastal regions during the night but with little effect.

PLYMOUTH, England, April 25 (AP).—Pounded and burned mercilessly by the German luftwaffe for three consecutive nights, this south coast port is going thru its blackest day as lines of women, children and aged begin a long trek to nowhere in search of shelter and safety.

Three times Tuesday night raiders roared overhead, dropping tons of explosives and incendiaries. Until nearly dawn they plunged thru a thunderous antiaircraft barrage.

The next night they scattered a hail of explosives among homes, public shelters, hospitals, churches and theaters; and again Thursday night they loosed hundreds of explosive and fire bombs upon the débris.

Weary Refused Lifts.

Passing the lines of refugees were long convoys of cars, buses, trucks, vans and horsedrawn carts, some of which turned a cold shoulder to pleas for a lift. Some women and children, too exhausted to walk further, slumped dejectedly to the side of the road. As night came many had to sleep in the open fields.

Employés of a fair grounds, however, rallied to help some of the homeless. They rigged up improvised tents, stretched canvas on the ground and found blankets to cover the shivering and wretched.

Said one of the women refugees, "They cooked every scrap of food for us that they possessed—bless them."

Raid Northeast England.

LONDON, April 26, Saturday (AP).—German bombers made a severe two hour raid on a northeast area of England last night and early today. Scotland also was attacked, and raiders were reported over northern Ireland.

Considering the intensity of the attack in the northeast, damage and casualties were said to be not heavy.

British bombers struck heavy daylight blows yesterday at a Netherlands plant making Nazi war steel in a quick follow-up of night attacks on the German warship cradles of Kiel and Wilhelmshaven.

With heavy loads of bombs, the air ministry's new service said, RAF formations blasted furnaces and mills at Ijmuiden, on the west coast of Holland.

In a dawn raid, the British said they bombed a supply ship of 1,600 tons in the Nieuwe waterweg, the canal between the hobk of Holland and Rotterdam, and bombed and machine-gunned smaller ships.

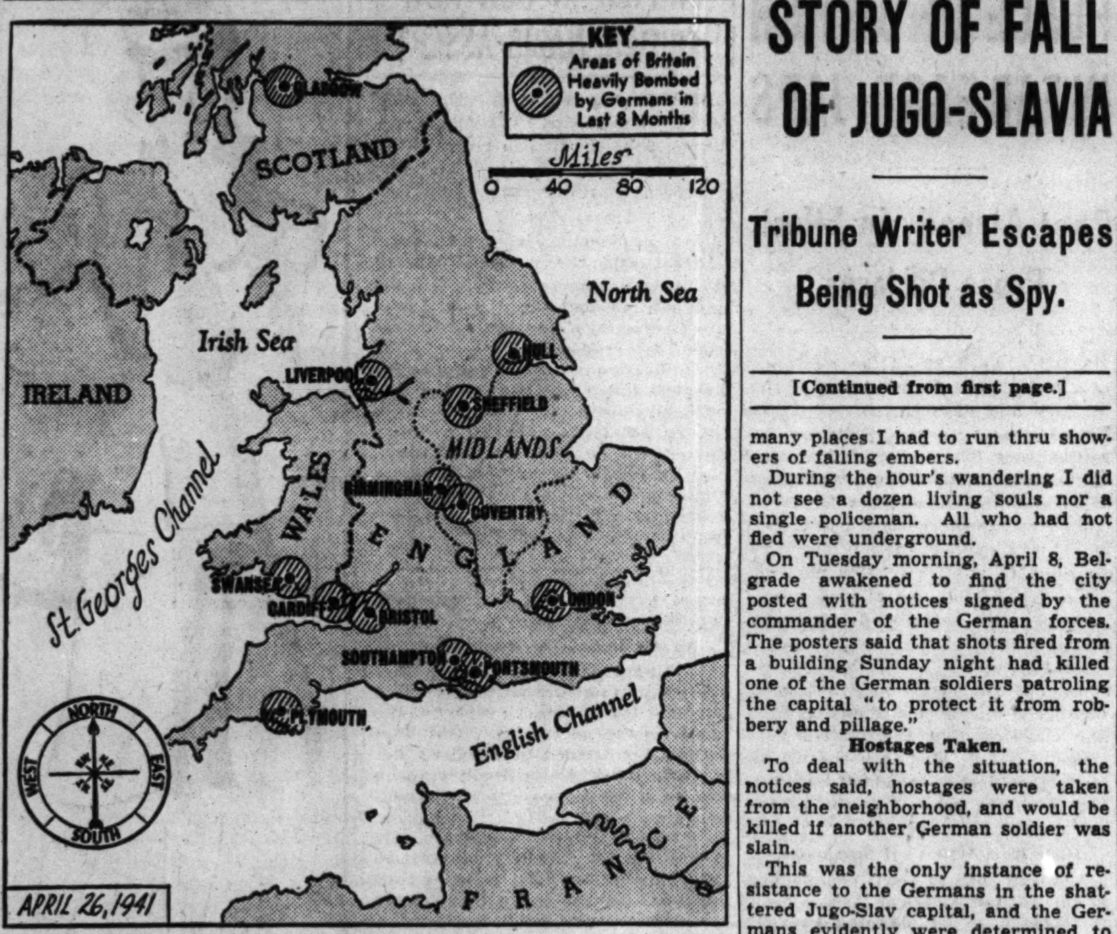
Britain Tries Again to Make Civilians Carry Gas Masks

LONDON, April 25 (AP).—The government has started another campaign to induce civilians to tote their gas masks. A survey showed only 24 per cent were carrying them and latest pictures of the King and Queen show them without their masks. Now the government has asked all building superintendents to forbid entrance of any one without a mask.

POLICEMAN'S HOME ROBBED.

Policeman Louis Swee, attached to the commissioner's office, reported yesterday that burglars broke into his home at 3039 George street Monday night and stole $489 worth of jewelry and clothing and $81.

Bombers Spare Invasion Areas



This map, showing areas of Great Britain which have been bombed most heavily by the Germans, indicates basis for London observers' belief that regions left almost untouched have been spared to facilitate invasion.

INVASION DESIGN SEEN IN HITLER'S BOMBING PATTERN

Some Important British Targets Untouched.

LONDON, April 25 (AP).—Thoughtful London observers are beginning to suspect a definite invasion design in the bomb pattern which the Germans have blasted thruout Britain the last eight months.

It is argued that the importance of the areas which have been attacked, despite the heavy nature of the bombings, is not comparable with other objectives which could be reached but which have barely been touched.

Aside from last autumn's air battle for the channel ports, the areas most frequently named in raid reports as hard hit are: London; Midlands [Coventry, Birmingham, Sheffield]; northeast [Tyneside, Hull]; Scotland [Clydeside, Glascow]; south [Portsmouth, Southampton]; southwest [Plymouth]; west [Bristol]; northwest [Liverpool and the Merseyside]; Wales [Cardiff, Swansea] and several east midlands districts.

Railway Damage Negligible.

All of these are important segments of the country's industrial life but there are others which, if hit, would really hurt the British war effort. None of them is out of the way for the raiders and some are passed over every time they come inland.

It can be said that interior transport facilities, for instance, have been left practically unharmed. Ports have been attacked but a survey of railways indicates that damage has been negligible. This, it is now suggested, is because it is essential to a German invasion plan that these facilities be preserved.

May Get Answer Soon.

Except for occasional "nuisance" raids the Germans have been methodically picking one or another of the areas named and never deviate unless forced aside by the defenses.

Those who make a close analysis of the raids insist that if the Germans possess all the planes that are claimed for them, there is nothing to prevent them from attacking some part of Britain every hour of the day and night.

That's why they are suspicious of the German detouring of certain objectives. The next few weeks may answer the question of why such targets are ignored.

DIES OF GUNSHOT WOUND.

Ivan C. Lindsten, 59 years old, an office manager for the Crane company, died in Belmont hospital yesterday of a gunshot wound. He was found in the bedroom of his home at 5230 Dakin street, a revolver near by.

FRENCH ARE SILENT ON LATEST TURN IN TALKS WITH GERMANS

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, April 25.—Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan returned suddenly to Vichy this evening after a two day visit to Paris without having seen Otto Abetz, who is Adolf Hitler's ambassador to France. Silence was maintained about the state of negotiations with German officials. The cabinet meeting usually held on Friday evening and presided over by Darlan was postponed.

Government sources, however, said there was no significance in Darlan's speedy return. It was stated that official circles were optimistic about coming to a satisfactory arrangement with the Germans.

It was hinted Darlan would go back to Paris, and perhaps to Berlin, within a few days after consultations here. In the absence of any official information on what is really happening, it appeared that the French are confronted with a last chance to give effective form to collaboration.

JEWELER DROWNED AT CHATSWORTH.

Chatsworth, Ill., April 25 [Special].—John H. Rosenbloom, 28 years old, a jeweler, was drowned today when his motorboat capsized in a lake at the edge of town. Miss Mary Rosland, 20, who was with him, was rescued.

AN EYEWITNESS STORY OF FALL OF JUGO-SLAVIA

Tribune Writer Escapes Being Shot as Spy.

many places I had to run thru showers of falling embers.

During the hour's wandering I did not see a dozen living souls nor a single policeman. All who had not fled were underground.

On Tuesday morning, April 8, Belgrade awakened to find the city posted with notices signed by the commander of the German forces. The posters said that shots fired from a building Sunday night had killed one of the German soldiers patroling the capital "to protect it from robbery and pillage."

Hostages Taken.

To deal with the situation, the notices said, hostages were taken from the neighborhood, and would be killed if another German soldier was slain.

This was the only instance of resistance to the Germans in the shattered Jugo-Slav capital, and the Germans evidently were determined to see that there would be no more.

A rigid curfew law kept the population indoors from 7 p. m. until 6 a. m. Any one found in the streets between those hours was shot.

All night long one could hear rifle shots and occasionally a burst of machine gun fire. The Germans not only shot Serbs. Dogs and cats also were shot, chiefly because they tried to dig up the bodies of air raid victims who had not been buried properly.

The last official figures on Belgrade's dead were 4,300 two days after the last bombing. Since then at least 1,000 victims have been found. It is probable that the total has reached at least 7,000.

More than 200 bodies were taken from one place alone. It was where a bomb had struck a public air raid shelter near the American legation.

An Odor of Death.

The odor of death spread over the entire city. It was obvious that many of the wrecked buildings still concealed bodies of victims.

All day long heavy explosions were heard as wrecking crews dynamited badly damaged buildings. Workers cleared away the rubbish and found more bodies.

At least half of Belgrade's buildings were destroyed by bombs and fire. In the business section not less than four out of five were destroyed or were slated for dynamiting.

There was not a shop open in the city, except a few food stores that salvaged part of their stock. The owners dealt out the purchases between wooden slats which had replaced show windows. They did not dare let the customers inside. The stock was too precious and there were too many would be customers.

But starvation was not a major danger in Belgrade. Disease was what every one feared. The water system was out of commission. The wreckage of the city was sown with decomposing corpses. Typhoid developed.

Few foreigners except the army of occupation remained in the city. Belgrade became, for the present at least, a ghost city peopled with the dead and those who mourn them. In the streets thousands of Serb prisoners and thousands of Jews wearing yellow armbands cleaned up the wreckage.

And now for a bit about my personal predicament shortly after my arrival in the Jugo-Slav capital on the night of April 6.

I was arrested in the blazing ruins of the city and convicted on the spot as a spy. Twelve hours later I escaped execution because a Serb who knew a friend of mine happened to see me and thought I had an honest face.

Seized by Vigilantes.

I had intended to stay at the Srpski Kralj hotel but it was a heap of ruins. While I was looking for another hotel, eight Serbian "comitadjis,"—vigilantes armed with shotguns and pistols—seized me. They thought my passport, which none of them could read, was forged and that my typewriter was a radio transmitter. Terror had done a thoro job in Belgrade, and left no sense of proportion.

These eight men were afraid of me. They made me keep my hands over my head while they questioned me with a shotgun stuck in the small of my back. When I turned my head to answer a question they roared, "Halt."

One wanted to shoot me. The others said they should search me first.

Find Evidence They Needed.

Under the glare of the flames they dumped my knapsack and my typewriter on the pavement in front of former Regent Prince Paul's palace. They found the evidence they needed: A coil of wire used to repair the typewriter, a spare flashlight battery, and a pair of boots. They suspected the wire was radio antennae, the battery a radio transmitter, and the boots, German army footwear.

The fireworks were postponed because an army major drove by in the darkness. They called to him: "Parachutist, radio apparatus."

Refusing to listen to anything I said or to look at my papers, the major had me bundled into a second car with two guards behind me. There I stayed 12 hours.

As the German bombers began their night attack on Belgrade we drove out of the city and until 6 a. m. rode about the countryside, stopping at intervals while the major looked over the roadside—I thought for a convenient place to leave me.

At 6 a. m. the major parked his car in a cherry orchard near the Danube river and went to sleep in the back after informing my guards that he would deal with me at 9 o'clock. I decided it was time to put up more of an argument and spent a good part of the next three hours telling my guards, who fortunately spoke French, that I must be released to do my work or there would be a lot of explaining for the major to do.

Just before 9 o'clock a pair of Serb newspaper men whose car had broken down nearby came to see the "spy." One of them discovered that I knew some of his friends. He tried to intercede for me. The major had him arrested and put under guard.

A third colleague who came to rescue him was not only an editor but also a colonel in the army reserve and a friend of the major. Accepting his judgment, the major turned me loose.

Thruout the one week campaign I remained a prisoner of the Serbs in fact, altho supposedly free. In Aranjelovac, a village 50 miles south of Belgrade where I had been taken to get a pass from military authorities I saw the panic spread by reports of arrivals of parachute troops.

Germans Pass on Another Road.

I saw not only every foreigner but every passing Serb crowded at bayonet point to the police station to have his papers verified. I found that even with a pass issued by the local chief of police I could not venture into the street without being arrested until the signature was verified. For two days the local commandant ordered a soldier to accompany me as protection. Everybody not known to the local vigilantes was arrested.

One evening we heard artillery fire a few miles away. That night, Easter Sunday, Jugo-Slav troops left the village and the Germans passed us by on another road.

The war was over for Aranjelovac and without a struggle. Every one suspected every one else of being a 'fifth columnist.'

The Turkish minister, Cevzi Koperler, who was sheltered in the same village, got me out of the town. Three days after the village surrendered the Germans gave him a military truck to return his staff to Belgrade. As a neutral reporter I was allowed to go along.

Once in Belgrade the Germans did not bother me about a pass. There remained only the question of transport—which took a week to solve. Yesterday in a Ford roadster belonging to the American legation I left Belgrade with Cecil Brown of the Columbia Broadcasting system, Mr. and Mrs. Cavendish W. Cannon of the American legation in Athens, a Scotch terrier, and 12 pieces of luggage. My own luggage had been reduced to one knapsack. The vigilantes who had seized me as a spy had stolen my possessions. We reached Budapest safely.

FIVE AMERICAN WAR CORRESPONDENTS IN BALKANS ARE MISSING

ATHENS, April 25 (AP).—There still was no word here tonight from five American war correspondents who have been unheard from since soon after the German invasion of Jugo-Slavia and Greece began. Four of them—Robert St. John of the Associated Press, Leigh White of Overseas News agency and Columbia Broadcasting system, Leon Kay of United Press, and Russell Hill of The New York Herald-Tribune—tried a hazardous 400 mile ocean trip in a large rowboat equipped with a motor. The last word from them was on April 16 when the Associated Press learned they had started down the Albanian coast for Greece from Kotor.

Ray Brock of the New York Times was the other missing correspondent. He was in Kotor April 16 but, so far as is known, remained there.

CABINET PLACES ARGENTINA UNDER RULE BY DECREE

Acts in Economic Crisis; Congress Assailed.

SOUTH AMERICA
Pacific Ocean

Ramon S. Castillo and map of South America with Argentina in black.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 25 (AP).—Acting President Ramon S. Castillo, charging Argentina's congress with "inactivity" in the face of an economic crisis, announced today that he would govern the country by decree for the time being.

In an announcement of the decision, taken by the cabinet, he said a series of "very important" decrees would be issued next week in a frontal attack on the situation which has stifled Argentina since her best customers in Europe were plunged into war in 1939.

Castillo made the statement after his first meeting with his ministers since he stepped up from the vice presidency last July 2 when President Roberto M. Ortiz was forced into temporary retirement by illness.

Extension of Budget.

Castillo charged that congress had failed to coöperate with the administration and declared the first executive decrees would extend the 1940 budget, itself an extension of the 1939 budget, into 1941.

The acting President convened the chamber and senate in special session last December to consider urgently needed economic measures but steadfastly refused to send his ministers to congress to answer questions. The session thus became a stalemate. The Radical party had proclaimed a legislative boycott, declaring it would not participate in voting on any law until the government had rectified alleged electoral frauds in the provinces of Mendoza and Santa Fe. The Radicals have a majority in the chamber of deputies.

"The administration has taken this decision," Castillo asserted, "because we are convinced congress will not vote a budget this year and it is necessary to meet payments beyond expenses of running the government.

"Very Important" Measures.

"We reviewed at today's meeting other very grave matters related to the European war but, for the time being, I can tell you only that the measures contemplated are very important and very good for the country.

"Next week I shall have a new meeting of the ministers and then I hope to tell you more. The action of the administration now begins firmly and efficiently."

Asked if members of congress would continue to receive their salaries, he answered, "yes, and they shall have vacations."

Camps for Conscientious Objectors

BRITISH TRY TO CROSS SOLLUM NO MAN'S LAND

Slope Leads to Axis Troop Positions.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 25 (AP).—A slope leading to the upper half of Sollum, Egypt, has become one of this war's few "no man's lands" and British troops have been trying for days to climb it and force Italians and Germans from the village, British headquarters said today.

The escarpment provides the only exposed and vulnerable spot for fighting, the British holding the lower half of the village and a winding pass up cliffs known as "hell fire" pass. The British say their patrols have inflicted casualties upon the Germans and Italians around the top of the slope.

[The German high command reported occupying Sollum, high water mark of the German-Italian eastward drive from El Agheila, Libya, on April 14.]

New Raid on Tripoli.

The royal air force again subjected Tripoli, capital of Libya, to a heavy bombing last night and this morning, scoring direct hits on a warehouse, seaplane hangar, and government offices. Four axis planes were shot down over Tobruk. The British garrison at Tobruk beat off an axis attack and captured 127 Italians and Germans. In Ethiopia, South African troops advanced to within a few miles of Dessye. The town is being held by strong Italian forces. More than 700 Italian prisoners were taken in the Dessye area yesterday.

British headquarters was informed officially today that Gen. Sir Richard O'Connor and Lieut. Col. J. Combe, reported missing during the withdrawal from Bengazi, are now in a prison camp in central Italy. O'Connor, one other general, and two brigadiers, were reported captured April 7 by a German motorcycle patrol outside Derna.

Italians Counterattack.

ROME, April 25 (AP).—British planes again raided the western Libyan port of Tripoli last night causing "some damage," but no casualties, the Italian high command reported today. In Ethiopia large British forces were counterattacked by Italian troops south of Dessye and suffered considerable losses.

A Year of Work

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—The first 2,000 of the nation's conscientious objectors to military service will go to work camps for a year's civilian service beginning May 15.

The national service board for religious objectors announced today that the first batch of draftees who chose to work in the interests of defense for a year without pay because of religious scruples against soldiering soon will start for work camps.

Seven abandoned CCC camps in widely scattered areas, remote from army training centers, are now ready to receive the first of the objectors. The first three camps to open are at Lagro, Ind.; Grottoes, Va., and in the Patasco state forest near Baltimore.

By May 15, it is expected that camps at Manistee, Mich.; Colorado Springs, Colo.; Magnolia, Ark.; and San Dimas, Cal.; will also be ready to receive weekly batches of work recruits.

The first 2,000 work draftees are members of 63 religious sects.

Italians Insist They Were in Greece When Foe Gave Up

New York, April 25 (AP).—The Italian radio, possibly stirred by a German broadcast of a Greek communique to the contrary, declared today that Italian forces were firmly established "deep in Greek territory all along the line when the Greek army asked for capitulation conditions." The Rome broadcast followed upon the German by about 24 hours. The point was made that this was a denial of earlier reports that the Italians never reached Greek soil until after the surrender in Epirus.

ARMY CAMP COST OVER ESTIMATES BY 338 MILLIONS

Senate Committee Hears Construction Chief.

Gen. Brehon Somervell.

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The army's new cantonments will cost 838 million dollars instead of 500 million dollars as originally estimated, Brig. Gen. Brehon Somervell told a special senate defense investigating committee today.

Gen. Somervell, chief of the construction division of the quartermaster general's office attributed the increased cost principally to factors "which could not be forseen" as the army sought to fit camp plans to sites selected.

Cost $775 Per Man.

He also testified that it would cost about $775 per man to provide housing for the expanded army of 1,400,000 men. Hugh. A. Fulten, committee counsel, commented that he understood the per capita wealth of the nation was about $2,327. Somervell said that more than half the army would be housed in tents when the program is completed.

Much of the excess over construction estimates, he said, was due to the necessity for building railroad facilities.

A report of a special parliament committee in England, he testified, showed that the cost of five typical British camps exceeded estimates by from 240 to 482 per cent.

Ask Data from Contractors.

The committee called on defense contractors to list and explain fees or commissions paid to any person in obtaining cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts from the army and navy. A three-page questionnaire sent to all holders of such contracts, asked the name and address of any person who offered his service "as an intermediary or otherwise to assist in obtaining or performing the contract."

Pursuing this same line of inquiry, the committee demanded to know also the name and official position of any person connected with the government who might have discussed the contract before it was let.

Investigate Intermediary Rumors.

Senator Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], chairman of the committee, told reporters that if answers to the questionnaires disclosed any such instances, both the contractor and the intermediary would be called before the committee for a thoro inquiry.

"There have been rumors that fees have been paid to obtain contracts and that intermediaries have entered the picture," Truman said. "We don't know if there is any truth in these reports, but we want to find out."

In another field, the committee inquired about the amount of equipment leased or borrowed by the contractor for the government job, with information on rental prices paid. Committee members said their attention had been drawn to reputedly high rentals paid by the government for machinery.

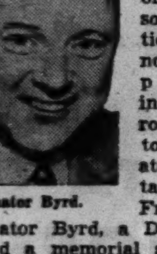
SENATOR CALLS MADAM PERKINS A BIG 'WASHOUT'

What's More, She's 'Inept' and a 'Bottleneck.'

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Senator Byrd.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Senator Harry F. Byrd is regarded by his colleagues as an urbane and chivalrous Virginia gentleman of the finest southern tradition, but he was not restrained by patrician instincts when he rose in the senate today to excoriate Madam Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

Senator Byrd, a Democrat, interrupted a memorial service for departed senators to denounce Madam Perkins as a menace to the national welfare, one of "the most serious bottlenecks in our national preparedness effort."

Using the word "inept," he branded Madam Perkins a "complete washout" as a strike settler and attributed the current labor disturbances in part to her tolerance of sitdown strikes in 1937. He demanded that President Roosevelt "accept" her resignation and replace her with a "two fisted man" who would have "the intestinal fortitude to say to labor as well as to capital that no interruptions in the defense program by unnecessary strikes will be tolerated."

Charges "Utter Folly."

Senator Byrd particularly assailed the "utter folly" of preventing any attempt to settle a strike by President Roosevelt's new national mediation board until the strike has been certified to it by the secretary of labor. The Allis-Chalmers strike, he recalled, was not certified until it was 75 days old, and when she "finally and reluctantly certified this strike to the mediation board it was settled promptly."

"Miss Perkins certified the coal strike to the national mediation board at midnight, Wednesday, April 23, twenty-three days after the strike began," Senator Byrd continued. "During these 23 days the stock of bituminous coal has declined at the rate of 100,000 tons per week, until now many industries are on the verge of being compelled to close their plants and the stock of coal for future emergency is exhausted. Whether a general shutdown of industry can now be averted by the mediation board remains to be seen. Shutdowns are already reported in steel plants and other vital defense industries, and many others are imminent.

"Bungling and Failure."

"Certainly the bungling and lack of courage on the part of Miss Perkins has greatly aggravated the situation, and her failure to act with promptness and firmness at the beginning of the strike handicaps greatly the efforts of the mediation board at this late hour, when only a few days stand between practically a complete stoppage of all industrial life in America by the inability to obtain coal supplies.

"It is commonly reported and generally believed that the failure of Miss Perkins to certify sooner this strike was because she did not desire to offend John L. Lewis, who has declared publicly that he would not permit the coal strike to be mediated by the national mediation board.

"I have only a casual acquaintance with Miss Perkins. She is an estimable lady, no doubt, and does the best she can within the limits of her capacity and inclinations. As a strike settler, however, she has proved to be a complete washout, and her record is one barren of results. Whatever usefulness Miss Perkins ever had is now overshadowed by her complete ineptness, weakness, and inability to meet her responsibilities in the settlement of strikes."

MINE SLAYING SUSPECTS WILL BE EXTRADITED

Frankfort, Ky., April 25 (AP).—Eleven men charged with murder following the April 15 clash at the Rock Ridge Coal and Coke company mine near the Kentucky-Tennessee border were ordered returned to Tennessee by Gov. Keen Johnson today. Four men were killed in the fray.

Extradition of William Turnblazer, president of district 19, United Mine Workers of America [CIO], was refused because Turnblazer is not in Kentucky and is a resident of Tennessee.

Those for whom extradition was ordered were A. T. Pace, A. J. Napier, E. B. Smith, Earl Allen, John Holland, Millard Forester, Clayton Webb, R. W. Lawson, Alfred Smith, Walter Polling, and J. W. Ridings. Pace, an auditor for the union, and Ridings, an organizer and former sheriff of Bell county, Ky., are at liberty under $5,000 bonds. The others, all wounded in the April 15 battle, are under guard in hospital.

Hollywood, Cal., April 25 [Special].—Because of an eye inflammation suffered by Gene Tierney, society girl actress, doubt was expressed today that production could continue on a film in which she was playing her first starring rôle. Work was suspended for a week as a result of her eye trouble, which is believed to be due to an allergy.

ARMY TO FREE PATTERN MAKER FOR HIS OLD JOB

[A. P. Wirephoto.] Private Frank H. Sallot.

Cleveland, O., April 25 (AP).—Private Frank H. Sallot, 23 years old, a pattern maker whose skill is considered essential to national armament work, will shortly be discharged from the army to go back to work. Maj. Carl G. Wahl, state draft mobilization officer, said it was the first case of its kind in Ohio.

Sallot is home on furlough from Company A, 112th Engineers, 37th division, at Camp Shelby, Miss. He will return to camp Monday to receive an honorable discharge and be transferred to the rolls of the enlisted men's reserve corps.

ARMY MAN BACKS CHARGES BRIDGES TOOK RED ORDERS

Tells of Alien's N. Y. Trip for Strike Meeting.

San Francisco, Cal., April 25 [Special].—In an effort to clinch details of its deportation case against Harry Bridges, alien CIO director of California, the government today called a United States army sergeant to corroborate testimony by a previous witness that "orders from communist party leaders" in 1936 sent Bridges to New York City to speak at a seamen's strike massmeeting.

The sergeant, Peter J. Innes, a former National Maritime union official now with the army at Governor's Island, testified just before the Bridges hearing recessed for the week-end, with government attorneys indicating they were at the end of their case in their efforts to return Bridges to his native Australia.

Another government witness was arrested during the day on a bench warrant charging contempt of court after he failed to appear in response to a subpena. He was James O'Neill, one time publicity man for Bridges and former San Francisco radio news commentator. He was released on $2,500 bail pending appearance in federal court tomorrow. He said he had ignored the subpena "because I had nothing to testify regarding this case."

Tells of "Instructions.

Sergt. Innes was brought from New York to fill in the other end of a telephone conversation which William C. McCiustion, a former communist, declared sent Bridges east at the command of communist leaders to address a Madison Square Garden rally.

Under questioning by Albert Del Guercio, chief government counsel, Innes testified he met Bridges at the New York airport, went with him to a small hotel, and heard four men, "all communists," give Bridges "instructions" regarding a speaking tour that included New York, Baltimore, Boston, and Philadelphia.

Sergt. Innes said that in 1936 he was sent from New York by Joseph Curran, head of the National Maritime union, as Pacific coast representative of a sailors' defense committee that was laying groundwork for an expected strike of seamen on the Atlantic and gulf coasts. He told of several meetings here with Bridges, and said he was present when Bridges telephoned to New York in regard to attending the mass meeting there.

Verifies Phone Incident.

McCiustion yesterday testified regarding the New York end of the telephone conversation, and declared that Bridges had been subsidized as early as 1933 by communist party heads as the best candidate for militant leadership of west coast maritime labor.

Innes said that after the phone conversation Bridges "turned to me and said: 'It looks like I'll have to go to New York.'."

The sergeant said he returned to New York before Bridges reached there, welcomed him on his arrival, and took him to the hotel meeting with four men whom he described as communists and who gave Bridges his instructions for the speaking tour.

Innes stuck to his story under sharp cross-examination by defense counsel.

GENERAL MOTORS DISPUTE GIVEN TO MEDIATION BOARD

Labor Secretary Acts in Face of Strike Threat.

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins tonight certified to the national mediation board the threat of a strike in the General Motors corporation.

Miss Perkins' action followed the announcement in Detroit that locals of the CIO United Automobile Workers' union in 60 of the 61 General Motors plants had voted to authorize a strike call. The UAW had ordered the strike poll to enforce its demands for wage increases and a union shop.

The union, at the outset, served a five day notice on the Michigan mediation board of its intent to take the strike vote. Michigan authorities, acting under a "cooling off" period law, ordered that a 30 day period elapse before the walkout.

Holds Big Arms Orders.

General Motors, with plants scattered thruout the automobile manufacturing belt of the midwest, has about 700 million dollars worth of armaments orders. It employs approximately 160,000 men in its 61 plants.

Union officials have asserted that men working on armaments would not be called out if a strike occurs, but General Motors executives contend it would be impossible to distinguish between preparedness and nonpreparedness work because of inter-related tasks of plants and employés.

The labor department twice before had handed cases to the mediation board in which strikes had not developed at the time of the certification—the Minneapolis Moline Power Implement and the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company cases.

Decline to Discuss Case.

Mediation board officials declined to discuss the General Motors case immediately, saying they preferred to wait until the formal certification.

The usual procedure of the board is to designate a panel to meet with the management and union representatives and fix a date for the opening of such meetings.

The labor department assigned James F. Dewey, a mediator, to the General Motors case on April 16 after negotiators had been unable to agree on terms for a contract to supersede one expiring on April 20.

Dewey said yesterday that "there is still a very substantial difference between the parties at this time on wages."

Turk-Nazi Trade Deal Gets Little Mention in Britain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—The London press today dismissed with only slight mention the singing of a Turkish-German barter deal for 14,500,000 Turkish pounds [nominally about $107,880,000]. The pact, however, was far from reassuring to those who had hoped for a firm stand by Turkey, which has a military alliance with Britain.

Harold- I don't know what to say- but this is goodbye!! — after much thought - I cannot help but feel that I have come between Lillums and you - - that you two were meant for each other - - You made me feel that you cared for me - In turn you are the sweetest, grandest boy I ever knew - and I came to love you so much - - but since I have known about Lillums - you two have grown up together - school
-2- chums - pals - you two have so much in common - I have convinced myself - no one can come between you two - —
I hope my decision will not hurt you too deeply - Harold - Perhaps circumstances led you to believe you loved me - When I am gone, I hope this is true - that I interfered - so please do not hate me — -
-3- Try to understand it is all for the best - You have your life and a brilliant future before you - so you cannot afford to make a mistake now - all my blessings - and I shall wish the best for you always - -

HIT F. D. R. MOVE TO YIELD LAKE MICHIGAN RULE

Argue Seaway Will Mean Loss of Sovereignty.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—President Roosevelt's pet project—the St. Lawrence waterway and hydro-electric power project—was assailed on the floor of congress today by Representative Walter C. Ploeser [R., Mo.] as entailing the surrender of United States sovereignty over Lake Michigan to Great Britain and Canada.

For more than 150 years, Representative Ploeser said, Lake Michigan has at all times been an American lake and now President Roosevelt proposes to divide control of its waters in order to put over a project which he has pushed since his days as governor of New York.

The congressman recalled that during the drafting of the treaty of Ghent, which ended the war of 1812, a controversy arose among the treaty delegates regarding the status of Lake Michigan. The British representatives insisted that Lake Michigan be included in the boundary waters, but Henry Clay, one of the American delegation, balked this effort by declaring that the United States delegation would rather go home and fight for six more years than yield to the British contention.

Barred from 1910 Treaty.

During the preparation of the water diversion treaty of 1910 Britain undertook to write a provision into the pact limiting the diversion of water from Lake Michigan, Ploeser recalled. Elihu Root, then secretary of state, refused to agree to this limitation. He would not allow Lake Michigan to be mentioned in the treaty on the ground that it was an all-American lake.

The 1910 treaty fixed the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway diversion at 36,000 feet per second for Canada and 20,000 feet for the United States. Secretary Root consented to a greater diversion for Canada in return for the dominion's acknowledgement of the American sovereignty over Lake Michigan, and also because he did not want to raise the question of diverting water from one shed to another by bringing Lake Michigan diversion into the Mississippi into the treaty picture.

Shortly after the completion of this treaty the waterway and power project was raised unsuccessfully. President Hoover tried to put a treaty thru the senate in 1929. Shortly after he came into office Mr. Roosevelt, a warm advocate of the project as governor of New York, began negotiating a new treaty. This was drafted in 1933.

Pact Rejected in 1934.

The sovereignty of the lake was involved in the proposed 1933 treaty, which President Roosevelt unsuccessfully attempted to drive thru the senate. The treaty was rejected in 1934 because of its surrender of sovereignty over Lake Michigan, because senate opponents charged it was not in the public interest and because it would be harmful to labor, agriculture, railroads, and industry.

Representative Ploeser charged that the agreement now proposed by Mr. Roosevelt is much more explicit in surrendering Lake Michigan than the defeated 1933 treaty. Mr. Roosevelt is seeking to put over the project in the current drive not by the execution of a treaty but by the adoption of a congressional resolution.

This strategy was adopted to circumvent senatorial opposition to the project. Adoption of a resolution requires only a majority vote of congress, whereas the ratification of a treaty would require a two-thirds vote of the senate.

2 Kidnap Robbers Start Terms in Menard Prison

Taylorville, Ill., April 25 [Special].—Two St. Louis men, John Davis, 28, and Joseph Henry Koblitz, 27, arrested at Chicago on March 14, whither they fled after kidnaping and robbing W. W. Calloway, retired Taylorville grocer, were taken to the state penitentiary at Menard, today, to begin serving five year terms on the kidnap charge and one to 20 years for robbery. They entered pleas of guilty, in Circuit court here Wednesday.

Miami students designed the uniform, which the CAA says may be worn by all students who so desire.

NAVAL ATTACHE OF ITALY OUSTED BY U. S. DEPARTS

New York, April 25 (AP).—Admiral Alberto Lais, Italian naval attache whose recall from Washington was demanded by President Roosevelt, boarded the Spanish liner Marques De Comillas today to sail for Bilbao, Spain, en route to Rome. Loading delayed the sailing long past the scheduled hour of departure.

A prepared statement the admiral handed reporters declared that captains of seized Italian ships were not guilty of sabotage, but he refused to say whether he had ordered them to damage the engines of their vessels. His recall was requested after one captain told coast guardsmen he sabotaged his ship at the command of the naval attache.

The government's request followed the seizure of all Italian, German, and Danish ships in American ports.

The ship carried 306 passengers, nearly 200 of them German women and children returning to the fatherland.

NAME SCHEFFLER ACTING CHIEF OF MUNICIPAL COURT

Judge Edward S. Scheffler was named acting chief justice of the Municipal court yesterday at a meeting of the court's associate judges in the chief justice's chambers in the city hall.

Scheffler, an associate judge since 1930, was the unanimous choice, it was reported. He will serve until Nov. 4, when a new chief justice will be chosen in a general judicial election to finish the term of the late John J. Sonsteby, which expires Dec. 1, 1942.

Scheffler is 45 years old. He and his wife live at 825 North Drake avenue. He was born in Chicago, graduated in 1916 from the Northwestern university law school, was cited for bravery after being wounded while fighting with the Rainbow division in France, and served as an assistant city prosecutor and as an assistant Probate judge before being elected to the Municipal bench.

ROGER M. CURRIER QUITS AS REFEREE IN BANKRUPTCY

The resignation of Roger M. Currier as a federal referee in bankruptcy was accepted by the judges of the United States District court at their regular monthly meeting yesterday. Currier, who is 32 years old and lives at 6705 Algonquin avenue, had tendered the resignation March 7.

He had been on leave of absence from his duties since the middle of February when it was reported he was ill. His resignation, however, did not give any reason for his action and the judges refused to comment. Currier was appointed a referee in October, 1939, and for seven years before that had been cashier and bookkeeper in the referee's office at 7 South Dearborn street.

Meanwhile auditors and other agents of the federal bureau of investigation continued their inquiry into the administration of 2,529 pending bankruptcy cases. The launching of this inquiry was announced Wednesday by Albert Woll, United States attorney. It involves an examination of the disposal of millions of dollars in assets thru liquidation of bankrupt properties in federal district court.

PROBE CLEANING TRADE SETUP IN GORCZAK KILLING

Investigators Informed of New Association.

Investigators seeking the two hoodlums who clubbed Anton Gorczak to death with a bat Wednesday in a south side tailor's shop delved more deeply yesterday into the activities of Ben Alberts, former labor leader and promoter of a new business setup in the cleaning and dyeing industry.

Gorczak, a truck driver, had been warned shortly before his death that trouble was coming his way unless he stopped "stealing customers" from other firms for the Republic Cleaners and Dyers at 1823 South Cicero avenue, Cicero, which employed him. Alberts was one of the organizers of Republic and also general manager of an association of small tailor shops which was signed up to have its cleaning work done by Republic.

Tells of Organization.

Maurice Cheiten, 3641 West 16th street, former president of the association, known as the Independent Retail Cleaners and Tailors, was questioned. He told Assistant State's Attorneys William B. Crawford and Francis McCurrie that he and Alberts conferred last fall on Alberts' plan to stabilize the industry for the "little fellows."

"He agreed to help us if we would all join," Cheiten said, "and we got together about 250 members."

From other small tailors it was learned that Alberts was successful in organizing largely because of the unwritten rule that once a shop had started sending its cleaning work to one wholesale firm he was unable to change to another wholesaler. Despite union denials, it was asserted that drivers for the wholesalers were forced to recognize this rule, and that the small shops had to stay with designated firms whether or not their work was satisfactory.

Signs Up 4 Customers.

Alberts, it was said, informed the retail tailors that the rule was off and that they should start dealing with Republic. He was reported to have told the association members he was strong enough to see there were no reprisals.

Admittedly Gorczak, following his orders, signed up four new customers in two weeks. Two of them quit the Klever-Shampay company, which is controlled by Murray Humphreys, an old Capone gangster. Shortly afterward Gorczak began to receive threats.

The state's attorney's investigators have questioned several drivers for the Klever-Shampay company, and have announced they will question them all—a total of 11. So far Humphreys and his men have denied knowing anything about the slaying.

State's Attorney Courtney said he had called his chief investigator, Capt. Daniel Gilbert, home from vacation to direct the investigation.

ILLINOIS DRAFT GROUPS ARRIVE AT CAMP CROFT

Spartanburg, S. C., April 25 [Special].—Draftees from Illinois induction centers are arriving here this week end at the rate of 265 men a day to begin military training at Camp Croft, infantry replacement center.

This morning 265 men arrived at the cantonment area from Fort Sheridan, Ill., and yesterday an equal number of draftees arrived from the same induction center. Of the total 530 men, 416 were assigned to the 36th training battalion, and 74 to the 37th battalion.

Early Saturday morning an additional 265 men from Fort Sheridan are expected here. The entire group will be assigned to the 38th training battalion. By the end of this week the strength of the camp will be boosted to 12,227 troops.

Camp Croft's most noted trainee, selectee William McChesney Martin, who gave up a $48,000 per year job as president of the New York Stock exchange, arrived here this morning with 500 other conscripts from Fort Dix, N. J., to begin his year of military training.

PAROLEE SEIZED FOR KANSAS CITY MURDER INQUIRY

Maurice Peter Tennant, 31 years old, a paroled convict, was seized by Sergts. Morris Friedman and Francis Pape of the robbery detail last night in his room at 1723 Humboldt boulevard. Milwaukee authorities had reported Tennant was wanted for questioning in connection with the murder March 9 in Kansas City, Mo., of Miss Lelia Welsh, 24 years old.

Tennant, who was paroled from Joliet penitentiary last August after serving nine years and three months for robbery, admitted being in the vicinity of Miss Welsh's home the night she was murdered, but denied he was involved in the crime. He said he was stealing an automobile. He admitted two robberies in Kansas City and said he had committed six holdups in Chicago in the last three weeks. He was shot in the left foot by Shakespeare avenue police 10 days ago as he prepared to park his car near a tavern. He escaped on that occasion.

He was held in connection with the confessed robberies and pending word from Kansas City police.

KILLED CHANGING A TIRE.

Wins Silver Mug

Two weeks of assiduous massage with goose grease and fish oil yesterday won for Robert Jampolis, 21 years old, a handsome silver mug and first place in the annual spring mustache race for senior men at the University of Chicago. The contest, which began on April 11, was sponsored by Blackfriars, the male student dramatic society, and the Reynolds club barber shop.

Elmer [Brad] Bradford, proprietor of the shop, and sole judge, measured the upper lip sprouts of all entries at noon and then pinned the blue ribbon on Jampolis, a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, former varsity quarter back, and outfielder on the university's baseball team. Bradford announced that the Jampolis crop of mustache hairs measured a bit over one-quarter of an inch.

Milton Weiss, 25, a Phi Sigma Delta, was runner up. After the ceremonies, winner, runner-up, and all other contestants were ducked in the botany pond. Jampolis' name was then inscribed on a bronze plaque in Bradford's shop along with other winners of the 30 year old contest.

WEEPING UNION LEADER PLEADS GUILTY OF THEFT

New York, April 25 (AP).—James J. Bambrick, president of the New York local of the AFL Building Service Employès union, with a membership of 36,000, pleaded guilty to second degree grand larceny today in connection with a theft of $10,000 from the union.

Tearfully, the man who directed the city's elevator strike of a few years ago appeared before Judge John A. Mullen in general sessions, acknowledged his guilt and then told newsmen:

"I have nothing to say. It is probably all for the best. I have written a book about the union and this book will show all of the facts."

Judge Mullen continued his bail of $7,500 and set sentencing for May 14. The maximum penalty is five years. Bambrick was the third official convicted or pleading guilty in District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's investigation of the union's affairs. George Scalise, former president, was sentenced to 10 to 20 years for theft. Frank Gold, another official, was convicted of extortion.

U. S. SCANS ALIEN DATA FOR DRIVE IN DEPORTATIONS

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The justice department today began searching its records on nearly 5 million aliens to determine how many might be subject to deportation for illegal entry or other law violations.

The task, expected to require nearly two months, is part of the job of building up a master file by means of which the department will be able to supply important data on the foreign population at a moment's notice.

The search just begun is the final examination of the questionnaires filled out by all aliens—except diplomatic officials and their families—during the four months registration period which ended last Dec. 26. Admissions of illegal entry, criminal records, or false information disclosed by the inspection would make aliens technically liable to deportation.

Meanwhile the federal bureau of investigation is checking nearly 5,000,000 sets of finger prints against its files to determine whether any aliens failed to report criminal records.

FLEES IN BELIEF POLICEMEN ARE ROBBERS; SHOT

Joseph Wenc, 26 years old, 2646 Rice street, a steel worker, was shot in the right leg yesterday by Policeman William McCallen, colored, after a chase which ended in front of the Racine avenue station. Policemen McCallen and Fred Riley, also colored, attempted to stop Wenc's automobile at Lake street and Hermitage avenue to question him. He sped away. The policemen said he drove thru three stop lights before he abandoned his car near the station and fled on foot. Wenc said he thought he was about to be robbed. He was charged with disorderly conduct and going thru a traffic light.

3 SEIZED, ADMIT TAVERN HOLDUP AND SLUGGING

Sheriff's police at Willow Springs yesterday held three men on charges of assault to rob in connection with the holdup of a tavern at 8200 Keane avenue, Willow Springs, on March 30.

Those held are Frank Rose, 20 years old, 6922 South Marshfield avenue, an ex-convict; James Flatte, 23, of 6804 South Honore avenue, and Harry Roy Smith, 21, of 1041 Lill avenue. Police said they admitted the holdup. Edward Kubaitis, the tavern owner, and his sister, Frances, were slugged by the bandits when they were slow to open the cash register.

The woman identified Rose as the slugger. Since 1938, his record shows, he has served four jail terms for larceny. The three will be arraigned Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Henry Pendl in Willow Springs.

STARR SUCCEEDS M'ALLISTER ON MICHIGAN BENCH

Lansing, Mich., April 25 [Special].—Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner late today announced appointment of Raymond W. Starr of Grand Rapids, former attorney general, as a justice of the Supreme court to succeed Thomas W. McAllister, who was nominated earlier in the day by President Roosevelt to a vacancy on the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati.

Justice McAllister also comes from Grand Rapids, but in recent years had spent much time in Washington, where his wife, Mrs. Dorothy McAllister, was chairman of the women's division of the Democratic national committee.

EX-FELON SLAIN AS 20 LOOK ON; 2 KILLERS FLEE

Jealousy Theory Is Probed in Mystery.

Joseph Todd, 56 years old, an ex-convict and odd-jobs man, was killed by a gunman yesterday in Monroe street near Paulina street. At least 20 persons saw the killer calmly empty his gun into Todd's head and then flee in an automobile driven by a second man.

Police have three theories as to the motive:

1. That Todd was slain by some one whose sweetheart he had been dating.
2. That he knew too much about the activities of criminals he may have met while serving a murder term in Joliet.
3. That he was killed because of a dope ring connection.

Three Guns in His Room.

Coroner A. L. Brodie and Sergts. Francis Donohue and Oliver Karwoski found a 30-30 rifle, a shotgun, and a .38 special revolver in Todd's room at 1822 Jackson boulevard. Sergt. John Mulhern of the coroner's office said all would be given ballistics tests. Police also found dope in his room. They said the guns might belong to some criminal friend or friends of Todd who slew him for fear he might talk.

Todd was released from Joliet in 1933 after serving 16 years for the murder of a Negro doorman during a drunken spree in 1918. He met his death a block from the scene of that killing.

Miss Marjorie Anderson, 35, of 1847 Monroe street, a friend of Todd, was questioned by Capt. John Ryan of the Warren avenue station. She was with Todd until a few moments before he was slain but could offer police no clews.

Wife Tells of Threats.

Todd's wife, Lucy, 229 South Honore street, said he had been threatened several times recently by a man named Jimmy for dating his sweetheart. Miss Anderson said Jimmy couldn't have been referring to her.

"I have a lot of sweethearts," she said.

Altho 14 laborers and several other persons saw the killing, none could describe the killer. None could recall the license number of the killer's car. Lester Forrest, 666 Madison street, told of hearing a shot and then seeing the gunman keep shooting at Todd after he fell.

CARPENTER SLAIN AS HE PUTS HIS AUTO IN GARAGE

Gust R. Lindbloom, 65 years old, a carpenter, was shot and killed, apparently when resisting a robbery, in the rear of 7111 Langley avenue, where he had roomed for the last three years. Lindbloom, a widower, had just put his automobile in a private garage, turned out the garage lights, and started toward the house when he was shot.

Lester Mahan, 33, a son-in-law of Matthew Heinzelman, 63, owner of the residence, said he heard Lindbloom yell, "Help," and then heard two shots. Two cartridges from a .32 caliber pistol were found near Lindbloom, who died en route to Jackson Park hospital. A pocket in which police were informed Lindbloom usually carried a billfold was torn and the billfold was missing.

Heinzelman's wife, Isabella, 60, told Detective John O'Brien of the Grand Crossing police that Lindbloom was a union carpenter, formerly employed in South Chicago shipyards. Lately he had done odd jobs.

SENTENCE 3 MEN WHO DEFRAUDED NURSE OF $40,000

New York, April 25 (AP).—Three men convicted of using the mails to defraud Miss Johanna A. Bayer, 75, a Garden City, N. Y., nurse, of her $40,000 life savings were sentenced to prison terms by Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers today.

"This was a particularly low form of conspiracy," said the court. "It's purpose was to strip a helpless woman of 75 of all her assets."

Albert C. Leathers of Springfield, Ill., and Willard J. Thomas, formerly of 7503 Boyer street, Philadelphia, were sentenced to 3½ years each and David Stewart White of Edgemoor, Del., to three years. The three men induced Miss Bayer to exchange valuable securities and cash for "oil leases."

HOME BUILDER SEIZED FOR QUIZ ON MISSING CASH

Police in St. Louis, Mo., yesterday arrested James M. MacKinnon, 35 years old, operator of a home building business at 75 East Wacker drive. He is wanted by the state's attorney's office for questioning on complaints he took deposits from a number of clients and disappeared.

An investigation of MacKinnon's operations was begun April 4 after Albert Boehm, an attorney, told Assistant State's Attorney James J. Cherry that MacKinnon had left for St. Louis without returning deposits to 18 prospective home owners, whom Boehm represents. The amount due was estimated at $10,000.

MacKinnon's wife, Ethel, 30, who was with him yesterday, also was arrested. The MacKinnons live at 6320 Kenmore avenue.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME STARTS IN CITY TOMORROW

October Extension Plan Before Council.

Chicago will go on daylight saving time for the 23d consecutive year at 2 a. m. tomorrow. With few exceptions, the suburbs and nearby country towns will follow the city's example.

Daylight saving schedules thruout the nation affect more than 30 million persons in 15 states. The extra hours of sunshine have been found to be health promoting, to cut traffic accidents, reduce electric light bills, and permit more time for healthful out-of-doors recreation.

Under the present ordinance, daylight saving in Chicago ends the last Sunday in September. Chicagoans thus will receive 154 extra hours of daylight before timepieces are set back again.

Extension Before Council.

The city council, however, is considering an amendment which would extend daylight saving time thru October and provide 28 more hours of sunshine for outside enjoyment and recreation. The proposed amendment, in its present form, requires a referendum before the extension could be put into effect. The amendment is contrary to a recommendation that Chicagoans receive the added October daylight this year as a test before voting on the proposition.

While the suburban transit services, as in the past, will begin tomorrow operating on Chicago daylight time, most of the thru trains, airlines, and buses will continue on central standard time.

The New York Central's three crack trains to the east will be among the exceptions. The 20th Century and the Advance Commodore will continue to leave at their regular hours under daylight time. The Commodore will leave at 3:05 p. m. daylight time instead of 3 p. m. standard time.

Other Changes Announced.

Other changes were announced by the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad effective tomorrow. These included the Dixie Limited which will leave Chicago at 3:15 p. m. daylight saving time instead of 2:30 p. m. standard time.

The Chicago and North Western announced a reduction of 25 minutes in the running time of the Corn King limited between Chicago and Omaha, Neb., which will arrive at 7:25 a. m. standard time instead of 7:50 in the past. Schedules of all other North Western trains, as well as those of the Pennsylvania and Milwaukee railroads, will remain the same on standard time.

CARNEGIE HERO MEDALS GIVEN TWO IN ILLINOIS

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 25 (AP).—Two Illinois heroes, William D. Harrison, 18 years old, a Villa Grove schoolboy, and Paul R. Lehman, 27, a Waterman millhand, were awarded bronze medals by the Carnegie Hero fund commission today.

Harrison saved the life of 9 year old Royce W. Maxfield who broke thru ice into deep water 20 feet from the bank of a reservoir in Villa Grove Dec. 6, 1940.

Heavily clothed and wearing rubber boots, Harrison jumped into the water, seized Royce and pushed him on to the ice from where he reached the bank.

On Oct. 30, 1940, Lehman saved Delbert D. Whitey, 29, a mill manager, from suffocation after he had been overcome by gas and fallen into an empty grain bin 23 feet deep while spraying a fumigant. Of eight men, Lehman alone volunteered the rescue.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR ILLINOIS AND CHICAGO

Save Our Republic

SHIPS TO BE SUNK.

Secretary Hull of the state department and Secretary Knox of the navy followed up the La Guardia announcement of the half-way over sea patrol with speeches going the whole route.

Mr. Hull said that aid must be supplied without hesitation to Great Britain and that such aid "must reach its destination in the shortest of time and in maximum quantity. So—ways must be found to do this."

Secretary Knox said: "Hitler cannot allow our war supplies and food to reach England—he will be defeated if they do. We cannot allow our goods to be sunk in the Atlantic—we shall be beaten if they are."

Both men plainly indicate that the American government has made up its mind to add this country's naval force to the British in an effort to protect the supply line from German attack. The previous statements of Mr. Roosevelt that such was not the intention are swept away by the developments of the last few days.

The country by this time must be accustomed to Mr. Roosevelt's manner of approaching a decision by denying that he has any such intention. He said that convoying means shooting and that shooting meant war. That was a statement of consequence, but he intended the people to understand that he did not intend to risk the shooting. Now it appears from what Mr. Hull and Mr. Knox say that the emergency immediately demands this aid to the British.

It would be a necessary policy for the British to conceal, if they could, a desperate condition, but it also would be a natural policy for them to tell the American government that they must have naval support from the United States at once. They may feel that they can now insist that half-way measures will no longer do. The American government has exposed itself to such a demand and would welcome it.

Mr. Knox put the question in terms which anybody could understand. Hitler, he said, cannot allow American materials to reach England. If he does not stop this supply he will be defeated, according to Mr. Knox. Accordingly, he will stop at nothing to avoid what would mean his defeat. This country, according to Mr. Knox, will be beaten if it does not get its war material into England; therefore it must meet Hitler on the seas. Its ships must fight his submarines, raiders, and bombers. The secretary of the navy left no alternative for either Germany or the United States. One must stop the supply to Britain or be defeated; the other must get the supply there or be beaten.

Mr. Roosevelt, of course, was the real author of the statements made by his secretaries and nothing he said or tried to say in his press conference yesterday can alter that fact. Before any public announcement is made of the event the American navy may be actually in action with German convoy raiders. We may soon read that German submarines have been sunk by American destroyers or that American destroyers and cruisers have been sunk by German submarines or bombers. Then the accomplished fact will be presented to the people. Regardless of their will they will be at war.

In entering this war they will be as unprepared as any of the countries which have been conquered. Their own protection will be one which the war party has ridiculed. That will be the width of the oceans, and it is a protection which will not guard the unequipped troops if they are sent abroad. And it will be no protection to the vessels sent into the range of the bombers which cannot reach this shore, but can reach warships and merchant vessels on their way to the war zones.

It has been revealed in Washington that the warships themselves do not possess the antiaircraft guns to beat off a bombing attack. The cruisers and destroyers which would undertake to protect merchant ships will not have the guns with which to defend themselves. The people in the navy department know this better than any one else and yet the government is preparing to send ships without the equipment which the British convoy system has. None of the merchant ships will have adequate guns against bombers. If the British convoy losses are severe, what may be expected when American ships get within range? We can't arm the ships which are to protect the munitions American merchantmen are to be called upon to carry. And we haven't yet the munitions to send, but we can get some ships sunk.

We can scarcely doubt that Mr. Roosevelt's government is about to risk this suicidal undertaking. It is about to do it when our military efforts are so backward that the army hasn't been able even to organize its paper work to pay the new soldiers on time. Young men are being taken into an army which has no modern equipment for them and we are about to be thrown into Britain's disasters. Our generals have not nearly solved the German tactics.

If the Germans could reach us we'd be no more equal to defense in our present state than was Jugo-Slavia. Convoying means shooting, shooting means fighting, and we are assuming that the Japanese are bluffing when they say that if the United States goes to war with Germany Japan will fulfill its obligations by entering on the side of the Nazis.

That would mean an immediate attack on the Philippines, where the American army is being reinforced and is in strength to make a great sacrifice without being able to defend the islands. Our fleet will be divided. It will be engaged in fighting German raiders, and part of it will be needed for the protection of such an area of the Pacific as it can defend. We shall be in a war on two fronts with no calculable termination, no calculable limitation on sacrifices, and of no calculable consequences to our form of government at home. The persons who have called this suicide did not exceed the self-evident probabilities.

Both the White House and Mr. Hull's state department may be concealing terrible secrets from the people. We do not know what commitments were made before September, 1939, and afterwards, to nations which went to war unprepared, expecting American aid which was not available and is not available now. Is Mr. Hull's conscience telling him that his countrymen must be thrown into the struggle to make amends for what his agents promised and couldn't deliver?

GANGSTERS IN BUSINESS.

An honest workingman is dead and four children are fatherless because the people of Chicago and their elected officials have been so negligent of public safety as to allow the old Capone gangsters, now led by Frank Nitti, to remain in the city.

The murdered man, Anton Gorczak, was a driver salesman for a cleaning and dyeing plant. The evidence now available indicates that he was beaten to death because in the course of his business he solicited and took a retail account away from another cleaning and dyeing plant. Police assert that Murray Humphreys, a leader in the Nitti gang, is interested in the second plant. As they go further into the case it is possible that they will find other evidence of politico-criminal intrusion in this industry.

It is common knowledge in Chicago that the Nitti gang controls prostitution and gambling. It runs racket trade associations and has put its gunmen in control of a number of unions. These are all criminal activities which police and prosecuting authorities, extremely effective on the whole in controlling common or unorganized crime, have been ineffective in suppressing. The gang has political power. It has its mouthpieces and stooges in the state legislature and in local legislative bodies.

In addition to its purely criminal activities the Nitti gang has set itself up in competition with legitimate business men. The cleaning and dyeing business is only one of its activities. Members of the gang are in the bar supply business, the liquor business, the parking lot business, or racket, and other enterprises.

This should be a matter of concern to the Chicago Association of Commerce. It should be taking measures to prevent its members being subjected to competition based on the wolfish methods of the underworld. The reward of $2,500, offered by the cleaners' trade association for information regarding the murderers, may be too small to obtain results.

It should also be a matter of concern to the decent trade unions of Chicago. Are they content to see their members, engaged in honest work for an honest living, murdered as Anton Gorczak was murdered?

It is most of all a matter of concern to the citizens of Chicago. Few of them are willing to subsidize a gang of murderers by trading with them or with concerns that they control. If honest business, honest trade union leaders, and the authorities will do their part by exposing these gang businesses, the honest people of the city will do their part by leaving them severely alone. If the Nitti gang can be ruined financially, it will be finished as a political and criminal power in Chicago.

HERR HITLER'S UNION.

David Darrah's report from Vichy is that observers believe the Petain-Darlan government is prepared to accept a place for France in Hitler's European union. With the conquest of the Balkans it would seem that the time had come for the debut of the Nazis' New Order. They have set up puppet governments. Their influence is accepted where it is not enforced. The subject peoples are seeking mitigation of penalties and escape from abuses.

France under the present régime may hope for better terms in the peace treaty by joining Hitler's union than by holding aloof. Some steps in the direction of a customs union have been taken. The circulation of goods within the narrow bounds of Nazi economy is required by the political combinations Hitler hopes to dominate and control. There could be at least a pretense of utilizing the resources of Europe for the common use.

The political and propaganda value of transferring the continent from a status of conquest and subjection to one ostensibly of union and coöperation might be considerable. Hitler must have considered the benefits of declaring peace where he had made war. He would gain by putting his scheme to work with a façade behind which was military force and Herr Himmler's gestapo. Then the peoples who are to be rescued from him would be presented as the beneficiaries of his ultimate plans for them all.

Within Herr Hitler's calculations may be the thought that this is the appropriate time for him to switch from the rôle of the overthrower of the old order to that of the creator of the new.

NEED OF INDEXING.

[Providence Evening Bulletin.]

We feel much kindlier, we must say, toward the late Senator Sheppard upon learning that for 13 years he had been hard at work making his own index to Shakespeare. "Selected Comments of Shakespeare on Over 4,000 Subjects," he called it. Take the subject of "love," for example. The senator found 99 references to love, some references spoke well of it, some spoke sourly, some with caution, and some with indifference. But there they were. You could not only pick a reference to suit your mood, but if you had a mind to, you could find out all Shakespeare had to say on this important topic. And what more could you ask of an index?

Not that Shakespeare needs another index particularly, but that indexing is an art that must be encouraged or we'll all be swamped. As a matter of fact, we are swamped. The doctors are swamped under tons of medical literature, the chemists can't possibly keep up with all that's written about chemistry, the lawyers are snowed under by their own verbiage, and a lot of the clergy, we understand, have given up reading entirely and gone to the movies.

But there it is again! The movies need indexing. The actors need indexing. Joan Crawford needs indexing. She ought to be cross-indexed three or four ways. Crawford, Joan: plays, literary confessions, husbands. Everything needs indexing. Novels ought to be indexed. Then we could just read the index and keep up our end of the conversation very nicely. Then the indexes should be indexed.

There really ought to be a law declaring that everything hereafter must have an index, with serious penalty for violation attached. Not quite as severe, perhaps, as Carlyle demanded—he was for hanging authors who didn't print indexes—but severe enough to impress every one about the emergency which now rises on every hand to smother us with our own vast knowledge.

MR. PEPYS ON CAKES AND ALE.

26th April—Did foregather with cronies in my club, yclept the Tavern, to celebrate Shakespeare's day, and opened several bottles of hock and made merry with song and jest, as if we were at the Mermaid Tavern in Elizabethan times. Did feel so full of the spirit of the occasion and the contents of the bottles that I did deliver speeches from Shakespeare's "Hamlet," and with good effect, I thought, tho mayhap my recitations were well received because the fellows would rather have me doing that than hear me sing.

Did see in the newspaper the next day that taxes will soon become dreadful, and did think, "Now there will be no more cakes and ale," for the government seems bent on plucking its people and interfering in wars not our own. . . . Well, no more of that, for it is distressing and I am weary of the argument.

Did spend many dull hours at my desk this week, trying to find a few gay ideas to put into my column, for this world needs nothing so much as laughter, but had little luck, I fear. Did look into a book called "Thesaurus of Humor," and found it was full of things people laugh at when spoken by vigorous clowns but when put into print are as deadly as a blow on the head with some blunt instrument; and wondered why such a book was ever printed.

Today, if the cold northwest wind has stopped blowing, shall go to see the football practice game at Northwestern, and tomorrow, unless it snows, I may open my baseball season at Wrigley field. Childish amusements, perhaps, but better than brooding over international affairs.

ONCE UPON A TIME.

Once in the Shenandoah I saw spring,
For there Pan wistfully pipes, remembering
A melody
From Arcady
That set fair Tempe's vales reëchoing.

Down where the ripples eddy and retreat,
Shy Flora stopped her dance to dip her feet
Like blossoms white
In misty night
Into the liquid depths. Her laugh was sweet.

Gleeful and unconcerned she flung her hair
In tumbled masses on her shoulders bare,
And welcomed birds
With winging words,
Pelted the earth with leaves and wind-flowers rare.

Thruout the afternoon her white feet made
Clear silhouettes within the patterned shade;
I heard her croon
A fragile tune
Of scarlet tulips swaying on slim jade.

Breathless I stood until the dusk fell there;
She did not know I watched—or did not care!

One Man in a Thousand Sees a Shrew.

To supplement the argument between Mr. Pepys and Bob Becker about shrews [April 14 and 18]:

I was once night watchman at a closed-down coal mine. One evening while sitting on the bank of our railroad cut, "watching" in lonely but somewhat pleasant solitude, I gave a jump as a strange little animal suddenly appeared from the grass at my feet. It was like a fat, short mouse, but definitely not a mouse, as the mouse's quick scurrying was completely absent, and it had a ridiculously short tail. As I jumped, my mind jerked out to myself and the world in general, "What the deuce is that?"

The next day, looking thru my Merriam's, I identified it as the short-tailed shrew. Later, in walks in woods and fields at evening I have met others. At dusk in woods or grassy fields, if you hear a noise under grass or leaves, wait and watch a few moments—it probably will be a field mouse, but you may be rewarded with the sight of a shrew, which, as Bob Becker says, probably not one in a thousand have seen. Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot?

As a theatrical press agent in the days of James O'Donnell Bennett, your recent paragraphs about Bennett's annual ceremonies at Shakespeare's statue set me in a whirl of recollections. I attended two of the rites, once with David Warfield and once with Violet Heming, Jim presiding. I believe I was the first press agent who sent out a Chicago release on the story, many times repeated, concerning Violet Heming's descent from Shakespeare's partner in theater management.

I cherish, too, with some pride of recollection, Jim Bennett's friendship, which was gained by a bit of intellectual fraud. He was fastidious about the written and spoken word; his fastidiousness covered pronunciation as well as style. Accidentally, I fear, I correctly pronounced a word which frequently jarred his sensitive ear by common mispronunciation. After that happy achievement, I was able not only to enter his sanctum after his rigorously prescribed office half-hour Tuesday afternoons, reserved—impatiently—for traveling press agents, but I also enjoyed his cultured hospitality in his own home.

THE GODS STILL LIVE.

Tho empires fall, and kings envision terror,
Tho men of might succumb to fear and rout,
Tho wise men prattle, seized by final madness,
Tho priests are palsied, prophets yield to doubt,
Tho hope is dim, and faith goes blindly limping,
As Hunger stalks and Death leaves many a sting,
The gods still live, and Beauty still abideth—
Across the waking hills arrives the Spring!

CHEMISTRY MAY DEPOSE DISEASE DICTATORS.

We are living in a chemical age. Our bodies are perfectly equipped laboratories wherein intricate transformations are taking place constantly. Fresh truths are coming to light daily and—because of the growing knowledge of foods—this generation should be stronger than any preceding one. It will be, if we have the wisdom to heed and use the newer facts of nutrition.

But will chemistry supply the solution of our acute infections? Shall we be able to neutralize, with a dose or two of medicine, such ominous maladies as erysipelas, scarlet fever, meningitis, and septic sore throat? We can say positively that the wave of enthusiasm which has greeted sulfanilamide and its related compounds has been justified. The death rate from many "killers" has been decreased to approximately one-third of what it was a decade ago.

We dare not, however, neglect the precautionary measures which experience has taught us to observe. Illness is potentially dangerous, always. Furthermore, it is expensive, and no one can be certain that it will not leave behind a weakness that may cut short life's span. Every ailment, depending upon its severity, may injure kidneys, blood vessels, liver, or heart. While recovery may seem to be 100 per cent, years later a lack of resistance may be disclosed that can be traced, for example, to scarlet fever in childhood.

But, thanks to the sulfanilamide family, we may nullify the effects of many pernicious organisms long before serious tissue changes have occurred. The dose must be generous enough to destroy the invaders. It must be safeguarded, however, at all points so that its administration will not prove more harmful than the disease. Fortunately, we have means of determining how much of the drug to prescribe and how long to continue its use.

If the white cells of the blood are watched carefully, little damage need be anticipated. But this may call for a blood count twice a day for at least a week if we would shun agranulocytosis, which has the habit of occurring quite abruptly. The most significant sign of trouble, however, is a raw, red throat which comes on two or three days before the leucocyte count falls. We may look upon this symptom as an omen to which strict attention must be given.

What can we hope for with these amazing products? Most cases of erysipelas will yield quickly to their influence. The possibility of an unfavorable outcome has been reduced to about 1 per cent.

The story of scarlet fever, however, is quite different. The disease runs merrily along its way, apparently affected but little by the compound. Nevertheless, if it is given about the time that complications are likely to appear, the chances are that we will be spared many bouts with kidney trouble and middle ear infection. The drug is of no value in infantile paralysis.

With meningitis, on the other hand, we possess a great boon. Even in undulant fever, which is quite resistant to all known remedies, larger doses are well borne, and many cases have been reported in which the temperature has returned to normal within a week. This particular affliction seems to require an overwhelming amount if relief is to come.

There is ample reason to look to developments in chemistry for the answer to many of our infections. With preparations modified on the side of safety, we may be able to gain victories over conditions now thought to be beyond hope. What young research worker will point the way to the conquest of cancer?

CLUBFOOT.

Mrs. C. writes: My baby was born with a clubfoot, which has been in a cast for three months. How long will cure require?

REPLY.

It all depends upon the character of the deformity and the method of correction employed. Enough time must be allowed to fix the parts in proper position so that no tendency toward recurrence will be observed. If you are in the hands of an expert, you can rely upon his judgment.

SORRY.

L. T. writes: I have been told that cod liver oil is a cure for pot belly in adults. Is this correct?

BRITISH LEADERSHIP.

Chicago, April 18.—We would be derelict in our duty and in our patriotism if we did not point out that, if America is to aid Britain further, Britain should secure new leadership. Censorship and propaganda may try to cover up failure, but the bungling incompetents in England have produced nothing but defeat and disaster. Why throw away our lives and strength underwriting the adventures of failures?

The errors of the present leaders are fatal:

1. They underestimate the enemy.
2. They think they can win by starvation and blockade against a machine that can conquer for its needs before blockade takes effect.
3. They have obviously not mastered the strategy and tactics necessary to win. They involve unprepared nations in sorties which lead to their destruction—Poland, Belgium, France, and now Jugo-Slavia. Who next?

If we must defend ourselves let us find leaders who know how to prepare and save our strength for real preparation and use it when it is not foredoomed.

HUSBAND OUR RESOURCES.

River Forest, Ill., April 22.—Mr. W. R. Waterman, in this morning's paper, expresses alarm for the ultimate fate of the United States at the hands of the axis powers in the event of a British defeat. If our national well-being is so threatened, and especially in view of the hostile acts of our administration, it would seem to augur so, would it not be eminently more sensible to cease sending our equipment abroad, equipment in which we are so sadly lacking, and bend every effort toward strengthening our own country? Instead of squandering our resources in the utterly impractical attempt to invade Europe, should we not begin to adopt a policy of husbanding these resources?

THE TRIBUNE INDEX.

Springfield, Ill., April 21.—I was very much pleased to see that THE TRIBUNE is compiling a thoro index to its file. I certainly hope that this index will be carried thru to completion. There is a vast body of history in newspaper files which is largely inaccessible because of the lack of any key to it. An index to THE TRIBUNE will be indispensable to every library with a Tribune file, but it will also be extremely useful to libraries with files of other papers.

AND WHAT DOES THE LAW SAY ABOUT CONVOYS.

New York, April 22.—According to jurisprudence, once acts approved by the people become law, they must be carried out. After the passage of the lend-lease bill even its opponents admitted that it was by the will of the people. But the will of the people regarding "effective aid" to Britain cannot be carried out without convoys. Therefore according to law those convoys must be provided.

DAVID MUNRO.

THE PHILADELPHIA STORY.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 23.—In the darkest days of the revolution Benjamin Franklin said: "If we don't all hang together, we'll all hang separately." Since that time the isolationist war cry in every country has been "Let's all hang separately." And if we look at the present plight of Europe today we must perceive how much isolationism has been to blame. Scandinavia, the Low Countries, the Balkans, and other neutrals were all ruled by isolationist policies. They said: "It's a phony war, it's an imperialist war, let's keep out and stay out, none of our boys will ever die to pull England's chestnuts out of the fire." So they merrily sold each other down the river, only to be gobbled up by the Nazi moloch themselves. Had they all stood together in September, 1939, the anti-Hitler forces would have mustered 15 million men plus immense equipment; yet isolationism simply emasculated their efforts.

Let us in America realize before too late the folly of isolationism and the gravity of the menace before us. Whether we like to admit it or not, we must face the fact that Nazi Germany is our enemy, and that we shall never have a future worth the name unless that enemy be destroyed.

If we can beat that enemy merely by supplying England with money and materials, so much the better. If, however, such aid is not enough, I see no other way than to go to war and to participate fully until the threat to our very being is removed forever. The short of war policy is good up to a point, but one wonders how we would have fared with such a policy in 1776 or in 1861.

BOIES PENROSE.

REFUGEE PHYSICIANS.

Eau Claire, Wis., April 23.—By the papers we notice that England asks for 1,000 American doctors to keep down epidemics and care for the civilian population.

According to reports there are several thousand refugee doctors in America who cannot obtain licenses to practice here. It seems only logical that these are the doctors who, out of patriotic reasons, should respond to this call. This is their war, not ours. We can use all we have in the medical line should we go to war.

SALE OF ESTATE ASSETS.

Chicago, April 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Four years ago my mother left a will making my brother and me heirs to the home.

2. We understood it was not necessary to file this until one or the other desired his share.

3. Now my brother would like his share and inquiring from the lawyer who wrote the will [4] I find it will cost $300.

This property is all clear. I have paid taxes up to date and there is no disagreement between us.

Would like to know if this is the cost or can it be taken care of at a lower price? G. M.

1. We assume you mean that she has died.
2. In general, all wills should be filed after the death of the testator but probate need not be necessary, depending on the facts.
3. Where owners of undivided interests in real estate cannot agree, any of them is entitled to force a division or a public sale by partition proceedings. The cost of such proceedings, including the complainant's solicitor's fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.
4. The best way to find if you can get the work done cheaper is to shop around.

UNEXPLAINED ABSENCE.

Chicago, April 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have always found your advice very helpful and have a problem which I hope you can help me with:

My husband has been missing for almost seven years. I have notified the police, tried the bureau of missing persons, and also have advertised in the personal columns of the papers. Have not as yet received any information leading to his whereabouts. I have been paying his insurance premiums up to date, of which I am the beneficiary.

1. Is there a law to the effect that if a person is missing for seven years he is legally dead?

If so [2] am I entitled to the full payment of the insured as if he would have died of natural causes?

3. Will it be necessary for me to hire a lawyer? M. S.

1. Seven years unexplained absence creates a legal presumption of death. If your policy contains no express wording on this point you may be able to collect on the basis of this presumption.
2. See 1.
3. Depends on whether the company is willing to pay voluntarily.

CHARGE BRANDON SEEKS CONTROL OF LOCAL RELIEF

County Officials Call on Green to Rebuke Him.

Springfield, Ill., April 25 [Special]. —The Illinois Association of County Officials in convention here today charged that State Welfare Director Rodney H. Brandon was attempting to enlarge the field of social worker patronage in his department and to build up his own position.

The officials also adopted a resolution opposing a series of bills which would make county welfare department the agents of the state department of welfare in administering aid to dependent children.

"These measures," the resolution said, "have been drafted by and for the social welfare workers' racket of the state, using several state organizations and the director of the department of welfare as a front."

Seeks to Have Jurisdiction.

In the charge against Brandon the county officials asserted that he sought to remove all local voice and authority from local welfare functions by sponsoring a plan which would place relief administration under jurisdiction of his department. They asked Gov. Green to reprimand him for this activity.

Under the Brandon plan the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, now an independent agency which allocated state relief funds to counties for expenditure by township supervisors, would be brought under welfare department jurisdiction.

Spending of state and local relief funds now is in the hands of elected township supervisors whose organization is affiliated with the county officers' association.

Brandon is chairman of a committee, appointed by Gov. Green, which recommended legislation to consolidate relief, old age assistance, and other forms of public aid administration in a new division of public assistance within the department of public welfare.

Reprimand Is Demanded.

In the resolution opposing the aid to dependent children bills the county officials asked that legislators sponsoring these measures be reprimanded by their county boards.

These bills, which now are before the legislature, would transfer control from county courts to the county welfare departments which now administer old age assistance. The county departments are under state welfare department supervision.

In another resolution the county officials asked that the IERC remove Leo M. Lyons as its executive secretary and that a downstate administrator be appointed along with a Cook county administrator.

The association elected Robert N. Edwards, Danville, to replace Arthur F. Witte, Quincy, as its president. Peoria was chosen by the association as its 1942 convention city.

BOY, 4, WANDERS IN TRUCK'S PATH AND IS KILLED

Paul Silberschlag, 2945 North Merrimac avenue, 4 years old, wandered into the street at Narragansett and Diversey avenues yesterday and was killed by a truck. The driver was George Penge, 2819 Clybourn avenue.

Charles McTague, 38, of 3036 Belmont avenue, a freight handler, died in County hospital of injuries incurred Thursday when he was struck near his home by an automobile which failed to stop.

John Kaminski, 44, of 5417 South Talman avenue, died in the Holy Cross hospital of injuries suffered Monday when he was struck by an automobile in front of 2653 West 51st street. The driver was Joseph Mackmikowski, 4856 South Wood street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 263 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 200 were killed in Chicago, where 6,749 were injured in the same period.

CIRCUS WONDERS TAKEN TO SCHOOL FOR HANDICAPPED

The circus surprised the 850 youngsters in the Spalding School for Crippled Children yesterday. Coco, the clown; Judy, the elephant; acrobats, and the performing ponies and dogs made a special trip from the Chicago Stadium to put on a show at the school.

And it was more fun than going to the circus, those who had made the trip last year told Mrs. Olive Bruner, principal. Yesterday, they talked to the clowns, touched the animals, and two little girls rode Judy right thru the dining room.

They laughed at the three French poodles and gasped as the Canestrelli troupe performed its ladder act. But they had the most fun with the clowns and Judy. Everyone had peanuts and balloons, too, so they hardly noticed they were in the school auditorium instead of at the circus. Arthur Wirtz, general manager of the Stadium, arranged the show.

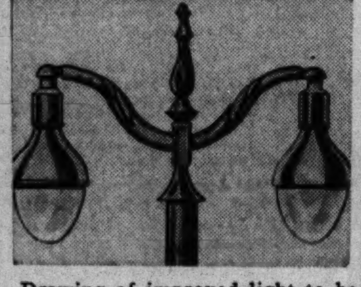
PLEAD INNOCENT OF PRICE FIXING IN INSULIN CASE

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—Three drug manufacturing firms and seven individuals associated with them pleaded innocent in District court today when arraigned on charges of conspiracy to violate the antitrust laws by fixing the price of insulin.

Indicted were: Eli Lilly & Co., E. R. Squibb & Sons, and Sharpe & Dohme, Inc.; Eli Lilly, Charles J. Lynn, Earl S. Retter, Carlton H. Palmer, John P. Anderson, John S. Zinsser, and Eugene Hugh Long.

The defendant were given 60 days in which to file papers attacking the validity of the indictment.

New Lights for Loop



Drawing of improved light to be installed in a downtown block of Monroe street.

The old type of light in use in the loop.

A drawing of the type of lighting fixture selected by the Loop Improvement committee for installation on Monroe street, between Michigan and Wabash avenues, was displayed yesterday by Lyndon Lesch, manager of the real estate department of the University of Chicago and chairman of the group's lighting committee. The Loop Improvement committee announced last week that it plans to make the loop one of America's best lighted business districts thru use of new type lights. The single block on Monroe street was chosen for an experimental demonstration. Eight light standards will be installed there in the early future. Each will support two 750 watt bulbs constructed so that the source of the light is concealed. The light will be reflected to the street thru the use of a series of mirrors and prisms, Lesch said.

9 SENT TO PRISON AS U. S. PUSHES BOOTLEGGER WAR

Nine bootleggers were sentenced to prison yesterday as the federal government began an intensified drive to crush the bootleg liquor racket. The nine got sentences ranging from one to five years. The stiff sentences were requested by Martin Gerber, assistant United States attorney, on the ground they might deter other potential bootleggers.

Seven were sentenced by Judge Charles E. Woodward. They are Salvatore Cusimano, 44 years old, operator of an import company at 914 West Randolph street, five years in prison and a fine of $1,600; Cusimano's secretary, Lawrence Froio, 26, of 2010 Taylor street, three years and $1,600 fine; James Guiffre, 29, of 545 West 63d street, four years; Charles A. Kohs, 38, of 11528 Longwood drive, 4 years and $900 fine; his brother, Frank Kohs, 37, 18 months and $900 fine, and Albert Fargo and Mike Pleitt, who sold cheap alcohol to bums, a year and a day each. Judge Woodward also placed three on probation. They are Kenneth Haynes, 30, Fort Wayne, Ind., a truck driver, 5 years probation; Fred Mraz, 42, of 548 West 63d street, and Flori Caccitolo, 26, of 516 West 26th street, 3 years' probation each.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes sentenced two to prison. They are Anthony Hodorowicz, 29, 12417 State street, 2 years, and Ted C. Pomykalski, 23, of 1244 West 50th street, a year and a day. Hodorwicz is serving a 14 month sentence, imposed in Cleveland, O., for bootlegging.

SLAYER EATS STEAK DINNER AND TELLS ALL

Camden, N. J., April 25 (AP).—A juicy steak dinner was a big help to authorities investigating the baseball bat slaying of Mrs. Agnes McBurney, 38 year old former rodeo star and mother of six children.

The meal accomplished last night what detectives were unable to do in a full day of questioning Robert Cox, 40 year old Negro and former WPA worker. "You boys have been good to me and given me a good feed. I'll confess now. I did it," Cox told Prosecutor Samuel B. Orlando. He pleaded guilty to murder charges and was held without bail.

Orlando said Cox related how he asked for a drink of water at the McBurney farmhouse, hit the family dog with a stick when it growled, and was pushed off the steps by Mrs. McBurney. "I saw a baseball bat lying there and I picked it up and hit her with it until she was dead," the prosecutor quoted the accused man.

Fire Drives Occupants of 36 Flats to Street

The 175 occupants of 36 flats in the three story building at 1223 East 65th street were driven into the street last night by fire of undetermined origin which swept from the basement to the top floor. Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy fire marshal, estimated the damage at $5,000. The fire was reported by Peter McMann, 32 years old, a machinist living in the building. Anthony Bobuscio, 30, an auto mechanic also living there, ran thru the building to warn tenants. None of the tenants, including about 70 children, was injured.

22 G. O. P. CHIEFS OF 14 STATES TO CONVENE TODAY

City to Entertain National Committee Members.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Twenty members of the Republican national committee and proxies for two other members of that body will meet in Chicago today to consider party matters.

With the approval of Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts, Werner W. Schroeder, national committeeman for Illinois, called a conference of the representatives of 14 midwestern and western states in the G. O. P. national organization and leaders from all of these states have accepted. The resultant meeting will include both committeemen and committeewomen.

Business Session This Afternoon.

The business session at the Hotel La Salle will follow a luncheon there and will occupy the entire afternoon. This evening the visitors will be Schroeder's guests at a dinner in the Empire room in the Palmer House. Tomorrow morning they will be taken on an automobile trip of the city. At 1 p. m. they will join Gov. and Mrs. Dwight H. Green, and other Republican state officials and their wives at luncheon in the Lake Shore Athletic club.

The agenda for the conference, prepared by Committeeman Schroeder and approved by Chairman Martin, bars consideration of all questions of national policy, and, it is believed, will put a stop to any tendency there might be to arouse a regional spirit that might cause conflict with other sections of the country.

Election Aid Main Topic.

For example, the first item on the agenda reads:

"To what extent can the national committee, thru its members in the respective states, organize to assist state and local organizations in national, state, county, and local campaigns?"

This is followed by other questions concerning the formation by committeemen of supplemental organizations, the coördination of independent groups with regular organizations, and the cost of financing such activities.

Illinois will be represented by both Schroeder and Mrs. Bertha Baur, committeewoman. The visiting committeemen expected include Clarence Buddington Kelland, Arizona; Ernest M. Morris, Indiana; Harrison E. Spangler, Iowa; Harry Darby, Kansas; Roy E. Dunn, Minnesota; Barak T. Mattingly, Missouri; G. E. Carpenter, Nebraska; Cyrus McCormick, New Mexico; William Stern, North Dakota, and Edward A. Bacon, Wisconsin.

Committeewomen Listed.

LAWYER TO FACE WIDOW'S CHARGE OF $11,000 THEFT

The detective bureau was informed yesterday that Gov. Henry Schricker of Indiana had approved the extradition to Chicago of E. Roscoe Jones, an attorney who is wanted here on a warrant charging embezzlement of $11,000. Jones, who is 38 years old, is in jail at Evansville, Ind.

Sergt. Michael Coan, who will bring back Jones, said the warrant was issued on complaint of Mrs. Lettie McClary, 79, a widow, of 6326 Kenwood avenue. She accused Jones of having taken the money last fall after he persuaded her to let him invest savings left by her husband.

Jones lives at 7141 Euclid avenue and formerly had an office at 7 South Dearborn street.

Seeks to Be Citizen

Vera Hruba as she appeared at hearing in Los Angeles, Cal., yesterday.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 25 [Special].Vera Hruba, pretty 20 year old Czecho-Slovakian figure skater, "Girl Without a Country," took her first steps at the federal building here today toward becoming an American citizen. Of her birthplace, Prague, she said: "When Hitler walked in I walked out."

The skating star has received 2,600 proposals of marriage so she might stay in the United States after her visitor's permit had expired. But of matrimony she said, "I don't want to make a business of marriage."

With expiration of her permit Miss Hruba crossed into Canada and then returned to the United States on a quota number.

LOVE? EXOR RUNS TO NEAREST EXIT AT THOUGHT OF IT

Exor Mathieu, a dapper little man who belies his 73 years, came before Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday and related his sad domestic saga.

Exor Mathieu.

"I was married 52 years ago—in 1889," he said. "I'm the father of 18 children, 15 of them living. I have 20 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren. Thru all those years, I worked hard. I never drank or played pool. I never looked at any woman besides my wife, Cordelia. I don't chew or smoke. I never go to dances.

"But in October, 1937, I lost some property. Then my wife put my things on the back porch. She said: 'Get out, old man. We don't want you any more.'"

Attorney Charles Nichols, counsel for Mathieu, presented a divorce bill, charging Mrs. Mathieu with desertion.

"Is there any chance of your going back to your wife?" the judge asked Mathieu. The little man threw up his hands in fright.

"Please don't make me do that," he begged.

Judge Sabath indicated he would grant the divorce. Mathieu lives at 2150 Madison street. His wife, who is 68, lives at 5041 Madison street.

3 FROM CHICAGO WINNERS IN IOWA MUSIC CONTEST

Cedar Rapids, Ia., April 25 [Special].—Thaddeus Kozuch, Oak Park, Ill., piano; Chester Bielski, violin, and Harriett O'Rourke, soprano, the latter two from Chicago, were among the winners here tonight in the central district contest of the Federation of Music Clubs.

Kozuch and Bielski who, with John Tufts, Des Moines tenor, won $50 each in the young artists' division, will be eligible to compete in the national contest in Los Angeles in June.

Miss O'Rourke was one of three winners in student musician section finals. Others were Calvin W. Wheeler, Council Bluffs, Ia., violin, and Juanita Russell, Decatur, Ill., piano. They won $25 prizes. Louisa Hoe of Chicago, a Chicago Music Festival winner in 1937, did not place.

OKLAHOMA LAND RUSH DRAMA ON W-G-N TONIGHT

Col. McCormick to Speak on Chicagoland Hour.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

An "Ode to Oklahoma," portraying in drama and song the story of the opening of Oklahoma Territory under the homestead act, will be presented on the Chicagoland hour on W-G-N tonight. This salute, one in the series of broadcasts paying tribute to various cities and states, will mark the 52d anniversary [actually April 22] of the opening of Oklahoma to white settlement. The Chicagoland hour will be presented on W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 9 to 10 p. m.

Barbara Luddy.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak during the broadcast.

Special Score Prepared.

A special musical score has been prepared for the "ode" by Henry Weber and Ken Churchill. Weber will direct the orchestra and Robert Trendler the choral group.

Before the presentation of the "ode" the chorus and orchestra will offer a group of early American songs and dances.

The W-G-N Players will recreate the story of the Oklahoma land rush, with Barbara Luddy and Bret Morrison taking the romantic leads of Mary Hopkins and Ed Talley.

Participants to Be Guests.

Among the studio listeners will be a group of five persons who participated personally in the Oklahoma land run. They are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Danks, E. W. Warrenburg, Mrs. M. M. Smith, and Mrs. Margaret Smith, all former Oklahoma residents. Other studio guests will be a group of men from Fort Sheridan and the Great Lakes naval training station.

William A. Bacher, who wrote the "ode," will be in charge of the entire production.

2,000 AT BIER PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO M. L. ROTHSCHILD

Hail Merchant for Love of City and Nation.

Two thousand persons, from tailors and salesmen to merchants and civic leaders, thronged the gold room of the Drake hotel yesterday at the funeral services for Maurice L. Rothschild, veteran Chicago clothier and president of the State street store bearing his name.

They heard Dr. Louis L. Mann, head of Sinai temple, characterize Mr. Rothschild, a major figure in the city's business world for over four decades, as "a hard and tireless worker, with an unquenchable faith in his fellow man and with a great love for America and Chicago."

Patriotism Likened to Religion.

"He had no patience with skepticism and none with pessimism," Dr. Mann said. "His patriotism and love of his adopted country were a religion with him. In his death, Chicago lost one of its most loyal and enthusiastic citizens and a devoted and understanding human being."

Several songs were sung by Attilio Baggiore of W-G-N, who, Dr. Mann noted, once worked in the Rothschild store at State street and Jackson boulevard, and whose career in music Mr. Rothschild aided and watched with great interest.

Fellow Merchants Attend.

Among the mourners were 50 leading loop merchants, members of the State Street council, Edward Eagle Brown, president of the First National Bank, and other civic dignitaries.

Following the brief service, private burial rites were held in Rosehill cemetery. Seventeen automobiles filled with flowers were in the cortege.

Mr. Rothschild died Tuesday in the Michael Reese hospital, where he underwent a major operation on April 10. He is survived by his widow, the former Hulda Bloom.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Lulu Richards Shippey.

Mrs. Lulu Richards Shippey, a native Chicagoan, died yesterday in her home in the Del Prado hotel. She was born in 1862 on the present site of the Tower building, Michigan avenue and Madison street, and moved to the south side after her marriage to the late Charles Shippey. Services will be at 2:30 p. m. Monday in the Rosehill cemetery chapel. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Eugene Schobinger, and a son, Webster B. Shippey.

Rev. James Viator Rheams.

Dubuque, Ia., April 25 [Special].—The Very Rev. James Viator Rheams, 59 years old, former president of St. Viator college, died today. Born in Chicago, he entered the Clerics of St. Viator in 1897. He was graduated from St. Viator college in 1906 and ordained a priest in 1909. In recent years he was master of novices at the Viatorian novitiate in Lemont, Ill. Funeral will be held Tuesday in Bourbonnais, Ill.

Edgar A. Froom.

Edgar A. Froom, manager of the used car department of the Cadillac Motor Car division, died yesterday in Wesley Memorial hospital. Mr. Froom, who was 48 years old, had been associated with the company for 20 years. His home was at 6808 Clyde avenue. Surviving are his widow and a son, William Froom. Services will be at 1 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 63d street and Harvard avenue.

Mrs. Laura H. MacDonald.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 25 (AP).—Mrs. Laura Holland MacDonald, 46 years old, nationally known organizer of Girl Scout work, died today. Mrs. MacDonald trained for Scout work in Boston following her graduation from Wellesley college. She was director of girls work in Buffalo and served with the national Girl Scout organization.

Charles W. Squires.

Beverly, Mass., April 25 [Special].—Charles W. Squires, 79 years old, inventor of many railroad switching devices, died today.

John W. Haarer, Formerly Michigan Treasurer, Dies

Jackson, Mich., April 25 [Special].—John W. Haarer, 65, of Lansing, a member of the intangibles tax division, state treasurer from 1913 to 1916, former vice president and cashier of the City National Bank of Lansing, and a retired major of the National Guard, died suddenly while seated in his car here yesterday, presumably the result of a heart attack.

Soldiers Test Fiber Hat with Steel Helmet to Fit

Fort Benning, Ga., April 25 [Special].—Soldiers at Fort Benning are testing a two-in-one helmet proposed for adoption by the army—a fiber field hat with a steel helmet to fit snugly over it. The helmet is intended to be carried on the pack when not in use. The hat would replace the old overseas cap. The new helmet weighs two and one-half pounds, three ounces more than the old.

GIRL, 14, REPORTED RECOVERING IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Betty Mae Arbaugh, 14 year old Schurz High school freshman, who shot herself Thursday, was reported to be recovering yesterday in St. Anne's hospital. Betty Mae said she shot herself because her marks in school "weren't what they should be," according to Mrs. Blanche Rebel, manager of the apartment building at 3903 North Tripp avenue, where the girls lives with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harley Monroe. Her mother is living with her own parents in Webster City, Ia., and the whereabouts of her father is unknown. Betty Mae's marks had been superior until the last month, when they dropped to "fair."

CONVICT CHICAGOAN OF MURDER.

Joseph Ignofo, alias Joseph Neuf, 1135 Cambridge avenue, was found guilty of first degree murder yesterday by a Circuit court jury in Benton Harbor, Mich. Ignofo was convicted of beating his uncle, Agostino Gagliano, to death near Benton Harbor in 1935.

June 28 Chosen by Peggy Bear for Marriage

BY JUDITH CASS.

MISS PEGGY BEAR and Livingston Gifford Gardner have chosen Saturday, June 28, as the date for their wedding, making two weddings of social interest that already are planned for the last Saturday in the traditional month of brides. Miss Bear and Mr. Gardner will be married at a 4:30 o'clock ceremony in the First Presbyterian church of Evanston, with a reception following at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Robert Guy Bear of Evanston.

Mr. Gardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Gardner, are giving a small informal tea at their home in Winnetka tomorrow from 5 to 8 o'clock for their son and his bride-to-be.

Miss Jane Cummings and J. Thomas Taussig also have chosen June 28 as their wedding date. The ceremony will be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock in the Holy Name cathedral, with a reception at the Saddle and Cycle club. Miss Cummings is the daughter of Mrs. John J. Cummings of Chicago and Mr. Taussig's mother is Mrs. Thomas Beals of Highland Park.

A third wedding was to have taken place on June 28, that of Miss Virginia Ballard and Walter L. Cherry Jr., but they have moved their date ahead and will be married about a month earlier.

Wedding in New York of Interest in Chicago.

A wedding in New York this afternoon of interest here is that of Miss Betty Muggleton of Appleton, Wis., to Jere Patterson, son of Mrs. Wayne Wills of Chicago. Their engagement was announced recently while Miss Muggleton was traveling in South America. She arrived in New York last Monday where she was met by her mother, Mrs. Gerald Dean Muggleton and Mrs. Wills.

Other members of the bridegroom's family have gone east for the ceremony. Miss Muggleton will be given in marriage by her father. Her only attendant will be her South American traveling companion, Miss Mary Anna Theobald of Oconomowoc, Wis. Colin Campbell will be Mr. Patterson's best man.

The Ralph Applegates [Julia Patterson] and Mrs. Wills' niece and nephew, Hattie and Archibald Ogden of Chicago, and another niece, Mrs. Giuseppe Fantacci, and Mr. Fantacci of Great Neck, N. Y., will be present for the ceremony.

A reception will be held at the Hotel Pierre. After a wedding trip to Sea Island Mr. Patterson and his bride will be at home in East Scott street.

Rowe-Bastien Wedding Takes Place This Afternoon.

Only members of their two families will hear Miss Barbara Bastien and A. Loring Rowe repeat their wedding vows at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, but a number of friends have come from out of town for the small reception which will follow. The Rev. Samuel D. Harkness of the Winnetka Congregational church will read the service before an 18th century English tapestry in the living room of the Alvin E. Bastiens' home in Hubbard Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. Rowe have come from Tryon, N. C., for their

Cash Awards Given Two Outstanding Spalding Students

Marie Carlin, 5400 Van Buren street, and Robert Huntzicker, 4103 Adams street, yesterday received awards as the outstanding girl and boy students at the Spalding school, 1628 Washington boulevard. The faculty voted they should be given the Mrs. Howard L. Willett awards of the Illinois Association for the Crippled.

The cash awards are presented to the outstanding boy and girl in each of Chicago's six special schools for physically handicapped children. Winners are judged on the basis of their service to the school, adjustment to their physical handicap, citizenship, responsibility, and dependability.

William S. Turner, treasurer of the association, presented the awards at a special assembly at Spalding. This is the first year students have received checks.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Ugly-duckling-into-swan transformations aren't as rare as you might think. We've heard tell of some amazing ones lately—all due to the evening classes in the art of making the most of one's self that are a popular service at one of our beauty salons. Working girls, school teachers, and even busy housewives go to "beauty school" a night or two a week and results are so gratifying that all concerned are in a dither of enthusiasm.

In these classes, which are small enough to permit close attention to the individual, every phase of personal appearance, grooming and even personality is studied. There are instructions in makeup and skin care, in corrective exercise, in hair arrangement, even in the development of poise! These classes, especially those in corrective exercise, have proved so successful and so pleasurable for the "students" that some even go on to advanced work.

There is, of course, no reason why a woman who has health shouldn't be attractive. Organic disorders should be treated by the physician—but for general dowdiness, for poor posture, a dull complexion and disproportionate measurements, expert instruction in self-correction, such as these classes provide so inexpensively, opens up new vistas for the dissatisfied. The "graduates" of these courses wind up with much more than knowledge of the mechanics of being beautiful—they have a new outlook on life.

Everything for Sale

Luncheon sets, doilies, kitchen accessories, blanket covers, lingerie pillows, and gifts for brides-to-be will be found in profusion at the annual sale of the Woman's Guild and Auxiliary of Christ church, Winnetka, today at the church parish house. Garden tools, herbs, homemade cakes and cookies, aprons, and smocks are other items for sale. The guild room will be filled with carefully set tables, arranged by various guild members, using linens made to be sold by the guild.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Gunton of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Charlotte Rhae, to C. J. Aronson of Washington, D. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron S. Aronson of Rochester, N. Y. The wedding will take place in Rochester in June. Miss Gunton is a junior at the University of Rochester, where her fiancé received his degree. Following their marriage, they will reside in Washington, and Miss Gunton will continue her studies at George Washington university.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lindauer of Harper avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Margery, to Leonard Semon of Newark, N. J. The ceremony will take place on May 30. Mr. Semon will take his bride to New York to reside.

Wedding Today in New York of Interest Here

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Judd of Woodstock are in New York to serve as usher and matron of honor when Mrs. Judd's sister, Miss Marjorie Farson, becomes the bride of Robert W. Griffith this afternoon. The bride, who is a daughter of Mrs. William Farson of New York and a granddaughter of Mrs. John Farson, formerly of Oak Park, will be given in marriage by her uncle, Robert Heald of River Forest. Mrs. Heald, Mrs. S. Barrett Jones of River Forest, and James Heald of Gary also will watch the ceremony from the pews of the bride's family.

The ceremony is at 4:30 o'clock in the Central Presbyterian church. After a reception at the clubhouse of the New York Junior league Mr. Griffin and his bride will depart for Bermuda. They will be at home on Park avenue within a few weeks.

Miss Peggy Lynn Ketcham and Donald W. Kurtz will be married at 8:30 o'clock this evening in the Winnetka Congregational church chapel. Later the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Craig B. Ketcham, will give a reception in their home in Kenilworth. Mr. Kurtz, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Kurtz of Winnetko, will take his bride on a southern wedding trip.

Miss Jane Miller and Darwin H. Deaver will be married at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the First Congregational church, Evanston, the Rev. Hugh Elmer Brown officiating. A reception will follow at the Country club of Evanston, given by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Miller. Mr. Deaver, son of Mrs. Glenn H. Deaver of Topeka, Kas., and his bride will make their home in Evanston.

Miss Nancy Foster Dau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waldo Dau of Des Moines, Ia., and Auwell Fogarty of Des Moines, formerly of Evanston, wil be married today in Des Moines. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William H. Fogarty of New York, formerly of Evanston, and the late Mr. Fogarty.

The ceremony will take place at 8:30 o'clock in St. Paul's church, which was designed by the bride's maternal grandfather, and a reception will follow in the Des Moines club. After a wedding trip thru the south, Mr. Fogarty and his bride will be at home on May 15 at 4053 Kingman boulevard, Des Moines.

Good Morning!

Here's a father and son story that's rather out of the ordinary.

It tells of a boy's reformation after he has been forcefully separated from a racketeer dad who has been his idol and whom, in every way, he has sought to emulate.

The casting is excellent. Edward Arnold, big, bluff, suave, or deadly as occasion demands, portrays slickly the egotistical killer, "Stuff" Nelson, whose only vulnerable spot is his love for his adoring "Roosty." Gene Reynolds is colorful and appealing as the son and his gradual veering from wrong to right is accomplished expertly and with naturalness. . . . Great little actor!

The film, sordid for the most part, has moments of high comedy. . . . Note the scene dominated by the boss of a barnyard, a belligerent gander.

Beloved veteran players and interesting new ones in this picture. Lionel Barrymore and Emma Dunn add a restful, homey touch as shrewd and kindly country folk, and see if you don't like Robert Sterling as the young farmer to whom "Roosty" is paroled.

"The Penalty" is plumb full of action and I thought it extremely interesting and suspenseful.

Its moral is, of course, that crime doesn't pay and that the simple life does.

See you tomorrow.

Calls Cotton Ideal Fabric for Summer

BY REA SEEGER.

After a sneak preview of some early cotton fashions that must have been especially designed for Chicagoland's heat waves every shopping sleuth watching the parade decided to dress all summer long in this cool clean looking material. The tailored suits are the find of a lifetime for career girls. They are tricky finds, are made with button on and off shirts, ready to alternate with fluffier sheer blouses for a date in town after a day in the office.

Striped chambray, woven cotton, and crisp checked ginghams are featured in all cool color combines and in flattering solid colors, unusual shades of brown, strawberry red, green, beige, and blue. These suits come in the regulation two piece models of skirt and slim fitted jacket and the smart dress suits . . . dress and matching jacket. The details and fit are remarkable. There wasn't a model that didn't fit with the enviable distinction of a thin wool or heavy silk suit. No excuse these next summer months of not appearing smoothly fitted or smartly well groomed.

Woven cottons are grand new finds, the textures amazingly like imported tweeds and woolens. Small plaids and checks in bright colors add to their charm. Most of the jackets are unlined, some come with the regulation fitted long sleeves or the three-quarter sleeves. Skirts are youthful because of the fitted flare achieved with expertly cut gores that fit skin smooth over the hips.

Dark cornflower blue, gray, brown, and wine red tones are new, making ideal summer suits for town wear. Whiffs of white in vestees, tailored bows, or ruffles of the cotton, gingham or chambray are effective softeners for the dress suits.

Royalties into a Well.

The author's profit on every book sold will dig 21/7 inches of well, Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm has worked out, in dreaming of what she will do with royalties of her first book Take to the Hills, out May 1.

"Most hill farms, ours included, depend upon cisterns and ponds for their water supply," Marge writes, "but there was a time last summer when even the big well up by the barn became so low that we washed the dishes in the water that had been used to wash the garden vegetables, then the dishwater was carefully poured on the rose bush that had been my Easter present. And when the pond in the valley became only a clay-ey depression, the sheep were kept in the home forty so they could drink from the big pond on the hill top. The fence between our farm and Aunt Lizzie's was cut so her cows could come over and drink from our pond. . . . Then at last came a day when even the big pond was brackish and muddy and we knew it too would soon be dry. . . . At last we took the money we had saved for a new picket fence and did what no other hill farmer had ever done before. We bought a tank of water from the tiny 'waterworks' well in the village and had it hauled six miles out over the dusty roads to our farm and poured into our well. And the next day it rained!"

Hard Case

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1941: By Luke Short.]

SYNOPSIS.

A letter, whose address shows that Dave Coyle, notorious outlaw, is expected in Yellow Jacket, turns the town into an armed force, headed by Sheriff Beal. Dave diverts their attention by leaving cartridges warming to the explosion point in the blacksmith's forge while he walks in the postoffice and gets his letter from Carol McFee. While the hotel clerk has gone to the scene of explosion, Dave goes to a room in the hotel. He finds that Carol has mixed letters and he gets one intended for Will Usher in which Carol tells Will she is warning Dave against him. Carol, worried about the mixed letters, follows Dave to the hotel and tells him she needs his help in driving Wallace and his outfit off their ranch. Wallace has forged a deed and a bill of sale, claiming Carol's dad sold him the ranch. McFee is suing Wallace, but Wallace is bringing Sholto to the trial to testify as witness to the sale. Dave agrees to help, and Will Usher begs a truce and proposes that he and Dave kidnap Sholto, making Wallace pay a high ransom. Dave agrees, thinking it will help McFee's suit to get Sholto out of the way. Dave carries out the kidnaping only to have Usher doublecross him and try to kill him. But using Sholto as a shield he escapes.

INSTALMENT XII.

HANDWRITING TEST.

Wallace, as soon as he was inside the door of the sheriff's office, started the same song that Ernie had been listening to for 24 hours.

"I can't get over it," Wallace said bleakly, his voice still savage. "Just because you were so knotheaded you wouldn't look in that coffin, Beal, I'm goin' to have to pay out a sweet piece of money."

And Beal, harried and tired, gave the same exasperated retort he had been giving all night and day. "Dammit, man. You saw the coffin! If I'm a knothead, so are you!"

Ernie shucked off his shell belt and gun and said to Beal, "I'll be back after a while." He went out, sick of Wallace's grousing, smarting under it because he was included as a knothead, too, and tired enough to fall asleep in the street. He cursed Dave Coyle with a bitterness that surprised even himself, and then he headed upstreet for a drink.

Bruce McFee, per Sheriff Beal's instructions, was in the custody of the two deputy United States marshals at the hotel here, but he would go free, Ernie thought bitterly. There was no excuse to hold him now. He had disclaimed all knowledge of Dave Coyle and had pointed to his posting of the reward money for Dave's capture as evidence of his innocence. But all that was phony, Ernie thought. Who stood to profit most by Sholto's disappearance? McFee, and Ernie was willing to bet good money that none of them would ever see Sholto again. And while McFee was taking his ease in a hotel room, laughing at them, Ernie and the posse had been riding the legs off their horses. And for nothing. The trail had petered out.

Ernie tramped down the boardwalk, disgust riding his honest face. He wished fervently that both McFee and Wallace would drop dead.

"Did you just come from the sheriff's office?" a woman's voice said.

Ernie pulled up and turned. A pretty, dark haired girl in a rusty black dress stood beside him. Ernie didn't know her, but he liked her looks. He touched his hat. "Yes'm."

"Is Mr. Wallace there?"

"He sure is," Ernie said grimly.

"When will he be ready to ride out to the place?"

"I dunno, Miss. Why?"

"Well, I——I work out there," the girl said. "I was going out with him."

Ernie looked at her closely. Then he saw the wedding ring on her finger. For a moment, he wondered if Wallace was married, and then he knew he wasn't. Probably some relative.

Ernie said, "I wisht you'd take him out and give us a little peace around this place."

"Will you tell him I'm waiting?"

"Sure," Ernie said. "What name?"

"He'll know," the girl said. She smiled her thanks and went down the street. Ernie watched her a moment, admiration in his eyes, and then started out for the saloon again. He had taken less than three steps when he heard some one call him again. "Ernie, O, Ernie."

He stopped patiently, and saw old Bitterman, the hotel clerk, hobbling toward him. Ernie looked at him with a baleful gaze. Likely there was a towel missing from the hotel, and old Bitterman wanted a blanket warrant sworn out for all the guests until the towel was retrieved.

"Well?" Ernie said disgustedly, when Bitterman faced him.

"I found somethin' while you were gone. I didn't know whether to save it or not."

"What is it? A burnt match?" Ernie asked sardonically.

Bitterman looked aggrieved, but he pulled a folded envelope from his pocket. "It's an envelope," he said.

Ernie took it, unfolded it, glanced at the writing, and then crumpled it in his fist and threw it savagely in the gutter and said, "Ah, phooey!"

And then his face changed. He stood there a second, his face blank, and then dived for the envelope. Retrieving it, he smoothed it out and read the address again. It was the envelope of Carol's letter to Dave Coyle.

"Where'd you find this?" Ernie asked swiftly.

"Why, the chambermaid found it in that room Coyle was in the other night," Bitterman said righteously. "I told you it was——"

Ernie didn't even bother to hear him out. He turned and walked rapidly back to the sheriff's office, a plan already forming in his mind. And then his pace slowed. Wallace would still be there, and Ernie didn't want Wallace riding him on this business. He sauntered into the office. Wallace, his hat shoved on the back of his bony skull, was talking to Sheriff Beal, whose face was getting redder and redder. "I tell you," Wallace was saying, "either you arrest McFee, Beal, or this is your last term of office!"

Beal spread his hands pleadingly and said, "On what grounds? In the name of all that's high and mighty and holy, on what grounds can I arrest him?"

Ernie interrupted lazily, "Did McFee and that girl of his sign them depositions?"

Beal glared at him. "How could they? This maniac hasn't even let me have a minute free since I got back!"

"I'll take 'em," Ernie said.

Beal fished around in the desk and got the depositions of McFee and Carol. They were merely statements that they had had no part in Dave Coyle's kidnaping of Sholto.

Ernie took them and sauntered out the door, his message from the girl to Wallace forgotten. Wallace was talking again. Once on the street Ernie almost ran up to the hotel. He stopped at the desk long enough to take old Bitterman's inkpot and pen and then he went upstairs. A deputy, his chair back-tilted against the wall of the corridor by McFee's room, told Ernie that McFee was in.

Ernie knocked and was bid enter. The room was a sitting room of the only suite in the hotel. Bruce McFee, his hands folded behind his back, was pacing the floor. He whirled at Ernie's entrance, and said savagely, "How long am I going to be kept here?"

"Dad," Carol said. "Be patient."

She was sitting at a table playing a two handed game of rummy with Senator Maitland.

Ernie took off his hat and said, "It won't be long, Mr. McFee. If you and Miss McFee sign these depositions, I reckon the sheriff won't keep you much longer."

Maitland, always the lawyer, said, "Let me see them."

Ernie handed him the papers and put the pen and ink on the desk. His heart was beating wildly, and he hoped his face didn't show it. He stood there, hipshot like a horse, while Maitland read over the depositions.

"I think they're safe to sign," Maitland said. "They absolve you both of any complicity in the kidnaping of Sholto."

Ernie's face didn't change. He only picked up the pen, dipped it in the ink and handed it to Carol. She signed, and Ernie handed the pen to McFee, who signed with a stiff hand his childish looking signature.

Ernie picked up the two papers, backed off across the room, dropped McFee's deposition and pulled out the envelope. It was Carol's writing on the envelope, he was certain now.

He went to the door and said to the guard, "Step in here."

When the bewildered deputy came thru the door, Ernie said swiftly, "Put your gun on them, and don't let them out of this room."

He bolted out the door and ran down the stairs. McFee, his face as bewildered as the deputy's, looked at Maitland. "What did we sign?"

Maitland looked puzzled, too, but neither of them looked at Carol. If they had, they would have noticed that she was as pale as the white lace collar of her dress.

McFee started for the deposition that Ernie had dropped, but the deputy pulled up his gun. "You stay put," he said.

In two minutes, Sheriff Beal and Ernie, both out of breath, came into the room. There was a look of triumph in Beal's face as he marched over to Carol and shoved the envelope at her. "Is that your writing?" he asked, half panting. [Continued Monday.]

Should Widow Remarry? The Ideas Differ

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

A recent question put to readers about the remarriage of widows elicited the following responses:

"I am one of the thousands of women who have had to readjust their lives because of losing good husbands. Remarriage is a question to decide when the opportunity presents itself. I believe that in this world there is more than one man who will make a woman happy, but in the widowhood interim one should do something interesting and constructive. I find my pleasure in helping others. I'm in the real estate business, but I do more than find homes. If they're newcomers, I try to arrange meetings for them with congenial souls, help them to adjust themselves in a new town, all of which provides contacts, which is one of the needs of a widow bereft of her mate. A. J."

Mrs. S. H. thinks the lonely trail the right trail for her. In these days, she argues, when a woman can do and go where she pleases, it is not necessary to remarry. Years ago it was different, when a woman could not enter a restaurant alone!

Writes Widow E.: "People differ in opinion about remarriages. When one has been completely happy, and death claims one's mate, something does die with his passing, but we have to carry on, and I think it would be a delicate compliment to the mate to acknowledge that marriage is a happy enough state to be repeated. I have been very lonely because, with children left to raise, I had neither the time, concern, nor mood for a second romance. I would like to marry again, now that the children are raised, but where is a widow of refinement, education, and culture to meet the kind of man to interest her?"

And Mrs. D. C. concludes with a tale of rushing into a remarriage because she felt so helpless and lost after her husband's death. The readjustment to a second mate's moods, temperament, and way of life is extra trying after one has gone thru all that with a first mate," she tells.

Scholarships Given Winning High School Pupils at Luncheon

High school winnrs of 10 college scholarships were announced yesterday by Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, at the civic assembly luncheon in the Hotel La Salle, sponsored by the Executives' club. Nine alternates also were listed.

Bernice V. Klein and Miesco L. Kowalczyk, both honor students at Wells High school, were the only ones from the same school to win scholarships. The American College of Physical Education did not list an alternate for Miesco. Bernice Klein and Bernice J. Kallstrom of Von Steuben both won scholarships to the Central YMCA college.

Other winners are William G. Smith, Tilden, and Jean Bostwick, Taft, to the University of Chicago; Miriam Haas, Austin, and Wesley A. Tennyson, Lane, to Northwestern university; Raymond H. Rickhoff, Crane, and Charles P. Gillison, Lake View, Illinois Institute of Technology; and James E. McLaughlin, Calumet, George Williams college.

"In the majority of cases the bidding proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	2 diamonds	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

"Other contracts were five diamonds, six diamonds, and six no trump. Is it possible to reach six no trump, the optimum contract, by logical bidding?—W. J., Toronto."

I am glad my correspondent used the phrase "logical bidding" rather than "safe bidding." For the fact is that East, with this huge hand, must logically "take a chance" in order to reach the best contract. He cannot do so by sticking to absolute orthodoxy or safety.

My suggested bidding is going to cause a great deal of eyebrow lifting, because I am deliberately going to violate the Culbertson system.

I do not like a two diamond opening by East. I greatly prefer an original three no trump bid. Yes, I am quite aware that the Culbertson books say that such a bid shows exactly 4-3-3-3 distribution, but I am also aware that I have repeatedly advised my readers to break any rule when the occasion demands it. This occasion does demand it. East should realize that there is an overwhelming probability that a two diamond opening will meet a two no trump response, and that he then will have no good rebid available! Moreover, if the final contract is to be in no trump, it is highly desirable that East's hand be concealed and led up to rather than thru, this particularly because of the spade situation. There is another vital advantage to a three no trump opening. That is that the responder is asked to raise once for every ace, king, or queen, over two, that he holds. This is precisely the sort of information that East requires. West happens to hold three queens, hence has a sound raise to four no trump, and it takes no great optimism for East then to jump to a no trump slam.

I KNEW YOU'D UNDERSTAND ABOUT TRIXIE, NINA. YOU'RE A HONEY.
ALL THAT DOESN'T HAVE ANYTHING TO DO WITH US TONIGHT, SKEEZIX. WE ARE GOING OUT FOR A SWELL TIME.
I THINK WE'LL GO TO THE PLATINUM ROOM FOR A SWELL DINNER AND STAY AND SEE THE FLOOR SHOW!
SURE, WE WILL, NINA, IF I CAN MAKE IT. OF COURSE I COULDN'T HAVE TAKEN TRIXIE TO THE 79 CLUB EXCEPT THAT SHE PAID THE CHECK.
SHE TOOK YOU, THEN! THAT'S THE WORST PART OF IT! YOU DIDN'T TELL ME.
I HATED TO DO IT, HONESTLY, NINA. I SUGGESTED ANOTHER PLACE BUT SHE WAS SET ON THE 79 CLUB. THAT'S WHY I'VE GOT TO SEE HER AGAIN—TO MAKE IT UP TO HER.

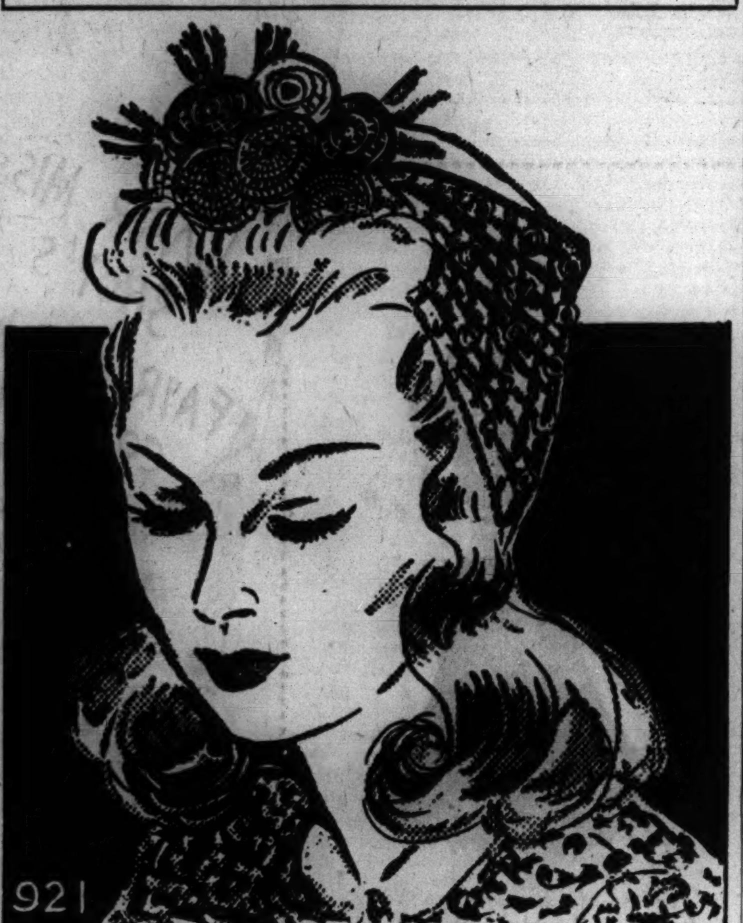
Mesh Bandeau with Flowers



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Gayly colored crocheted flowers, bunched together at the front of a cleverly crocheted band, form a fanciful bandeau hat which may be worn on any and all occasions. The body of the hat is worked in a double crocheted mesh with French knots worked into the mesh. The flowers are variegated and may serve to utilize spare scraps of wool.

For instructions in crocheting the mesh bandeau with variegated flowers, No. 921, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., April 25.—The routine of covering a motion picture set goes like this: You show your pass and check in at the publicity department and ask, "Waddaya got shooting?" and your planter—the invariably amiable gentleman who has been assigned to attend to all your wants and whims—looks at a sheet and reads what's being made on the various stages. Then you say, "Well, for a start let's go and watch Irma Fipp in 'Nights Are Too Short.'" Your planter says, "Let's go. By the way, that's a tentative title." And he has a pass written out for you so that the studio cops won't throw you in a cell with Marlene Dietrich or something, and you walk over to stage 17. Except for one or two compact plants like Columbia, where stages are packed closer than an immigant family on Hester street, it is always the longest possible walk. Studios like Fox and Metro and Warners stretch for seeming miles.

If the red light isn't burning beside the door, indicating that a take is being made, you open and walk in. Opening a studio door is as confusing and difficult as trying to get some air in an air conditioned Pullman, because the latches are never the same. All doors are double and very thick, like the ones the butcher opens when he's wearing his straw hat. Some times there are two of them, separated by a small chamber, and you wonder if the actors are kept under pressure. Some have ordinary barn door handles and counterweights to pull them shut after you. Others have wooden handles that lock like oaks. Still others have bolts not unlike the one the heroine throws just before the villain tries to get into the log cabin.

Once inside you're in semidarkness and in a clutter of cables, stagehands and back sides of sets. Somewhere in the great cavern there will be an area of light and you tiptoe toward it. Halfway there you hear somebody yell "quiet?" and you stop dead in your tracks. Then you hear a buzzer give two sharp buzzes, and somebody says "speed." This means that the camera and the sound recording film—they're separate and the sound film is way off in another building—are rolling together at the proper rate. A take is going to be made, but if you're only half way from the door you probably won't hear the director start the action, because he speaks quietly. And he doesn't say, "lights . . . camera . . . action?" He just says "camera" or "all right."

Fifteen seconds or a minute later the take has been finished and you can move again and you go on up to the scene, which is always surrounded by about 50 people seemingly doing nothing, and ultimately you catch Irma Fipp at an odd moment and you ask her whatever you were going to ask, or maybe you just say hello and let the conversation drift where it will. It's pretty much of a routine. The latches on the doors are different, but all studios are the same and so are most of the Irma Fipps.

"My favorite visit is to a night shot on the back lot, where they have street exteriors to suit almost any city in the world. Here the air is cool and clean, and because you're in the open it is very quiet. Great lamps pour light on whatever is being shot, and the contrast between light and dark is dramatic. And whatever you see looks more real.

We're on the back lot at Warners, where they are making some London night bombing scenes for "Flight Patrol." It's a great wide street, and the buildings on either side contain shops, theaters and cafés, most of them with signs out front saying "business as usual." Some of the entrances are sandbagged. You discover that these sandbag parapets are clever plaster things in half-relief, except over one doorway which is to be hit by a bomb. Here they are real bags, but they are filled with sawdust so that, if one should fall on an actor, it wouldn't hurt.

But the scene, brilliantly lighted in the black night, looks uncomfortably real. You think, thank God this is just the back lot and not London.

"My husband is English and enjoys many dishes with which the majority of Americans are unfamiliar. I broil lamb kidneys and stew beef kidneys for him, and also make a beef and kidney pie, like any meat pie with biscuit top. But he frequently talks about a beef and kidney pudding, which, as near as I can figure out, is a boiled pudding, a meat stew inside a dough, all of which is somehow rolled up in a cheesecloth bag for boiling. I would appreciate it very much if you could send me a recipe."

I think I have the recipe our reader refers to. It's an English favorite and there are many versions, which vary only in minor details.

English Steak and Kidney Pudding.

2 cups flour
⅝ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons baking powder
⅝ cup chopped suet
Cold water to moisten
1½ pounds round steak, cut in small pieces
1 pair sheep's kidneys, diced
1 onion, chopped
Flour, salt, pepper
1 cup cold water

Sift flour, salt, and baking powder together, stir in the suet, and add enough cold water to moisten. Roll crust out thin on a lightly floured board, and use it to line a large, greased pudding mold or bowl, allowing crust enough to fold over the pudding. Roll meat in flour, season with salt and pepper, and place inside crust lined bowl with onion. Add the cup of cold water. Cover over with suet crust. Put the whole pudding in a floured cheesecloth, tying the ends. Place in a kettle of boiling water. Let boil for three hours. Replace water when it boils away, or steam the pudding in a steamer for three hours. Turn onto a hot platter, cut a hole in the crust, and pour a little boiling water into the pudding to make additional gravy.

Here's a refreshing, vitamin filled salad, and it looks very pretty in the bowl. Line a salad bowl thickly with crisp greens, such as watercress or chicory. Fill with julienne strips of raw carrot, raw beets, celery, green pepper, and thin, crisp slices of raw cauliflower. Carry the salad to the table and toss it there with a Roquefort French dressing. Crunchy, springlike, and good!

Roquefort French Dressing.

1 cup salad oil
⅓ cup tarragon vinegar [or plain vinegar]
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
Few grains cayenne
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ cup mashed Roquefort type cheese

Put ingredients together in a bottle or fruit jar, and shake vigorously to mix. A clove of garlic, cut in two, may be shaken with the dressing. It may be left in the jar for an hour or longer, depending upon how much garlic flavor is liked.

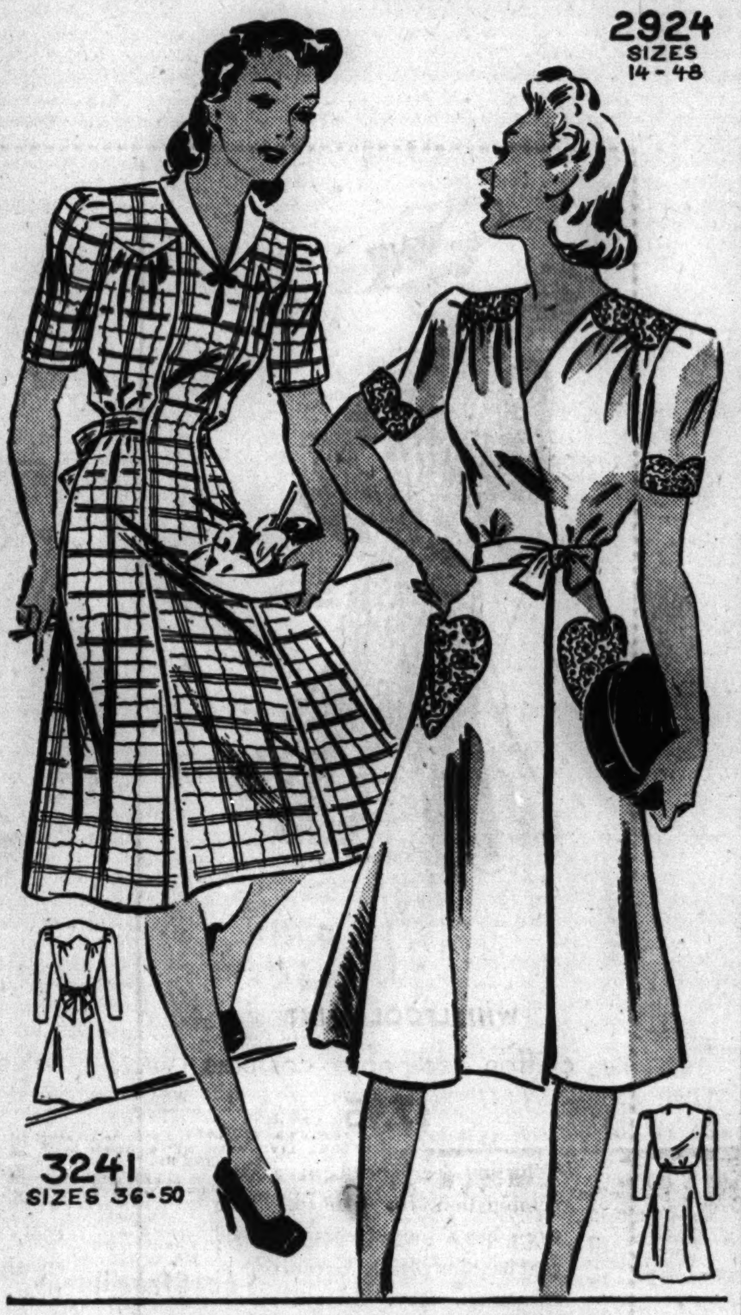
Two Frocks for the Home



WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOUSE DRESSES.

One of these house frocks is so beautifully tailored that it may well serve as a daytime frock all summer long. The other is very casual, with almost negligee lines, so that it's confined strictly to home wear. Both are flattering models which you will wear with a great deal of comfort.

Style No. 3241 is designed for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inch bust measurements.

Style No. 2924 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

April 26, 1941.

Universal day—Are there some things you put off doing all week? Then get them all cleaned up today.

May—This coming month is a culmination period for those in a four year. It may bring some things to an end and it may stir up more disorder that has to be straightened out before one can start off next month with an orderly routine. Whatever has been in a state of working out for the last nine months should now be completed and put aside. Since the emphasis all year is on work you may find the need to give up some things which are interfering with your concentrated efforts on your work. You must clear the decks for disciplined action. The confusion that might come in May is only temporary. Don't rebel, and don't feel sorry for yourself. Keep your temper and let those things which are not absolutely necessary to a well regulated life or business go without regret.

son's marriage. Mrs. Robert Evans of Rumson, N. J. [Jane Rowe], and Miss Ruth Rowe and James Rowe, students at the University of Chicago, also will be present. Other out of town guests are Mrs. Frank Brostrom of New Orleans, Miss Margaret Stockstrom of St. Louis, Donald Dallas of New York, George Hawkins of Pittsburgh, Frederick Kammer of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Andrew, Thomas Andrew, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Knoy, Mrs. Joseph Andrew, and Miss Dorothy Andrew, all of Lafayette, Ind.

When they return next month from a southern wedding trip, Mr. Rowe and his bride will be at home in Wayne.

Miss Lura Schreiner Being Married Today.

Miss Lura Schreiner and Lawrence O. Holmberg are to be married in a quiet family wedding this afternoon at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard William Phillips, in Glencoe. Miss Joanne Landis Phillips will be her cousin's only attendant. William McSwain will be Mr. Holmberg's best man. Kenneth Montgomery will usher.

The Rev. Dudley S. Stark will read the service. After a wedding trip to Mexico and California, during which they will see Miss Schreiner's brother-in-law and sister, the Dawson Newtons, in Glendale, Cal., Mr. Holmberg and his bride will be at home in Chicago.

There'll be a number of dinner parties in Winnetka tonight preceding a talk by Sir Clutha Mackenzie, distinguished blind director of the New Zealand Institute of the Blind, will give in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard. Tomorrow Mrs. Thomas W. Ritchie, with whom Sir Clutha and his daughter, Miss Betty, are staying, will give a supper party. Most of tonight's dinner hosts are trustees of the Hadley Correspondence School for the Blind in Winnetka. Dr. and Mrs. E. V. L. Brown will have the speaker and his daughter, Miss Betty, among their dinner guests. The Ballards, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Adams, the Perry Smiths, Mrs. John Reilly, and Mrs. George Lee are among those giving dinners.

There Will Be Dancing Parties Galore This Evening.

There'll be plenty of dancing parties tonight: one at the Saddle and Cycle to celebrate the club's 46th anniversary; one at the Palmer House for the benefit of the Infant Welfare society; one at the Stevens for the Alexian Brothers hospital; one at the Union League club, and one at the Chicago Athletic association.

More than 200 reservations have been made for the Saddle party, at which there will be Gay '90s entertainment, and to which Lillian Gish and one of the made leads of "Life with Father" will go in costume after the theater. The Arthur Meekers, the Frederick Spencers, the John Roots, the junior Byron L. Harveys, Col. and Mrs. Ralph H. James, and Count and Countess Bolognesi are some of those who have taken tables.

Benefit for Convent.

The Young Ladies' sodality of St. Bridget's school, conducted by the Sisters of Charity, B. V. M., will give a benefit card party and dance tomorrow evening for St. Bridget's convent. The party will be held in the parish hall, 2924 Archer avenue.

Composer-Pianist and Baritone Heard in Joint Recital

Robert Ware, baritone, and Russell Wood, composer-pianist, were heard in joint recital in Kimball hall last night.

Mr. Ware had assembled an unusually interesting program of seldom performed songs by such composers as Wolf, Roussel, and Debussy. To these he added a group by his corecitalist. His singing was fervent and sincere, his voice light and pleasantly textured.

Besides playing expert accompaniments, Mr. Wood presented a sonata of his own composition which was constructed in a refreshingly unconventional way and which contained a number of attractive ideas.—E. B.

Beta Gamma Upsilon to Hold Benefit Party

The Chicago province of Beta Gamma Upsilon sorority will hold its annual charity card party this afternoon in the Illinois room of Hotel La Salle. Proceeds will go to the Martha Washington Home for Dependent Crippled Children. The program will include a fashion revue at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Corinne Gimlin, province president, is in charge of arrangements.

* *

Illinois College Auxiliary to Observe Anniversary

The women's auxiliary of the Chicago colleges of the University of Illinois will celebrate its 10th anniversary with a fund raising party tonight at the Cordon club, 410 South Michigan avenue. According to the chairman, Mrs. Eric Oldberg, 558 Hawthorne place, funds will be used for the university medical school clinic.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK OPENS CHICAGO RACING TODAY

$1,500 HANDICAP HEADS CARD AT HALF MILE OVAL

Track Is Fast for Its First Program.

Owners, trainers, jockeys, thorobreds, and race fans yesterday converged on Louisville Ky., and the Churchill Downs track where the spring meeting at the famous course opens today. Highlight of the meeting is the 67th running of the Kentucky Derby a week from today. Details on page 20.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Today's the day when that considerable portion of Chicago's citizenry which admires to see a horse run [first, if possible, and for assorted pretty pennies] will witness the opening of the local racing season of 163 days.

The conveniently located Sportsman's Park track will be the first scene of the campaign, running 19 days from this afternoon thru May 17. Eight races will be held daily at Sportsman's, with post time for each first race scheduled for 2:15 o'clock. The track can be reached by motor, elevated, bus, and the Illinois Central electric trains.

Following the Sportsman's Park meeting, the turf clientele can witness thorobreds in action at Lincoln Fields, May 19-June 21 [30 days]; Arlington Park, June 23-July 31 [34 days]; Washington Park, Aug. 1-Sept. 6 [32 days]; Hawthorne, Sept. 8-Oct. 11 [30 days], and finally, Sportsman's Park again, Oct. 13-Nov. 1 [18 days].

It's Reunion Day.

The opening program at Sportsman's this afternoon will be in the nature of a reunion, for many of the horses, jockeys, trainers, and owners involved in the day's doings were around last November, when the curtain fell on the 1940 season in Chicago. The chief objective of the day will be the Hawthorne handicap, fifth race on the program. It will be a 7 furlong test for 4 year olds and up, carrying a purse of $1,500.

Among the alumni who will seek to get off to a good start in the Hawthorne are C. E. Davison, who emerged from last year's Sportsman's Park meeting as the leading trainer; the Le Mar Stock farm; Mrs. A. M. Creech; Mrs. E. Oros, the Hilltop Stock farm; B. M. Smith, Paul Kelley, and F. E. Waldron. Davison has entered one of the old reliables of the southwest side oval in Weisenheimer, which won five in a row at Sportsman's last fall, and which will be bracketed in an entry with The Thrush, another consistent winner. Among those expected to give this pair a run for it is the twosome from Paul Kelley's stable, Highscope and Floataway.

Martin Dean of Jockeys.

T. P. [Tay Pay] Martin, who is scheduled to have the mount on Jacobson and Howe's Court Counsel in the Hawthorne, is the dean of the Sportsman's Park jockey colony, which includes R. J. Jones, Alcee Richards, S. Brooks, L. Pearson, Charley Calvin, Don Scurlock, and J. A. Wright.

Sportsman's Park is under the same management which took it over last fall, with John L. Keeshin as president, Charles W. Bidwill as chairman of the board, Joseph Donovan, treasurer, and William Johnson, general manager. Representing the Illinois racing commission will be Steward William Hamilton and Secretary Clement Nance. At the starting gate will be the veteran Roy [Boots] Dickerson.

Track Lightning Fast.

This will be the first spring meeting in the Chicago district proper in several years, and Sportsman's officials have expended considerable effort and money to have the half mile track ready. Bob Meyers, whose father built the track, and who is track superintendent, yesterday reported the racing strip lightning fast. The clubhouse has been renovated and 680 Chinese elms have been planted around the grounds and track.

N. U. Plays Intrasquad Football Game Today

Northwestern football teams will play the first of two intrasquad games in Dyche stadium today, starting at 2 p. m. The second of the two games, both to be played by evenly matched teams, is scheduled for next Saturday. Today's game will be open to the public. The Northwestern tennis team faces Spring Hill on the Northwestern courts at 1:30 today.

Weisenheimer, C. E. Davison's old campaigner which won five straight at the Sportsman's Park meeting last fall, will try again today as Chicago's turf season opens at the half mile track. Weisenheimer is coupled with The Thrush in the $1,500 Hawthorne handicap.

King Cole Tops Field of Nine in $20,000 Wood

New York, April 25 (AP).—Nine 3 year olds, headed by Ogden Phipps' King Cole, were named today to run in the $20,000 Wood memorial at Jamaica tomorrow.

Entries for the mile and one-sixteenth test include King Cole; Samuel Tufano's Market Wise; John Hay Whitney's Gun Bearer; Coldstream stable's Curious Coin; Bern stable's Master Henry; Brookmeade stable's Mettlesome; Joe W. Brown's Minnelusa; and Richmond and Harvard Square, coupled as the A. J. Sackett-Arnold Hanger entry.

All except Mettlesome are eligible for the Kentucky Derby, for which the Wood annually is regarded a leading qualifying test.

Winner of the Paumonok in his 3 year old debut, King Cole is likely to go to the post the favorite.

BECKWITH DROPS LEE OMA IN 2:03 OF SECOND ROUND

Booker Beckwith, 1938 Intercity and International Golden Gloves middleweight champion, scored his 12th straight professional victory and his eighth knockout when he put away Lee Oma, Detroit heavyweight, in 2:03 of the second round of a scheduled 10 round bout in the Hammond Civic center last night. Beckwith, now fighting as a light heavy, came in at 173 pounds and Oma at 195.

Using an effective left jab and a straight right, Beckwith sent Oma flat on his face in the first round but the bell saved Lee at the count of four. He was revived between rounds and came out in the second to run into a barrage of lefts to the head and rights to the body. Beckwith pounded him into a state of helplessness, then fired a vicious left to Oma's jaw which dropped him for the full count.

In the scheduled six round semiwindup, Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, scored a technical knockout over Lou Campbell of Chicago in the second round. The attendance was 1,800 and net receipts were $1,400. Results of other bouts:

John O'Hara, Chicago, knocked out Al Scurra, Hammond [1].

George Mitchell, Detroit, beat Speedy Schaefer, Chicago [4].

Salica Rallies to Beat Transparenti; Keeps Title

Baltimore, Md., April 25 (AP).—Lou Salica, making a Garrison finish after he had been outboxed in the earlier rounds, came back to win a unanimous decision over Baltimore's Lew Transparenti and retain his bantamweight title tonight. Transparenti fought a courageous battle, but weakened toward the end and barely weathered a terrific flurry of rights and lefts as the champion rallied in the 15th and final round.

TEXAS BREAKS SPRINT MEDLEY MARK AT DRAKE

Cracks Own American Record in 3:23.2.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., April 25.—The University of Texas sprint medley relay team beaten six days ago by Indiana university, redeemed itself this afternoon in the opening day's program of the 32d Drake games.

With the eyes of all Texas figuratively upon them, the sprinters who have claimed the American record since their own relay carnival three weeks ago, smashed that mark as well as the three year old accepted record made by the University of Pittsburgh.

These Texans — Morris Barefield, Billy Seay, Fred Ramsdell, and Mac Umstattd—lowered Indiana's winning mark at the Kansas relays by two full seconds. Today's victory definitely established the Texans as America's best.

Wins in 3:23.2.

Texas covered the medley [440 yards by Barefield, two 220 yard sprints by Seay and Ramsdell, and an anchor half mile by Umstattd] in the American record time of 3 minutes 23 2-10 seconds. At their own games on April 5, Texas ran this relay in 3:24.5 compared to the accepted record of 3:25.5 established by the University of Pittsburgh in 1938.

Texas' victory was the result of team supremacy rather than the speed of any individual. Nebraska's Gene Littler actually won the opening quarter mile in 47 9-10 seconds from Texas' Barefield, but the combination of Seay and Ramsdell gave the Longhorns a 10 yard start in the half mile anchor race. Umstattd ran an excellently paced half and while Michigan's Warren Breidenbach may have had better time he could do no better than third for his university in the final standing. Ohio State was second, due to a great half mile run by Les Eisenhart. Nebraska was fourth.

Ramsdell and Seay later collaborated with Carlton Terry and Lonnie Hill in smashing the university 440 yard relay record in the qualifying races. Seay, Terry, Ramsdell, and Hill ran in this order to win the second heat in 41 seconds and cut a half second from their own record made in the 1938 trials. That record was tied the following day by Rice when it won the championship.

An Assist for the Weather.

The outstanding running by these six Texans featured the first day's events, but an assist can be given the near perfect weather that unquestionably helped produce the impressive total of one American record, six new Drake records and another tied. Nine thousand filled the west side of the stadium horseshoe and a near capacity throng is predicted for tomorrow.

In addition to Texas' pair of Drake records, the East Texas State Teachers tied their own college half mile mark of 1:27.5 established last year, Iowa State Teachers set records in the half mile and mile relays for Iowa colleges, and Pittsburg, Kas., State Teachers won the sprint medley for colleges permitting freshmen to run on varsity teams.

Big Al Blozis of Georgetown university, holder of the world indoor shot put marks with the 8 pound, 12 pound, and 16 pound shots, crossed up the Drake management by breaking the meet record in the discus. Blozis' winning mark in the finals of this was 161 feet, 5 inches. He whipped Jack Hughes of Texas, defending champion, who established the meet record last year. Hughes smashed his own mark today with a throw of 160 feet 3½ inches.

Leads Shot Put Field, Too.

Blozis led the shot put field, however, in the qualifying trials with a mark of 52 feet ¼ inch. Ten will compete tomorrow. Blozis is seeking to better the Drake record of 55 feet 1½ inches, which Jack Torrance of Louisiana made in 1934.

The victory of the Pittsburg, Kas.,

AMONG the most heated arguments on the Cubs squad is the serial debate between Bill Herman, a Hoosier, and Dizzy Dean, a Texas landowner. . . . Herman says there is enough nourishment in any Hoosier's back yard to sustain a prize milch cow and that it takes at least 10 acres in Texas to afford sustenance for the scrawniest of bovines.

The Ghost.

Last night you came to me across the years,
A little girl with blossoms in your hair,
Your eyes were blinded by a mist of tears,
But, ah, your face was rapturously fair!
You tripped into the garden as of yore
To the old bench beneath the apple tree,
And O, I knew the heart of you was sore
For just a touch of human sympathy.

We spoke no word. It was enough to know
That we had found each other's arms again.
The moonlight sifted thru the leaves like snow
And apple blossom perfume fell like rain;
Ah, little one that I had wanted most
You had come back to me a frightened ghost.

The argument that the army builds a man up is rank propaganda. Those guys in the army don't live longer than other people. It just seems longer to them.

I've just discovered why draft boards have so many examining physicians. You see, one doctor looks a fellow over and says he has only a month to live. Then he turns the draftee over to 11 other doctors, each of whom examines him and tells him he has only a month to live. Twelve doctors, 12 months. He's drafted for a year.

CUBS OVERHAUL PIRATES WITH 4 RUNS IN 9TH

Awaken in Time to Win for Fifth Pitcher.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 25.—Manager Jim Wilson, in a weakened condition on account of losing brilliantly pitched ball games, on a hunch this afternoon conducted an inventory of the missing men ward of his pitching department. For eight long innings the clinic produced nothing except frustration and more heartaches. But in the ninth the hunch clicked—the Cubs, previously held to four hits, made five hits and four runs to grab an 8 to 7 victory from the Pirates.

Despite the fact the Pittsburgh pitchers gave up nine passes in the first eight innings, the Cubs couldn't get over the choking technique that developed during their failure to support Bill Lee or Paul Erickson with so much as a run against Cincinnati. The same technique had continued in their fadeout here yesterday in which they tightened up and converted what should have been a 1 to 0 victory for Larry French into a 2 to 1, 11th inning loss.

Different in the Ninth.

But it was different in the ninth. It finally occurred to the lads that if Skipper Wilson had been loose enough to experiment, they could loosen up enough to do something to the kind of pitching the Pirates had been showing them. At the start of the ninth Stan Hack drew his fourth straight pass and Phil Cavarretta, who played first base because Ed Waitkus and Rip Russell have displeased Wilson, singled to right. Infield outs by Dom Dallessandro and Bill Nicholson got Hack home and Phil to third. Lou Novikoff then singled to center to score Cavarretta. Bob Sturgeon was put on first to run for Novikoff. Ken Heintzelman ran the count to three balls and one strike on Bill Herman when he was replaced by John Lanning. Herman Sacrifice—Kreevich. Two base hits—Hemsley, Heath, Knickerbocker, Rosenthal, Kuhel, Bell. Double plays—Hemsley to Peters; Mack to Trosky. Left on bases—Cleveland, 6; Chicago, 8. Struck out—Bagby, 1; Feller, 1; Lyons, 2. Bases on balls—Bagby, 1; Heving, 2. Hits—Bagby, 8 in 5 innings; Heving, 2 in 3; Feller, 0 in 1. Hit by pitcher—Lyons [Weatherly]. Wild pitch—Bagby. Winning pitcher — Heving. Time — 1:59. Umpires — Geisel, Passarella, and Pipgras. Attendance—2,924.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The venerable Ted Lyons was reaching for his 27th putout yesterday, also his second triumph of the year, but the needed putout was delayed. Cleveland's Indians, who had been more meek than otherwise against the 40 year old gentleman's pitching for eight innings, turned loose a salvo of safe blows, rushed three runs across the plate, and converted a budding White Sox success into a 5 to 3 whipping, in which the renowned Bob Feller took a hand after his mates had completed their ninth inning blasting.

Lyons plodded along so smoothly until the last minute fadeout that the Indians had only six hits to show for their bat swinging. He was even good enough to dispatch 11 men in succession until taking up the last inning problem. In the meantime, the Sox figured they were fairly well protected, having scored three runs off Jim Bagby Jr., who succumbed in the sixth, mainly because of Larry Rosenthal's unerring aim at the plate. But with Bagby gone, the Sox did little to old Joe Heving, who got credit for the game, and nothing to Feller in his one inning turn.

Hal Starts the Trouble.

Hal Trosky, who had singled twice earlier, was responsible for putting Lyons on the slide in the ninth. Comrade Hal led off with a single, but Jeff Heath fanned and Ray Mack lofted to Mike Kreevich. Then complications set in. Clarence Campbell, batting for Russ Peters, singled and Charley Workman, who ran for Trosky, registered the tying run. Rollie Hemsley stirred up more trouble by singling. Then Beau Bell batted for Heving and lofted a double over third, sending across the winning margin.

For the comfort of the umpires and Will Harridge, president of the American league, it probably was well that the Indians' put on their splurge. Their boss, Roger Peckinpaugh, intended to protest as the result of a decision over whether a fly ball was legally caught. Julius Solters captured Mack's fly in the fourth and as he was drawing back to throw to head off Trosky, who scored, the ball dropped to the ground. After hearing arguments from both sides Umpire in Chief Harry Geisel ruled it a catch, this being a matter of umpire's judgment when runners are on the bases.

Three Hits . . . One Run.

The run with which the Sox launched the scoring in the second inning wasn't much of a dividend, considering that three hits were unloaded against Bagby. Rosenthal started it by singling to right with one out. Kreevich singled in the same direction and Tresh pasted a single into center, Rosenthal scoring. Lyons hung around the plate until he had accumulated a 3 and 2 count but then missed a swing at a bad pitch on which he should have walked. To make it more grievous, the runners were on their way and Kreevich was doubled sliding into third.

The Indians tied it in the third by nicking Lyons for two hits before anybody was retired. Hemsley caromed a drive off the left field wall for two bases and rode home without delay on Bagby's single over Knickerbocker's head. Lyons, however, took

N. Y. U. WINS OVER INDIANA IN TWO RELAYS AT PENN

MacMitchell Anchors Both Teams to Victory.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 25 (AP).—Les MacMitchell carried New York university to first place today in the distance and sprint medley relay races that featured the opening program of the two day Penn relay carnival.

Running under ideal conditions MacMitchell ran a 4:13.6 anchor mile and a 1:54.1 anchor half that gave his highly rated team victories over Indiana, considered N. Y. U.'s strongest opposition.

In the distance medley MacMitchell, taking the baton on even terms with Big Ten Mile Champion Campbell Kane of Indiana, beat the Hoosier by five yards as Kane, once having discovered he couldn't match MacMitchell's kick, eased up in the closing strides. N. Y. U.'s time in this event was 10 minutes 5.5 seconds.

Win Again in Sprint Event.

Another MacMitchell-Kane battle, promised in the final half mile of the sprint medley, failed to materialize as the race was run in two sections. Indiana won the first in 3:28.7 and MacMitchell then topped off a front running race for N. Y. U. in the second half to beat the Hoosiers by three-tenths of a second in 3:28.4.

The other major relay, the quarter mile, resulted in a triumph for Duke, its first at this meet. The time was 42 seconds.

Wilt Wins Two Mile.

The spectators saw only one of the two meet records the day produced. This was in the two mile, won by Indiana's Fred Wilt in 9:17.6 to wipe out a mark of 20 years standing.

The other mark, made on an adjoining field, went to Archie Harris, Indiana Negro weight man, whose discus throw of 167 feet 10⅛ inches supplanted the record set two years ago by Bill Faymonville of Notre Dame. Harris was runner-up in the shot put to Jim Delaney of Notre Dame, whose toss of 50 feet 8⅛ inches was an eighth of an inch better than Harris'. Summaries:

COLLEGE RELAYS.

QUARTER MILE—Won by Duke [Werner Brown, Edward Sargent, Ernest Vail, Moffat Storer]; North Texas Teachers, second; Xavier University, third; Navy, fourth. Time, :42.

DISTANCE MEDLEY—Won by New York [George Hagans, Harold Bogrow, William Hulse, Leslie MacMitchell]; Indiana, second; Fordham, third; Yale, fourth; St. Francis [Brooklyn], fifth; Cornell, sixth; Manhattan, seventh; Temple, eighth. Time—10:05.5.

SPRINT COLLEGE MEDLEY RELAY [440 yards, 220 yards, 220 yards, 880 yards]—Won by New York U. [Bogrow, Pangboner, Hagans, MacMitchell]; Indiana, second; Pittsburgh, third; St. John's [Brooklyn], fourth. Time, 3:28.4.

INDIVIDUAL EVENTS.

SHOT PUT—Won by James Delaney, Notre Dame, 50 feet 8⅛ inches; Archie Harris, Indiana, 50 feet 8⅛ inches, second; Edward Beetem, Pennsylvania, 50 feet 4¾ inches, third; Edward Hasnfeldt, Navy, 48 feet 10½ inches, fourth; Samuel Taylor, Syracuse, 48 feet 4¾ inches, fifth.

120 YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by Edward Dugger, Tufts; William Gillis, Army, second; Thomas Todd Jr., Virginia, third; Richard Osborn, Yale, fourth. Time—:14.4.

DISCUS—Won by Archie Harris, Indiana, 167 feet 10⅛ inches; Edward Hasnfeldt, Navy, 155 feet 3¼ inches, second; John Nania, Duke, 142 feet 9 inches, third; Steve Lach, Duke, 140 feet 11⅜ inches, fourth; Daniel Bonham, Bloomsburg [Pa.] Teachers, 138 feet 7½ inches, fifth. [New Penn relay record; former record, 163 feet 4 inches, set by William Faymonville, Notre Dame, in 1939.]

TWO MILE RUN—Won by Frederick L. Wilt, Indiana; Gilbert Dodds, Ashland [O.] college, second; John Corbett, Catholic U., third; Walter Sterner, Pittsburgh, fourth; Albert Obrist, Syracuse, fifth. Time, 9:17.6. [New Penn relay record; former record of 9:25.4 set by R. B. Buker, Bates, in 1921.]

400 METER HURDLE—Won by Gilder Farrow, Xavier [New Orleans]; John Di Carlo, Villanova, second; Fabian Francis, New York U., third; Walter Hall, Tufts, fourth; George Spontak, Bloomsburg [Pa.] Teachers, fifth. Time, :55.2.

Prep Stars Vie in Palatine and Wheaton

The fourth annual Wheaton Community High school and the ninth annual Palatine relay meets will be held this morning and afternoon.

Twenty-three schools will compete in the Palatine event, headed by Naperville, defending champion and four time winner of class A competition. Others entered in class A are Argo, Arlington Heights, Batavia, Belvidere, Crystal Lake, Lake Forest, Libertyville, Leyden, Niles, and St. Charles.

Geneva Defends Title.

Geneva, winner of class B for the last three years, will defend its title against 11 other schools. These are Barrington, Bensenville, Harvard, Hononegah, Marengo, McHenry, Oswego, Palatine, Somanauk, West Chicago, and Woodstock.

Six hundred athletes will compete in Wheaton. There will be eight relays, a special 100 yard dash for both classes A and B, and five field events. Dwight Eddleman of Centralia is expected to make a strong bid for individual honors in the high jump. Among some of the other outstanding athletes are Duke Curran of Quincy, Jack Smith of Maine, and Bob Hall of Proviso.

Proviso Is Champion.

Proviso is defending champion in class A, which is composed of schools with an enrollment over 1,250. Wheaton won the class B title last year.

Calumet and Crane Suffer First Defeats

Calumet and Crane Tech yesterday suffered their first defeats in the 1941 Public High School league baseball campaign. Calumet lost to Bowen, 5 to 4, in the last inning in Bessemer park, while Crane Tech was shut out by Marshall, 3 to 0, in Altgeld park.

Two other favorites, Farragut and Harrison Tech, continued their winning streaks, however. Farragut defeated Phillips, 13 to 7, in Buettner park, and Harrison Tech won from Gage Park, 9 to 6, on the latter's field. Farragut and Harrison Tech are tied for the central section lead, each with five victories.

Steinmetz moved into first place in the west division when it routed Kelvyn Park, 15 to 6, in Hanson park. It was the fifth triumph in six games for Steinmetz and Kelvyn Park's fourth setback.

Despite the loss to Bowen, Calumet still leads in the south section with four victories and one defeat. Lane Tech, defending champion, and undefeated leader in the north zone, was idle yesterday.

Morton of Cicero, holder of second place in the Suburban league, scored its third triumph of the league season, defeating Evanston, 6 to 2, on the Evanston field. Scores:

Cubs' 4 Runs in 9th Defeat Pirates, 8 to 7

singled to left, putting Sturgeon on third with the tying run.

Clyde McCullough put on a perfect squeeze bunt along the third base line, Sturgeon scoring the tying run. Augie Galan batted for Bill Myers and singled to right, scoring Herman with the winning run. Vance Page, the Cubs' fifth and winning pitcher, forced Galan, but the final tabulation had been reached. Page breezed thru the home half of the ninth.

Diz First on Mound.

First to come out of the limbo in Manager Wilson's relaxation plan was, of all people, Dizzy Dean. Diz held the Pirates to three runs in the one inning he was on display.

Next came Ken Raffensberger. Surely you remember Ken from last year. The lads tied it up for Ken, but the young lefty from York, Pa., wilted and went away after forcing home a run with a walk with the bases loaded in the third.

Third to pass in review was Tot Pressnell of bullpen distinction. Tot wasn't as good as he was in St. Louis when the Cubs last had won a game, last Sabbath. He left with the Cubs trailing, 7 to 4.

After Pressnell—Jake Mooty, who hasn't been seen much in the daylight since he joined the Cubs a year ago. Jake, in two innings, showed much more than any of his predecessors. Mooty, most of whose success as a Cub was in night games last season, yielded one single in two innings.

Cavarretta, back at first base for the first time since last season, gave the Cubs the first skilled performance at that station they have seen since the National league season opened. He made two hits in three times at bat.

The Cubs made one run in the first inning and the Pirates made three, the main difference being due to the fact the Pirates made two triples and the Cubs made only one.

Cavarretta walked with one down and scored on Dallessandro's triple off the right field wall. Dom had to remain on third because Nicholson fouled to Spud Davis and Novikoff was called out on strikes.

Elliott's Triple Scores Two.

Then came Dean's brief but eventful span of service. Al Anderson was called out on strikes, but Debs Garms tripled over Novikoff's head and scored on Elbie Fletcher's line single to right. Maurice Van Robays was safe on Myers' high throw. Bob Elliott tripled off the right field wall, scoring Fletcher and Van Robays. Vince DiMaggio fouled to Hack, and Myers threw out Frank Gustine.

The Cubs got Joe Bowman, the starting pitcher, out of there in the third without a base hit. With one down, Hack, Cavarretta, and Dallessandro walked, loading the bases, whereupon Heintzelman replaced Bowman, Nicholson scratched a single off Heintzelman's glove, Hack scoring. Cavarretta scored the tying run while Novikoff was forcing Nicholson.

Raffensberger fell apart in the third. With one down Fletcher singled and went to third on a single by Van Robays. Raffensberger walked Elliott, then put the Pirates ahead by forcing Fletcher home via a pass to DiMaggio. Pressnell replaced Raffensberger and Gustine flied to Nicholson, Van Robays scoring. Davis popped to Myers.

Myers Gets Homer in Fourth.

Myers opened the fourth inning with a homer over the left field wall. After Pressnell had fanned Heintzelman to get the home fourth under way Anderson singled to center. Nicholson misjudged Garms' fly and let it go over his head for a double, Anderson stopping at third. Fletcher was given an intentional pass, loading the bases. Van Robays' fly and a single by Elliott gave the Pirates two runs before DiMaggio ended the inning with a fly to Novikoff. That ended the scoring for both sides until the Cubs broke loose in the ninth.

Cubs Come Home Today; Send Root Against Cardinals

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 25.—Charley Root, who whipped the Cardinals in St. Louis a week ago today, will try to accomplish more of the same tomorrow afternoon in Wrigley field. Bill Lee, who has a bad cold, expects to be well enough to start against the Cards Sunday.

Claude Passeau, who would have pitched for the Cubs had not the cold snap here aggravated a misery in his side, threw a little in batting practice. Claude said he would be able to open against the Bees next Tuesday.

BADGERS MAKE 9 ERRORS, BUT BEAT OHIO STATE, 10-7

Minnesota Is Victor, 9 to 3, Over N. U. Nine

Minnesota's baseball team scored its first Western conference victory of the season, 9 to 3, at the expense of Northwestern in Roosevelt park, Glenview, yesterday afternoon. It was the first conference setback for the Wildcats, who had defeated Chicago twice.

Henry Clason was the pitching victim, altho his defeat was more the result of five errors by his mates than the hitting of the Gophers, who got 10 safeties to 11 for Northwestern.

The teams will meet on the same field at 2:30 this afternoon. Score:

Northwestern	000	120	000—	3	11	5

Batteries—Anderson and Sweigert; Clason and Arnold, Benson.

IOWA, 9; INDIANA, 3.

Iowa City, Ia., April 25 [Special].—Iowa dimmed Indiana's hopes in the Western conference baseball race today by trouncing the Hoosiers, 9 to 3, behind the six hit hurling of Bob Stastny. The Hawkeyes got to Don Dunker, who suffered his first defeat in three Big Ten starts, for 11 hits. The Hoosiers committed eight errors. Score:

MICHIGAN, 10; CHICAGO, 1.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 25 [Special].—Michigan made 13 hits and took advantage of six Chicago errors today to win, 10 to 1. Catcher George Harms led the Michigan hitters with two singles and a double, but the longest drive of the day was Dick Wakefield's triple to center in the first inning. The big Chicago sophomore also added a single in the eighth. The second of the two game series will be played tomorrow. Score:

RAND GIVES UP STADIUM FIGHT SHOW MAY 16

Bill Rand has abandoned plans to promote a boxing show in Chicago Stadium May 16. His next date in the west side arena is May 23 at which time he hopes to offer a 15 round middleweight championship bout between Tony Zale and Challenger Al Hostak. Hostak has requested the date be deferred until May 28 because of a warmup contest he has scheduled in Portland, Ore., May 5 against Allen Matthews.

Promoter Irving Schoenwald yesterday postponed his show in the Coliseum from May 5 to May 12. . . . Russell Fenelon, Peoria inspector for the Illinois Athletic commission for the last eight years, will be succeeded by Earl Greer next Thursday, it was reported last night.

Navy Crews Seek Revenge Over Columbia Today

New York, April 25 (AP).—Three Navy crews, spurred by the memory of a triple defeat suffered a year ago, tomorrow will attempt to reverse the outcome when they meet Columbia oarsmen over the Harlem river course. Each race, the freshman, junior varsity, and varsity, is over the mile and three-quarter distance.

GILLS ROLL UP 3,034 IN ABC AND GAIN THIRD PLACE

St. Paul, Minn., April 25 [Special]. —Piling up games of 967, 1,039, and 1,028, the Joseph L. Gills of Chicago rolled into third place in the five-man standings in the American Bowling Congress tournament with a 3,034 score tonight.

It was the third 3,000 series and the third change on the board of team leaders effected by tonight's two squads. Earlier the Budweisers of Kansas City had tied for fifth with 3,027, and the Dean Rubbers, also of Kansas City, had tied for seventh with 3,022.

The Gills' total was only 31 pins behind the 3,065 score of the Vogel Bros. of Forest Park, Ill., which has been in first place since March 30. The Gills are champions of Chicago's Windy City Major league, a circuit in which the Vogel Bros. finished in a tie for eighth place.

Adolph [Swede] Carlson, anchor man for the Gills, led the quintet with 678 on games of 236, 214, and 228.

Maroon Net Team Meets Michigan; Seeks 2d Victory

The University of Chicago's tennis team will seek its second straight Western conference victory this afternoon against Michigan on the Midway courts at 1:30 o'clock.

Indians Rally in 9th; Defeat White Sox, 5-3

good cars of the next three batters. Then the fourth opened with Trosky's second single. He went to third on Heath's two bagger to right and home on Mack's fly, which was the one Solters dropped as he was about to launch his throw in.

The Score Is Tied.

The Sox didn't start to get back into a tie until after two were out in the fifth. Knickerbocker slipped a double down the left field line and Appling drew the only pass issued by the Indians' youngster. Kuhel thumped a single into right, sending Knickerbocker home and Appling to third, but Solters wasn't able to do anything about the situation. He fouled to Hemsley. In the sixth Lodigiani stepped up and pushed a single thru short, scoring a moment later on Rosenthal's two bagger to right center. Bagby was yanked and Rescuer Heving made short work of the next three batters.

Nothing much came from the Sox bats in the last three innings. Kuhel doubled in the seventh, but two were out, and Solters fouled to Trosky. Heving started the eighth by walking Lodigiani and, with one out, gave Kreevich an intentional pass. The strategy worked perfectly. Tresh lined to Mack, whose throw doubled Kreevich off first. Then Feller showed up in the ninth and he had no trouble with Pinch Batter Dave Short, Knickerbocker, or Appling.

Reds Send Frank Secory to Syracuse on Option

Syracuse, N. Y., April 25 (AP).—The Syracuse Chiefs of the International league today acquired Outfielder Frank Secory on option from the Cincinnati Reds.

Ed Smith Faces Caster, Browns in St. Louis Today

Eddie [Lefty] Smith will serve to the Browns in St. Louis this afternoon when the White Sox open a three game series. The Browns will start George Caster, who when with the Athletics caused the Sox considerable misery.

When Julius Solters dropped Ray Mack's fly in the fourth, fans were reminded of the squabble resulting from his dropping a foul ball in a game with the Yankees last June. While still running with the ball, Solters grabbed for his cap, which was about to leave his head, and the ball dropped from his glove. The Sox won the game, 1 to 0 in 11 innings, but the Yanks protested the ball was not legally held and the game was replayed. The Sox lost the play-off.

The Sox yesterday released Chester Hajduk, a Chicago boy, to their Waterloo, Ia., farm club under option.

ILLINOIS SEEKS TITLE IN AAU GYM MEET TONIGHT

The University of Illinois gymnastic team, National AAU, National Collegiate, and Big Ten champions, will seek new honors in the Central AAU gymnastic and tumbling meet to be held in Bartlett gymnasium, 57th street and University avenue, at 8 o'clock tonight. The team includes Caton Cobb, winner of national collegiate titles in the parallel bars and side horse; Louis Fina, national runner-up on the horizontal bar and flying rings; Jack Adkins, national tumbling champion; Harry Koehnemann, second place winner in the side horse in the collegiate meet, and Paul Fina, who placed second on the parallel bars and third on the flying rings in the national competition.

In the high school division, Senn, which last Saturday won the Chicago high school championship, again will meet the Lindblom team, which was second.

DERBY COLONY MOVES ON DOWNS FOR '41 OPENING

Porter's Cap, Other Stars Reach Louisville.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 25.—Horses, horsemen, and the advance division of the spectators who will figure in the Kentucky Derby moved into this town today, ready for tomorrow's opening of Churchill Downs. The high point of the meeting will be the 67th running of the Derby a week from tomorrow.

Porter's Cap, hope of the powerful Charles S. Howard stable, arrived from Havre De Grace with the fresh prestige which he gained recently by his victory in the Chesapeake stakes. Warren Wright's Whirlaway, which shared the position of favorite with Porter's Cap until he was beaten by Royce G. Martin's Our Boots in yesterday's Blue Grass stakes, was vanned over from Keeneland. Our Boots is to arrive tomorrow.

Several Already Present.

Blue Pair, owned by Mrs. Vera S. Bragg; Mrs. Louise Palladino's Little Beans; Hugh S. Nesbitt's Staretor, and Theodore Mueller's Agricole were already on the grounds.

Track Superintendent Tom Young is holding stall reservations for Ogden Phipps' King Cole, Shaffer and Howard's Curious Coin, King Ranch's Dispose, J. Fred Byers' Robert Morris, and Cleaveland Putnam's Swain.

Altho Agricole is scheduled to go to the post in a six and a half furlong sprint tomorrow at Churchill Downs, the race fans are looking ahead to the Derby trial stakes which will be run here on Tuesday. Unless the trainers involved change their plans, this race at a mile is expected to bring out Our Boots, Porter's Cap, Whirlaway, and Blue Pair.

Watch Wood Memorial.

Meanwhile, Kentucky turf followers are keeping an eye on reports from Jamaica, where the Wood Memorial will be run tomorrow.

Our Boots earned himself a new host of followers by the brilliant race he ran in finishing six lengths ahead of Whirlaway in yesterday's Blue Grass stakes. If he should follow up with a victory in the Derby trial on Tuesday, he no doubt will be the post time favorite regardless of what happens in the Wood.

The main event on tomorrow's opening program will be the $2,500 Clark handicap, which has brought out a field headed by Milky Way farm's Gallahadion, winner of last season's Kentucky Derby. Others in the field of seven are his stablemate, Up The Creek, Mucho Gusto, Viscounty, Plowshare, Haltal and Montsin.

CASTERS CLASH TOMORROW FOR INDOOR TITLE

Many leading casters of the middle west will compete in the Chicago District Indoor Casting tournament tomorrow afternoon in the Evanston Township High school. The meet is being sponsored by the North Shore Rod and Reel club of Evanston.

The schedule includes individual competition in the five-eights ounce accuracy bait, ladies accuracy bait, the bass bug event, and a five man team event. Clubs from Chicago, Bloomington, Gary, and Waukesha will compete.

JUDGE SETS NEW 'LAST DAY' FOR TRANSIT ACCORD

Mayor Offers to Amend Franchise Plan.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday set a new deadline of May 23 for an agreement between the city and representatives of the surface and elevated lines on a transit unification franchise. He indicated that unless an accord is reached by then, the court will proceed toward reorganizing the surface lines separately from the elevated lines and without a new city franchise.

The court's action followed a lengthy hearing at which virtually all interested parties in the 14 year old unification dispute were heard. The hearing was called a month ago after the surface lines' new management board named by Judge Igoe had reported that the city's franchise offer was unacceptable.

Revival of Abbott Plan.

An initial legal step toward a separate surface lines' reorganization was taken by the largest surface lines bondholders' committee, representing $41,700,000 of first mortgage bonds on the north side street car lines. The committee, which is headed by Albert W. Harris, the banker, asked the court for leave to file a petition for reorganizing the surface lines under the Abbott plan worked out in 1936. Judge Igoe continued the motion until the May 23 hearing.

Mayor Kelly, in a move to prevent the collapse of the unification plan, yesterday submitted a statement offering to amend the franchise proposal to meet the lines' objections.

The mayor proposed to eliminate the requirement that the new company buy the properties of the Chicago Motor Coach company. He also offered to change the clauses on employé pensions and depreciation.

Franchise to Be Amended.

Mayor Kelly said the city recognized that provisions in the franchise calling for employé pensions and setting up depreciation policies would be void if not approved by the regulatory transit commission. The franchise will be amended to clarify this stand. The mayor also reported that all but two of the nine objections to the franchise ordinance raised by the Federal Works agency have been eliminated by conferences with FWA officials.

The two points are the terms of compensation for the use of city streets to be paid by the proposed unified company and the provision relating to valuation of the company, in the event it is purchased by the city.

John M. Carmody, federal works administrator, warned that the city's 23 million dollar subway grant will be canceled unless the city immediately completes the unification franchise setting up a new company to operate the subway. Carmody's statement, read by C. Russell Shetterly, associate general counsel for the FWA, reminded the city that the subway grant was a contract whereby the entire merger plan is subject to FWA approval. Carmody said that only 10 millions of the 23 million dollar grant has been deposited, and that the remainder is being held up by the transit delay.

Ford Resumption Raises Auto Output This Week

Detroit, Mich., April 25 (AP).—Ward's Reports, Inc., today estimated passenger car and truck production this week at 108,165 units, compared with 99,945 last week and 101,405 this week a year ago. The upturn was attributed to the resumption of operations in the Ford plants.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. April 25 (AP).—Carload lots, per brl in 98 pound cotton sacks: Family patents, unchanged, $6.15@6.35; standard patents, 10c higher, $5.00@5.20. Shipments, 16,775 brls. Pure bran—$19.50@20.00 per ton. Standard middlings—$19.25@19.50.

GRAIN AND BEANS CLIMB AGAIN ON BOARD OF TRADE

Grain and soy bean futures advanced again yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Commission house buying absorbed offerings in the early trading and later prices the early trading and prices advanced rapidly, closing at the top.

Net gains on wheat were 1½ to 1¾ cents a bushel, and corn was up ½ to ⅞ cent. Corn was within ½ to ¾ cent of the seasonal highs. Soy beans led the upturn and finished at gains of 2¼ to 3¼ cents, the latter on May. Lard showed a firm undertone and finished 7½ cents per 100 pounds higher.

There was nothing in the news to account for the buying of futures, brokers said, but they added that there was little prospect of any large amounts of cash grain being delivered on May contracts next week due to the limited supply in elevators here.

BORG-WARNER'S PENSION PLAN WINS APPROVAL

Company's Operations Set New Record.

Approval of an amended retirement plan for the Borg-Warner corporation was given by stockholders yesterday at the annual meeting held in the Congress hotel. The amended plan limits to $17,500 the amount that may be paid to any retired employé. The original plan provided $24,000.

C. S. Davis.

The pension plan, which is effective as of March 1, 1941, covers employés of the corporation earning $3,000 or more. Those receiving less are covered by individual plans.

Charles S. Davis, president, told the stockholders that operations in the first quarter were at the highest rate in the corporation's history. He said that of about $38,000,000 of arms orders which have been awarded to various divisions of the corporation, about $8,000,000 has been delivered.

No Unusual Expense.

"It has been a fortunate circumstance, both for us and the government, that we have not had to go to any unusual expense to put the government orders into production," he said. "It is probable that due to our experience in the mechanical arts we may be called upon to produce materials under the program for which we have no plants or equipment. When and if that time comes—and I believe it will—we will have the cash available to finance the necessary plant expansion."

Stockholders elected John E. Johnson, Muncie, Ind., manufacturer, a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John Fletcher. Directors reëlected all officers.

R. R. Williams, president of the S. S. Kresge company, told stockholders at the annual meeting in Detroit that sales to date this year have been running about 7 per cent ahead of the record volume of 1940. However, new taxes being considered will weigh heavier on the company, he added.

Volume Double Year Ago.

H. H. Doehler, chairman of the board of the Doehler Die Casting company, told stockholders at the annual meeting in New York that sales volume in the first quarter was almost double that of a year ago. Despite increased tax provisions the company had a net income for the first quarter of $358,553, equal to $1.28 a share, against $303,775, equal to $1.08 a share, in the first quarter of last year.

Doehler said the company's business had been affected by priorities on metals, but added that armament work is filling the gap and plants are running almost at capacity.

STEEL INDUSTRY SERIOUSLY HIT BY COAL TIEUP

OPM Says Output Rate Will Fall.

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—Sharply curtailed steel production and interrupted operations in at least 35 plants producing military goods were in prospect tonight as a result of the stoppage of work in the soft coal mines.

The office of production management announced that the steel industry, now operating at 95 per cent capacity, would have to lower ingot production to 85 per cent next week, and to 60 per cent the following week, for lack of fuel.

Nineteen armament plants informed the war department that they had a two day coal supply left, it was said in informed quarters, and 16 more reported a four day supply on hand.

Recess Wage Parley.

The defense mediation board panel considering the dispute which has stopped more than 80 per cent of the nation's soft coal production recessed its first session at 10:40 p. m. [eastern standard time] tonight without any indication of an approaching settlement. The panel summoned participants to another session tomorrow morning.

At tonight's session, the panel dismissed the representatives of the northern operators and of the United Mine Workers early in the evening, then continued talks with the representatives of the southern operators for several hours. John R. Steelman, head of the United States conciliation service, participated in the meeting.

Steel men said, however, that an immediate resumption of coal mining would not avert a period of reduced steel production. It takes time, they commented, to get coke ovens refired and supplies for steel making replenished.

One estimate was that it would require three weeks or more, even after coke was available, for blast furnaces already shut down to return to capacity production.

CARNEGIE BANKS FIRES

The prospect of curtailed operations in one to eight weeks because of a shortage of bituminous coal resulting from the stoppage of mining on April 1, yesterday was troubling officials of large Chicago industrial companies. Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, however, was the only one to report that it had already been seriously affected.

The steel company banked two more blast furnaces in this area yesterday, one in South Chicago and one in Gary, as a means of conserving its coke supply. One furnace at each of the plants was banked two weeks ago so that only 16 of its furnaces are operating in this district, compared with 20 before the coal tieup.

Coke Ovens Shut Down.

Only one of its four batteries of by-product coke ovens at Joliet has been in service for the last week, they said. Each battery contains 70 furnaces used in coverting coal into coke and extracting by-products.

Wilfred Sykes, assistant to the president of the Inland Steel company, said that officials were becoming concerned over the possible coal shortage but that the company's supply was ample for full operations until about May 10.

George A. Ranney, chairman of the People's Gas Light and Coke company, which uses much coal in the production of coke and gas, estimated that a 40 to 60 day stock was on hand.

Officials of Commonwealth Edison company said it had a "little better than a two months' supply."

The Interlake Iron corporation, which has two blast furnaces in Chicago, has experienced no shortage yet, D. L. Ward, vice president and general manager, said.

City Supplies "Very Good."

The coal situation at the city's eight pumping stations and power plants was described as "very good" after a survey made by Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt. Supplies varied from 17 to 63 days.

For the state of Illinois as a whole, the shortage will become serious in another week, Fred S. Wilkey, secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, estimated yesterday. He added that the Illinois mines, which furnish little coal for the larger industrial users, cannot be reopened until some decision is reached in the contract deadlock in the east. Then the operators plan an immediate meeting with miners.

Lake cargo supplies were reported at the vanishing point in Toledo. The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad had but 900 cars of coke in the yards, compared with 6,000 10 days ago. The coal supply of other docks virtually had disappeared, and loading was at a standstill.

Ohio Furnaces Closing.

Republic Steel corporation was reported to have shut down one of its four blast furnaces in the Cleveland district and three at Youngstown, reducing production 25 per cent. Youngstown Sheet and Tube company closed down two furnaces and two more were expected to go out next week.

The South Carolina public service commission granted the Southern railway permission to suspend temporarily eight trains running between South Carolina cities. The railway in its application said it had only a 10 day supply of coal.

Motion to Delay Trial of Tobacco Firms Denied

Lexington, Ky., April 25 (AP).—Defense motions to dismiss government subpenas and to postpone opening of the trial of the three major tobacco companies and their subsidiaries on monopoly and price fixing charges were overruled today in federal District court here.

Law May Put Big Utility in New Industry

New York, April 25 (AP).—Enforcement of the public utility act "death sentence" clause may impel the billion dollar North American company to liquidate as a utility enterprise and devote its capital to other industrial fields, Edward L. Shea, its president, told stockholders at the annual meeting today.

Citing recent Securities and Exchange commission hearings as a probable forerunner to a commission order requiring the company to divest itself of all except one of its four major properties, he said:

"We cannot now see how the company could serve any important purpose as a public utility holding company if its investments were restricted to only one of the four major properties. Under such conditions we would undoubtedly recommend the dissolution of the company."

View on Other Enterprises.

It may be in the public interest, he said, if the company turned to other fields with its "substantial amount of capital for investment."

"These are days of great expansion of the industrial machinery and the business activities of the country," he explained. "Out of every emergency period in our national history has come new industries and needs for capital. With our changed status we may very well find new opportunities to continue in the development of needed goods and service."

North American's four utility groups are the Cleveland Electrical Illuminating company, Wisconsin-Michigan units; electric and heating properties of Union Electric company of Missouri and its subsidiaries, and electric utility properties in Washington, D. C.

Application of the "death sentence," Shea said, also would require North American to dispose of its large investments in Pacific Gas and Electric company, Detroit Edison company, and North American Light and Power company, along with some nonutility properties.

Will Protect Investments.

"The management of the company," he said, "has no disposition to engage in litigation merely for the purpose of challenging the theoretical aspects of the law. We will, however, oppose by every means available any action taken under color of the law which would substantially impair the value of the investments held by our security owners."

As to the position of North American common stock holders in event of dissolution, Shea said there were prior obligations [debentures and preferred stock] ahead of the 8,500,000 shares of common. Using a 10 share unit of North American common for illustration, he submitted figures which indicated there would be a value of $211.20, or about $21 a share after redemption of the prior investments thru sale of the company's holdings. He warned, however, that final results would depend on the period of time the SEC would allow for sale of sufficient holdings to pay off senior securities and on market conditions prevailing during that time.

Dissolution Approved.

Washington, D. C., April 25 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today approved an application for the dissolution of Northeastern Water Companies, Inc., a subsidiary of the Associated Gas and Electric system.

"It is represented," the commission said, "that the dissolution of the Northeastern Water Companies, Inc., is a preliminary step in the contemplated divestment of Associated's interest in the entire Northeastern system."

5 NEW FLIGHTS ARE SCHEDULED BY 3 AIR LINES

Five new flights from Chicago were announced yesterday by three air lines coincident with the rearranging of schedules for summer.

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., will start a new westbound flight for Los Angeles at 8:45 p. m. [C. S. T.] and another for Kansas City at 12:20 p. m.

American Airlines, Inc., has scheduled two new eastern flights. Flight 14 will leave Chicago at 4 p. m. for New York, stopping at Detroit, and flight 54 will depart at 7 a. m. for Cincinnati, with a stop at Indianapolis. Further additions will be made on the basis of present indications, and many of the present flights may operate in two or more sections, the company said.

Northwest Airlines, Inc., announced a third nonstop flight to Minneapolis-St. Paul, leaving Chicago at 11 a. m. With the start of the summer schedule, transcontinental flights will be speeded up as much as 50 minutes, the company said.

Trade in Bonds Shrinks, Prices Turn Downward

New York, April 25 (AP). — Bonds worked irregularly lower today in a market which slowed down from the trading rate of the two preceding rising sessions. Rails continued the center of attraction. Government bonds, lightly traded on the stock exchange with prices 11-32 point lower to 1-32 higher, were handled briskly in over the counter dealings.

After 41 years in the same location at the southeast corner of Wabash and Jackson, the Cable Piano company has moved to a new music store at 228 South Wabash avenue, across the street and a few doors north. The new premises occupy space on the ground floor and second floor.

SUGGEST BIGGER TAX BITE INTO EXCESS PROFITS

May Raise Current Rates 10 Pct.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Particularly sharp increases in the excess profits tax on corporations were in prospect today as part of the general boost of more than 3½ billion dollars in the national tax bill. Altho the new proposed tax rates on individual incomes and restoration of wartime nuisance taxes have been well explored, the first reports were received on what corporations—main target of the New Deal tax collectors—may have to pay.

The treasury wants at least 400 millions more dollars per year in excess profit tax collections. This will mean virtually a 100 per cent increase over collections this year, estimated near 500 millions. After the first year the current rates are expected to produce 1 billion annually. The tax was enacted only last fall.

Propose 10 Per Cent Boost.

One of the treasury proposals, it was disclosed, is to boost the current rates by 10 per cent. These rates now range from 25 per cent on the first $20,000 of excess profits to 50 per cent on earnings above $500,000.

Increases would also be achieved by changing the methods of computation. These include a suggestion that under the average earnings method of computation the tax credit be reduced from 95 to only 75 per cent of average earnings between 1936-'39 inclusive. Such a reduction would mean a taxing of normal, rather than excess, earnings of many corporations, and result in double taxation because normal earnings will also be subjected to stiff penalties.

Change in Other Method.

The alternative method of computing the excess profits tax liability, under the treasury proposals, would be changed by reducing the tax credit now allowed in the invested capital system of computation. Instead of the flat tax credit of 8 per cent on the amount of invested capital, the exemption would be computed as follows: 8 per cent on the first 1 million dollars of invested capital; 6 per cent on the invested capital between 1 and 20 millions; and 4 per cent on invested capital above 20 millions.

This graduated system would mean a tax credit of only $4,420,000 instead of $8,000,000 for a corporation having 100 millions in invested capital. Under both methods of computing the excess profits levy a flat exemption of $5,000 is first allowed, and certain considerations are given to new capital.

Seek Normal Tax Boost.

In addition to increases in excess profits taxes, there is a proposed boost of normal taxes by imposing an added tax of 5 per cent on the first $25,000 of net income, and 6 per cent on the balance. The existing corporate tax rate is 24 per cent on earnings above $25,000.

Experts of the congressional committees dealing with taxation however, have not made known their opinion on corporate tax increases beyond the flat statement that corporation levies should be increased. Colin F. Stam, chief of these experts, said today that the boost in excess profits levies should be larger in proportion than those suggested by the treasury. Details have not been worked out, he said.

MILLIONTH SHELL FORGING MADE BY CHICAGO PLANT

The American Forge division of the American Brake Shoe and Foundry company, described as one of the pioneers in the present era of armament production, yesterday turned over its one-millionth shell forging to the army's ordnance department.

The presentation was made by W. B. Given Jr., president of the American Brake Shoe and Foundry, to Col. Donald Armstrong, executive officer of the Chicago ordnance district, at a luncheon in the Chicago club. The luncheon was attended by army officers and by executives of various Chicago companies.

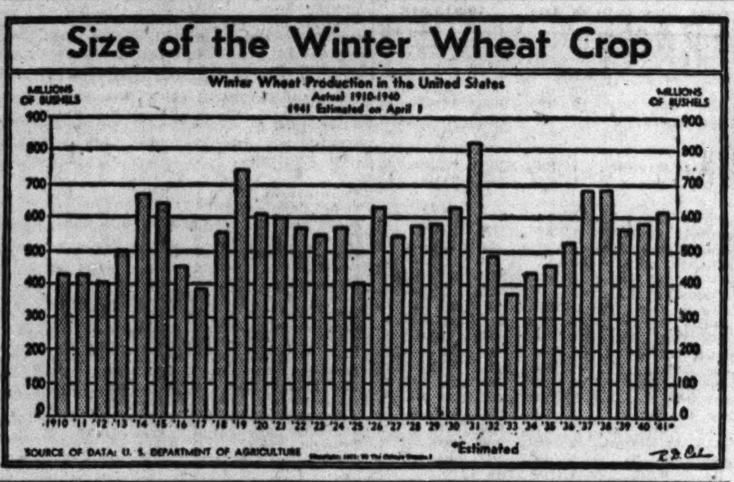
The group later toured the plant of the American Forge division at 2621 South Hoyne avenue, where production of shell forgings has been in progress since June, 1939. It was estimated that this plant, along with several other companies, will be turning out 50,000 shell forgings a day within three months.

LIST 720 PLANTS THAT COULD AID IN ARMING WORK

A list of 720 Illinois manufacturers having plants and equipment which may be used in the rearmament program was submitted to the Chicago office of the office of production management yesterday by the Illinois Manufacturers association. The 720 manufacturers, embracing 16 different lines of industry, reported a total of 31,720 machines.

Almost a half the machines, or a total of 15,290, was reported idle part of the time. They were idle a total of 197,496 hours, or 24,687 eight hour days in one year. Of the 720 companies 260 said they were taking part in the preparedness program. Of these 51 were primary contractors, 146 were subcontractors, and 63 were both primary and subcontractors.

Six hundred plants indicated they had 56,535,000 square feet of floor space available. Of 540 establishments with a total of 39,647,000 square feet, 193 said they had 2,776,000 square feet of unused floor space.



Ask Increase in U. S. Power of Priorities

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The administration asked congress today for increased authority to ration commodity supplies, and also moved to free industry from concern that it might run afoul of the antitrust laws in coöperating to promote armament production.

In addition, Leon Henderson, price administrator, said he was not putting a "ceiling" on copper at the present time, but "suggested" that 12 cents a pound was enough to charge for primary and secondary copper. Some firms, he said, were getting as much as 13½ cents.

Threatens to Compel Action.

Henderson added that if producers did not follow the suggestion, "we shall be forced to take other steps."

The extension of power to fix priorities and ration supplies was asked in a bill introduced by Representative Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] at the request of William S. Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management.

The President now has power to establish priorities for deliveries under army and navy contracts. Under the new bill, he could establish priorities for deliveries, under contracts or subcontracts, for the government of any nation whose defense the President deemed vital to the United States.

Agree on Trust Law Plan.

Attorney General Robert H. Jackson announced that the department of justice had agreed with the OPM to work out in advance antitrust law questions concerning armament contracts.

"This is not for the purpose of sanctioning violations," he said in a statement, "but for the purpose of seeing that violations do not take place and at the same time that the armament effort is served.

"Mr. John Lord O'Brian, general counsel for the OPM, and this department have agreed upon a plan of procedure by which questions of this character will be defined by OPM and by industries involved and may be presented to this department."

Calls Allocations Necessary.

Jackson said that rearming required "establishment of some priorities, allocations, and unifications to achieve efficient production," altho similar acts, if undertaken by private agreement in order to tighten control over an industry or raise prices, would be violations of law and would be prosecuted. He added:

"If, however, in order to step up production of materials, the industries are asked by the government to reduce production of nondefense material, this does not constitute a conspiracy against the public interest and, of course, is not a violation."

AUTO PARTS FIRM DECLARES EXTRA 35 CENT DIVIDEND

OIL COMPANIES ASK DISMISSAL OF DAMAGE SUITS

Madison, Wis., April 25 (AP).—The Socony-Vacuum Oil company and other major oil concerns asked federal court today to dismiss 12 suits for damages filed against them by a group of consumers and jobbers as an outgrowth of the gasoline price fixing trials here in 1938.

The motion for dismissal, which will be argued May 6, contended the plaintiffs failed to comply with an order that they file a bond with the court before April 14.

The plaintiffs filed civil actions seeking to collect $2,000,000 on the allegation they were injured by the fixing of gas prices over a period of years.

Two Illinois Tax Returns Must Be Filed in May

The Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday reminded taxpayers of the following tax dates for May:

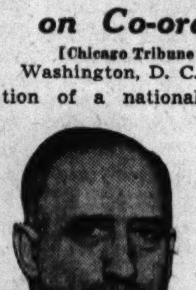
May 1—File Illinois capital stock tax return with the state tax commission.

May 15—Illinois retailers' occupation tax return and payment for April with the director of finance.

REALTY OWNERS ASK REDUCTION IN TAX DUPLICATION

Favor National Body on Co-ordination.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Myers Y. Cooper.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Creation of a national commission to coördinate tax systems, avoiding duplication and waste, was urged here today at the national conference of real estate taxpayers.

The proposal was made in the keynote address by Myers Y. Cooper, president of the conference and former governor of Ohio. Creation of such a commission at this session of congress was indorsed by Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], who later addressed the meeting.

"There can be no successful tax program without encouraging production," O'Mahoney said. "Our problem in taxation is to see how we can stimulate production and encourage private enterprise."

Lists 7 Point Program.

Cooper declared that taxpayers are ready to back the armament program to the utmost of their resources, but there must be an integration of federal, state, and local tax structures to stop leakage in public expenditures due principally to overlapping taxes. He suggested the following platform:

1. Create a national commission on taxation and land policies of the nation to evolve a long range tax policy.

2. Put a ceiling on the real estate rate.

3. Give greater consideration to the earning power of property in matters of tax assessments.

Prevent Overlapping.

4. Coördinate taxation to prevent overlapping and unwarranted confiscation of earning and values.

5. Amend the federal laws so as to permit not less than 10 years for liquidation of real estate to meet federal inheritance taxes.

6. Make government income producing property pay for local cost of government on the same basis as privately owned property.

7. Reduce the cost of government by a prudent spending of public money in harmony with the public income."

U. S. FUND AGAIN WILL STABILIZE CHINESE MONEY

Washington, D. C., April 25 [Special].—The United States and China today completed negotiations to set up a $50,000,000 fund to stabilize Chinese currency, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced. At the same time it was announced the British treasury will extend financial help of £5,000,000 [about $20,000,000] to the Chinese Central bank under a similar agreement.

This is the second stabilization agreement between the treasury and the Chinese bank. The first was a $25,000,000 transaction agreed upon in the fall of 1939. It was successful and liquidated to the satisfaction of both governments.

The present agreement involves the purchase by the American stabilization fund of $50,000,000 of Chinese yuan dollars. This will supply China with funds to purchase vital supplies, and is regarded as an aid to the Chiang Kai-shek government. The Chinese bank agrees to rebuy Yuan dollars.

COAL VIA LAKES RAISED IN PRICE TO RAIL EQUALITY

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The bituminous coal division issued a temporary order today effective May 2, increasing minimum prices at the mines for southern "low volatile" or smokeless coals shipped by way of the Great Lakes to the Detroit area, to provide delivery prices competitive with rail shipments.

The increases will be 50 cents a ton on "domestic" size groups one to three, and 25 cents on "domestic" sizes four to six.

Seasonal discounts also were provided ranging from five cents to 50 cents a ton, according to size and month. These may be granted from April to August, inclusive.

B. C. Heacock to Advise Undersecretary of War

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The war department announced today that B. C. Heacock, president of the Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, Ill., had accepted a position as assistant to Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson. Heacock will advise the undersecretary on matters pertaining to industrial production. The undersecretary is directly in charge of all procurement supplies and equipment for the army.

LABOR TROUBLE CUTS PROFITS, AVERY REPORTS

Pacific Coast Ward Units Affected.

Labor trouble affecting its west coast outlets was cited yesterday by Sewell L. Avery, president and chairman of Montgomery Ward & Co., as one of the major factors contributing to a decrease in the company's net earnings for the first quarter of its current fiscal year.

He informed stockholders that the profit shrinkage would occur for the three months ending April 30 even in face of a steady rise in sales volume. About 200 stockholders attended the annual meeting in the company's general offices in Chicago.

April Sales Up 20 Per Cent.

With the April sales total expected to register a 20 per cent gain over last year, Avery placed the volume increase for the quarter in the neighborhood of 14.5 per cent. However, he added that the profit would fall short of equaling the net income of 73 cents a share in the comparable 1940 quarter figured at the final tax rate for that year.

"This shrinkage," Avery said, "will reflect the higher operating costs, a smaller merchandising profit on sales, deliberately higher sales promotion expenses, an increase in the provision for bad debts, and in particular the effect of the company's labor troubles on the west coast."

The stockholders reëlected nine directors whose terms had expired and elected two new directors to fill existing vacancies.

New Directors Chicagoans.

The two new members on the board are Donald R. McLennan Jr., Chicago insurance broker, and Clement D. Ryan, the company's vice president in charge of merchandising.

All officers were reëlected, except Charles W. Harris, formerly a vice president, who will continue as manager of the Chicago mail order plant.

Attempts of an AFL union to obtain closed shops at the Oakland, Cal., and Portland, Ore., mail order plants were first begun in early December, Avery said. Since then, he continued, the Oakland plant has become as "dead as a doornail," while business at the Portland house has been at a standstill, except for a small volume of goods that can be handled by mail only.

"In general I gather that merchandising people are not interested in labor agitators," Avery said. "Our labor trouble begins on the outside and not on the inside. The agitators approach our younger people."

Says Teamsters Halted Trains.

He charged that the trouble was begun by a teamsters union. This union, Avery explained, not only tied up truck transportation for the two plants but also set up picket lines so that rail transportation was cut off because railroad workers feared passing thru the pickets.

Avery also reported that the union had established picket lines at 45 of the company's retail stores thruout far western states, but had succeeded in closing only four stores. Both the Oakland and Portland houses also have retail outlets.

He summed up the company's labor policy in these two principal points:

1. "The company pays its employés as much or more than other competitors in various territories."

2. "We obey the laws earnestly without any hesitation."

Avery read a copy of a paid advertisment published by employés of the Spokane, Wash., retail store in which they voiced their satisfaction with the company's employé policies.

WHEAT STOCKS ESTIMATED FAR ABOVE YEAR AGO

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The agriculture department reported today that combined stocks of wheat in interior mills, elevators, and warehouses and on farms April 1 totaled 327,002,000 bushels. Similar stocks on the corresponding date last year totaled 237,773,000 bushels.

Stocks in interior mills, elevators, and warehouses amounted to 131,247,000 bushels, the largest on record for April 1. The department said stocks were especially heavy in the important hard red winter and hard red spring wheat states, which included Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Minnesota.

The April 1 stocks by types of wheat were: Hard red winter, 112,132,000 bushels; soft red winter, 49,122,000; hard red spring, 105,874,000; durum, 25,877,000, and white, 33,997,000.

Bank Loan to Meat Packer Is Authorized by Court

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday authorized James P. Carey, trustee of Roberts & Oake, packing house company which has filed a petition in bankruptcy, to borrow up to $50,000 from the City National Bank and Trust company as working capital for the company. The trustee also received permission to raise wages of company employés in line with recent wage rises effected by other packing house companies.

Du Pont Profit Is Cut by Tax and Cost Rises

Higher taxes and operating costs resulted in a reduction of March quarter net income of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., a major producer of chemicals, munitions, and other products, company officials reported yesterday from headquarters in Wilmington, Del.

Altho sales showed a big increase, the company's consolidated net income for the period dropped to $20,754,161, equal to $1.77 a share, from $23,727,188, or $2.04 a share, reported in the corresponding 1940 quarter. The first quarter sales and other operating revenue came to $109,145,959, compared with $78,503,803.

Provision for Contingencies.

In addition to higher taxes and operating costs, a "provision for contingencies," which was not included in the report for the first quarter of 1940, also cut into the company's net profits. This provision amounted to $3,500,000.

Operating charges showed an increase of $17,000,000, and taxes rose $13,000,000 over similar provisions for the corresponding period a year earlier.

From offices in New York City, the Continental Can company reported consolidated net income of $8,740,286, equal to $2.83 a share, for 12 months ended March 31. In the preceding 12 months, the company's net income was $8,898,501, or $2.80 a share.

Nash-Kelvinator Gains.

Nash-Kelvinator corporation, with main offices in Detroit, Mich., realized net income of $1,040,527, equal to 24 cents a share, for the three months ended March 31, compared with $382,941, or nine cents a share, in the corresponding period a year earlier. Net income for the six months ended March 31 totaled $1,127,657, equal to 26 cents a share, against $405,939, or nine cents a share, a year earlier.

Butler Brothers, Chicago dry goods and merchandise wholesalers, reported March quarter net income of $181,249, equal to seven cents a share, compared with a net loss of $152,425 in the corresponding period last year. Company officials reported that sales for the first quarter showed a gain of 8.4 per cent over a year ago.

Nets $2.55 a Share.

International Business Machines corporation had net income of $2,409,123, equal to $2.55 a share, for the three months ended March 31, company officials announced at the main office in Endicott, N. Y. In the corresponding quarter last year the company realized net income of $2,200,504, or $2.45 a share.

With the sales volume showing an upturn of 21.9 per cent, net income of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company amounted to $143,756, equal to 25 cents a share, in the March quarter, compared with $118,226, or 18 cents a share, in the like quarter of 1940, R. F. Bensinger, president, announced.

"Sales prospects for this year are at present favorable," Bensinger said, "but it is expected that increased costs and taxes will reduce the ratio of net profits to sales compared with results attained in 1940."

BUICK AVIATION ENGINE FACTORY IS TAKING FORM

Construction Speed Called Amazing.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Dale E. Williams.

The huge Buick aviation engine plant at North avenue and La Grange road, Melrose Park, is already taking form on a site which on March 17 was only a field, an inspection yesterday disclosed.

Dale E. Williams, Buick official who will be in charge of the plant and who was in Chicago to look over the operation, described the speed with which the plant is being built as "amazing." About 650 men are working night and day to speed construction.

High spots in this week's construction are:

1. On Monday workers started pouring the first half of the deck for the large administration building. On Tuesday the second half was started. And yesterday men were working on the second floor.

Main Building Is Started.

2. On Wednesday morning a start was made on the erection of steel for the main manufacturing building—a structure which will measure approximately 1,305 by 750 feet and contain about 1,000,000 square feet. Yesterday a large section of the steel framework was up at what will be the southeast corner of the structure.

Most of the grading and excavation has been completed and hundreds of workers are now engaged in completing a feature which is said to be unique in American factory planning—a huge tunnel system thru which the 10,000 workers will get to their jobs when the plant is finished.

Running the length of the building from north to south is the main tunnel, 1,305 feet long, 12 feet high, and 9 feet wide. Then east and west tunnels are located near the north and south ends of the huge structure. The main entrances for the workers will be near the four corners of the building—on the east and west sides. Entrances will resemble subway station entries, the men descending stairs into the tunnels. Near the foot of the stairs will be the clock rooms and toilet facilities.

Tunnel to Be Entry Control.

Passing along thru the tunnel the workers will go to numbered positions at which stairs will take them up to the main floor, close to the spot at which they will be employed. This method of tunnel entry will give the management an easier way of controling entry and departure from the plant than if conventional doors were used and, further, it will make it much more convenient for workers to get to their jobs.

Under the center of the building is being built a huge underground cafeteria for the convenience of the workers.

Almost all the tunnel work has been completed. Shortly underground facilities such as pipes and electric lines will be located in the tunnels.

Excavate Day and Night.

Assisting the man power on the job are eight Diesel powered cranes, 3 steam shovels and a large number of crawling type trucks capable of moving thru heavy mud. Heavy work, excavation and the like, is being carried on night and day, but erecting of the steel framework is being done only in daylight hours. About 9,000 tons of steel will be used.

The cost of the plant construction, tools and equipment is estimated at $31,000,000. When the 10,000 workers are on the job making 1,200 horse power Pratt and Whitney engines it is expected that the pay roll on an annual basis will be approximately $17,000,000. It is hoped that the construction work, including the installment of much of the equipment, will be completed by late summer or early autumn.

The Chicago company of Thorgersen and Ericksen has the general contract.

STOCKS RECEIVE USUAL PRUNING AND PRICES DIP

Leaders Ease Fractions to Point or More.

New York, April 25 (AP).—The stock market went thru its usual Friday pruning process today and leaders lost fractions to a point or more. Small losses and gains were about evenly divided until the final hour, when a little more selling urgency appeared and prices dipped to their low points of the session.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 0.3 point at 39.5. Dealings were negligible during most of the proceedings, transfers of 424,900 shares comparing with 485,090 Thursday. One block of 41,700 shares of Commonwealth & Southern, unchanged at ⅜, helped expand the total.

Commitments are Reduced.

There was little of bullish import in the day's news. The customary trimming of accounts as insurance against untoward happenings over the week-end, and the cashing of profits on the two day advance were looked upon by brokers as a normal operation in these times.

The market had to contend with more adverse war dispatches and the unfavorable labor situation.

At the same time, Montgomery Ward stock dropped 1⅜ points as Chairman Sewell L. Avery indicated the company' first quarter earnings were well under the 1940 period. American Telephone reached a new low since last June with a decline of 1¼ at 154⅜.

A stock exchange seat sold today for $22,000, a drop of $1,000 from the previous sale, and duplicating the 43 year low price of other seat sales earlier this month.

CHICAGO LIST DECLINES.

Stock prices declined on the Chicago exchange yesterday as turnover climbed to 18,000 shares from only 12,000 Thursday. Aviation corporation, the trading favorite in transfer of 2,200 shares, closed at 3, up ⅛.

Only two dually listed issues recorded changes from the New York close during the trading from 2 to 3 o'clock, Commonwealth Edison finishing at 26¾, down ⅛, and Swift International closing at 18, up ¼.

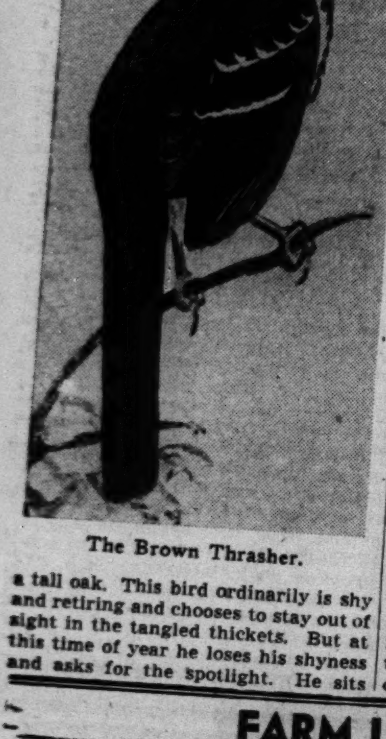
DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Brown Thrasher Arrives.

April 25, 1941.

THE brown thrasher, an exhibitionist among the songsters, came to the farm this week so there will be no lack of beautiful music there during the next few weeks. When we first heard the spring song of this famous feathered musician, we walked toward his tree, and sat down on a log to enjoy his concert.

Quite in keeping with his character, the brown thrasher had taken his perch on the topmost branch of a tall oak. This bird ordinarily is shy and retiring and chooses to stay out of sight in the tangled thickets. But at this time of year he loses his shyness and asks for the spotlight. He sits high in a tree so every one can see him, and his song is so clear, so eloquent, and so beautiful that he takes top billing among our spring songsters, with only the catbird to challenge his starring rôle.



The Brown Thrasher.

His Shyness Returns.

His shyness, however, reasserted itself when we approached too closely, and the brown thrasher flew into a nearby thicket of wild crab and hawthorn trees. Later on we heard him launch another concert. This time he was in an oak tree much lower than the one he had first occupied.

On a quiet morning in the woods it's quite possible to hear a brown thrasher a quarter of a mile away.

This bird is 10 to 12½ inches long. With rusty red plumage and a breast darkly streaked, it is easy to identify. But one hardly needs to know the characteristics of its plumage. When you hear a burst of unusually beautiful bird music at this time of year, you can be pretty sure that it's a brown thrasher or a catbird. The catbird, however, doesn't have the volume of the thrasher, and its music is marred by catlike sounds.

Nicknamed 'Planting Bird.'

In some parts of the United States farmers call the thrasher the "planting bird." The story [if we believe these country dwellers] is that at planting time the thrasher sits in a tree and sings, "Drop it, drop it, cover it, cover it, I'll pull it up." And so the bird has acquired the name of "planting bird." It must take considerable imagination to read these phrases into the song of the thrasher. Its musical bursts are so jubilant and so melodious that we never have been able to translate them in terms of planting crops in a farmer's field.

Bird students are divided on the question of whether the brown thrasher imitates the notes of many other birds. Some state emphatically that the bird sings its own song. Others believe that it is a good mimic. One bird student reports that he has heard the thrasher give an excellent imitation of the bobolinks' song and that it even does well imitating the clear call of the whippoorwill.

COTTON

Strength in other commodities gave some support to cotton futures yesterday and, while prices held within narrow limits, the close was unchanged to .06 cent a pound higher. Deliveries on May contracts in New York were 7,900 bales and in New Orleans, 600 bales.

Cash cotton closed .05 cent higher to .01 cent lower, with New York, 11.31 cents; New Orleans, 10.92 cents; Galveston, 10.80 cents, and Houston at 10.78 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

FUTURES PRICES OF COMMODITIES MOSTLY HIGHER

Buying Interest Boosted by Recent Lower Level.

Commodities for future delivery advanced generally yesterday and gains ranged above ¼ cent a pound. Buying interest appeared sharpened by the comparatively low prices that resulted from the gradual decline of the last two weeks, it was said. Rubber, hides, silk and wool tops made the best showings. Tin and cocoa went against the trend and Santos coffee prices were mixed.

The price maximums for copper suggested yesterday by Leon Henderson, price administrator, apparently had little effect on the market, dealers said. The suggested price ceilings generally were in line with prevailing levels.

Copper futures closed unchanged to 0.02 cent higher at 11.43 cents a pound bid for the May delivery. Tin futures sagged 0.20 to 0.30 cent a pound to 51.55 cents nominal for May. There were no lead futures sales.

Rubber futures advanced 0.23 to 0.32 cent a pound to extend the recent recovery movement. The May position finished at 22.85 cents and the cash price added ¼ cent.

Prices follow:

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Further weakness developed in the market for hogs at the stockyards yesterday, despite light supplies. Prices ranged from steady to 10 cents lower, with largest losses in stock under 230 pounds. Top loads sold off 10 cents, at $8.75 a hundred pounds, equalling the lowest price for best loads on the market since April 5. The average moved down 5 cents, to $8.40, lowest for three weeks.

Hardly enough cattle arrived to put quotations to a test, but were about in line with the preceding session.

Slaughter lambs recovered all of the recent losses in a sharp upswing. Gains ran up to 35 cents before buyers managed to halt what appeared to be developing into a runaway market. Eastern order buyers paid the $11.25 top, the highest price since April 9.

LEHMAN CORPORATION.

What is the connection between the Lehman corporation and Lehman Brothers? Please send me financial data on the former.—P. L.

Answer: Lehman Brothers, New York investment banking firm, organized the Lehman corporation in 1929, has managed it since that time, and holds a substantial interest in it. Lehman corporation is an investment company of the management type, which means that the management determines the composition of the investment portfolio.

The corporation's investments are largely in common stocks widely diversified in 20 industries. Preferred stocks, corporate bonds, and government and municipal obligations complete the portfolio.

The largest single investments of the corporation, averaging over a million dollars each, are in common stocks of the General Motors corporation, Commercial National Bank & Trust company, Potash Company of America, Union Carbide & Carbon corporation, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, J. C. Penney company, Sears, Roebuck & Co., Amerada corporation, Standard Oil company [N. J.], and United States Steel corporation.

Net asset value of the company's investments amounted to $57,683,071 last March 31, equal to $28.58 a share, against $57,003,382 or $27.46 a share on June 30, 1940, the end of the last fiscal year. There were 2,018,436 shares of $1 par capital stock outstanding on March 31, compared with 2,075,780 shares nine months earlier.

Financial results for the last five fiscal years ended June 30 follow:

	Net inv. income.	*Net profit.	Asset value per share.
1936	$1,960,371	$10,336,537	$39.75
1937	3,042,254	12,497,339	40.18
1938	2,118,172	282,863	30.72
1939	1,481,691	957,950	29.79
1940	2,115,993	858,241	27.46

*As reported by the company.

Net investment income in the nine months ended March 31 was $1,875,799 against $1,596,009 in the corresponding period of 1940. Net profit reported by the company was $969,742 against a net loss of $2,280.

Dividends on the capital stock have been paid steadily since 1930. Payments thru April 4 this year amounted to 55 cents a share. Dividends in 1939 and 1940 were 80 cents each and in 1938, 90 cents.

NATIONAL AIRLINES.

Where does National Airlines operate?—P. C.

Answer: National Airlines, Inc., operates an airplane transport service from headquarters at Jacksonville, Fla., to Miami and to New Orleans, La.

COUNTRY HOMES
We are developing a highly restricted district for country homes. There are over a thousand acres in the tract, which includes an 18 hole golf course. The property is located in the hilly, timbered section along the east side of the Fox River valley, between Dundee and Barrington.

The property is being divided into tracts of from one to three acres, using the natural divisions of the ground rather than just so many front feet. Gravel roads wind up the sides of the ravines, with each homesite on a knoll of its own.

Homes are being built on order only, with a minimum price of $8,500. The entire tract is protected by stringent restrictions which are on record. There are 13 homes completed, ranging in price from ten to twenty thousand, one under construction, and three in the plan stage.

A station wagon connects with the North Western at Barrington, with 38 minute service to the loop. All homes are heated with gas. Complimentary season tickets on the golf course to all home owners. We have low taxes and low building costs.

If you are interested in building in a highly restricted location in the country, drive out Higgins-road, No. 72, to Highway No. 25, turn North on No. 25 for 1½ miles. Entrance is directly opposite Bonnie Dundee Golf Course clubhouse. Our office is on the property.
